Preface	ix
Acknowledgements	xxi
About the Authors	xxiii
Notation and List of Symbols	xxv
1 Introduction: Credit Modelling Pre- and In-Crisis	1
1.1 Bottom-up models	2
1.2 Compound correlation	4
1.3 Base correlation	4
1.4 Implied Copula	5
1.5 Expected Tranche Loss Surface	7
1.6 Top (down) framework	8
1.7 GPL and GPCL models	9
1.8 Structure of the book	12
2 Market Quotes	15
2.1 Credit indices	15
2.2 CDO tranches	17

3	Gaussian Copula Model and Implied Correlation	21
3.1	One-factor Gaussian Copula model	24
3.1.1	Finite pool homogeneous one-factor Gaussian Copula model	25
3.1.2	Finite pool heterogeneous one-factor Gaussian Copula model	27
3.1.3	Large pool homogeneous one-factor Gaussian Copula model	29
3.2	Double- t Copula Model	33
3.3	Compound correlation and base correlation	35
3.4	Existence and non-monotonicity of market spread as a function of compound correlation	37
3.5	Invertibility limitations of compound correlation: pre-crisis	39
3.6	Base correlation	39
3.7	Is base correlation a solution to the problems of compound correlation?	42
3.8	Can the Double- t Copula flatten the Gaussian base correlation skew?	45
3.9	Summary on implied correlation	45
4	Consistency across Capital Structure: Implied Copula	47
4.1	Calibration of Implied Copula	50
4.2	Two-stage regularization	54
4.3	Summary of considerations around Implied Copula	59
5	Consistency across Capital Structure and Maturities: Expected Tranche Loss	63
5.1	Index and tranche NPV as a function of ETL	65
5.2	Numerical results	71
5.3	Summary on Expected (Equity) Tranche Loss	72

6 A Fully Consistent Dynamical Model:
Generalized-Poisson Loss Model	75
6.1 Loss dynamics	76
6.2 Model limits	78
6.3 Model calibration	78
6.4 Detailed calibration procedure	79
6.5 Calibration results	80
7 Application to More Recent Data and the Crisis	87
7.1 Compound correlation in-crisis	87
7.2 Base correlation in-crisis	99
7.3 Implied Copula in-crisis	105
7.4 Expected Tranche Loss surface in-crisis	106
7.4.1 Deterministic piecewise constant recovery rates	111
7.5 Generalized-Poisson Loss model in-crisis	115
8 Final Discussion and Conclusions	125
8.1 There are more things in heaven and earth, Horatio. . .	125
8.2 . . . Than are dreamt of in your philosophy	127
Bibliography	131
Index	137
