

Contents

|   |             |
|---|-------------|
| Foreword   | xi   |
| Acknowledgments  | xiii |
| Introduction: Goodwill and Blue Skies?                             | 1    |
| Getting a Grip on Nonfinancials                                    |             |
| Closing the gap between book value and market cap                         | 2           |
| Step 1: Classifying nonfinancials   | 5           |
| Step 2: Adjusting to regional priorities                                  | 6           |
| Step 3: From consciousness to action                                      | 7           |
| PART I: THE WHY  | 9    |
| 1 True and Fair View?  | 11   |
| The Glaring Deficiencies of Financial Reporting                    |             |
| The old economy's reporting paradigm                                      | 12          |
| Change reporting, not accounting  | 14          |
| Getting form to follow function   | 16          |
| Nonfinancials: The overheads of the 21st century                          | 18          |
| 2 Open Sesame?   | 23   |
| Nonfinancial Reporting between Pressures, Paradoxes and Potentials |             |
| Pressures: Regulators, investors and public opinion                       | 25          |
| Paradoxes: A singular lack of clarity and concreteness                    | 27          |
| Potentials: Professionalisation on the march                              | 29          |

|   |           |
|---|-----------|
| PART II: THE WHAT  | 35 |
| 3 Competitive Value  | 37 |
| Brands, Customers and Markets                                  |           |
| A. BRANDS: ENGINES OF GROWTH AND REPUTATION                           | 38        |
| Calculating brand value . . .   | 39        |
| . . . and reporting on brand equity                                   | 41        |
| Rescuing the brand: Reporting as a part of crisis management          | 43        |
| Strategies for product . . .  | 45        |
| . . . and corporate brands  | 47        |
| B. CUSTOMERS: THE KEY ENTREPRENEURIAL ASSET                           | 51        |
| Customer orientation: Beyond lip worship                              | 53        |
| Customer loyalty: Beyond retention                                    | 54        |
| Customer satisfaction: Early warning system, or success barometer?    | 56        |
| Customer commitment: Showing true grit                                | 58        |
| C. MARKETS: TARGETING NICHES, SEGMENTS AND SECTORS                    | 63        |
| Marketing metrics: From market share . . .                            | 65        |
| . . . to sectorial insights   | 67        |
| Marketing strategy: Between brand positioning . . .                   | 68        |
| . . . and financial results   | 69        |
| SUMMARY OF COMPETITIVE VALUE  | 72        |
| 4 Management Value   | 79 |
| Strategy, Governance and Outlook                               |           |
| A. STRATEGY: AN AMALGAM OF PROCESSES AND VISIONS                      | 80        |
| Systematising strategy: Concentrating on targets . . .                | 83        |
| . . . and on market trends  | 84        |
| Strategy as a structured process . . .                                | 87        |
| . . . and as an exercise in restructuring                             | 88        |
| Strategy derived from the vision of a leader . . .                    | 90        |
| . . . and his insights on markets – or hers                           | 93        |
| B. GOVERNANCE: SHADES OF TRANSPARENCY                                 | 97        |
| Regional pressures and structural differences                         | 99        |
| Are governance premiums sufficient incentives for coherent reporting? | 101       |

|  |            |
|--|------------|
| Reporting approaches: Between formalism . . .                        | 104        |
| . . . and hardcore information                                       | 106        |
| C. OUTLOOK: FORECASTING AS THE ULTIMATE CHALLENGE                    | 111        |
| Between expectations and regulations                                 | 112        |
| Inputs and outputs: Systematising forecasting                        | 113        |
| Uncorking the champagne – or biting the bullet                       | 116        |
| Paths to growth and glory: Unorthodox approaches                     | 119        |
| SUMMARY OF MANAGEMENT VALUE  | 121        |
| 5 Human Resources Value                                       | 129 |
| Productivity, Motivation and Potential                        |            |
| Can people be capitalised? Ambitious concepts, modest results        | 130        |
| Leveraging human resources: Pinpointing indicators . . .             | 132        |
| . . . and reporting coherently                                       | 134        |
| A. PRODUCTIVITY: PROMOTING EFFECTIVITY AND EFFICIENCY                | 137        |
| Ways to productivity: The cultural factor                            | 139        |
| Factual approaches: From basic documentation . . .                   | 142        |
| . . . to a strategic overview  | 143        |
| Focusing on the essentials   | 146        |
| B. MOTIVATION: WILD CARD FOR EXCELLENCE?                             | 148        |
| Corporate culture: The backbone of motivation                        | 149        |
| Mobilising employees: Between satisfaction . . .                     | 153        |
| . . . and engagement   | 156        |
| C. POTENTIAL: PROTECTING PROPERTY AND HARNESSING TALENTS             | 159        |
| Exploiting intellectual property: Defensive and offensive approaches | 160        |
| Managing diversity: Qualitative solutions . . .                      | 162        |
| . . . and quantitative evidence                                      | 165        |
| Training: An investment in superior performance                      | 168        |
| SUMMARY OF HR VALUE  | 171        |
| 6 Ethical Value   | 179 |
| CSR, Sustainability and Stakeholder Dialogue                  |            |
| Good ethics = superior financial performance?                        | 180        |

|   |            |
|---|------------|
| Evolution of reporting: From accounting to assurance                | 183        |
| A. CORPORATE SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY: CHARITY OR POLICY?              | 187        |
| Reporting trends: Quantity and quality on the rise?                 | 190        |
| Concretising commitment . . .                                       | 192        |
| . . . and concentrating on core business                            | 193        |
| An emphasis on issues . . .   | 195        |
| . . . and on mission  | 198        |
| B. SUSTAINABILITY: BETWEEN TRIPLE BOTTOM LINE AND REALISTIC TARGETS | 202        |
| Reporting between minimalist requirements and maximalist demands    | 204        |
| From triple bottom line . . .                                       | 208        |
| . . . to challenges and dilemmas                                    | 209        |
| Setting targets and executing strategies                            | 210        |
| C. STAKEHOLDER DIALOGUE: CONFLICT-SHOOTING OR WIN-WIN STRATEGY?     | 216        |
| Curing corporate myopia   | 218        |
| Systematising processes, developing indicators                      | 220        |
| Addressing specific issues . . .                                    | 222        |
| . . . and systematising consultation                                | 224        |
| Ethical value: A must or a sham?                                    | 227        |
| SUMMARY OF ETHICAL VALUE  | 230        |
| PART III: THE HOW  | 237 |
| 7 Says Who?  | 239 |
| Addressing Stakeholders and Facing Issues                    |            |
| Low standards of accountability . . .                               | 240        |
| . . . and cultural proclivities                                     | 242        |
| Focusing on audiences: Communities, employees . . .                 | 244        |
| . . . the financial community . . .                                 | 246        |
| . . . and NGOs  | 247        |
| Focusing on specific issues . . .                                   | 251        |
| . . . and tackling general concerns                                 | 253        |
| Dialogue as an ongoing process                                      | 257        |
| Dialogue perspectives: From evasiveness to civic sense              | 261        |

|          |  |            |
|----------|--|------------|
| 8 | New Wine in New Bottles?                                | 273 |
|          | Strategy, Structure and Style                           |            |
|          | Strategy: From fundamental questions to an integrated approach | 274        |
|          | Structure: The road to clarity and materiality                 | 279        |
|          | Style: From story-telling to substance                         | 291        |
|          | Coherence, brevity, accountability                             | 300        |
|          | Bibliography  | 307 |
|          | Index   | 311 |

<http://www.pbookshop.com>

<http://www.pbookshop.com>