

Contents

Preface	viii
Introduction: Matrix Organizations: What Are They? Where Did They Come From?	1
What Is a Matrix?	3
What Are the Origins of the Matrix?	7
What Happened?	10
The Star Model	12
Implications of the Star Model	17
Part One: Simple Matrix Organizations	21
1. Simple Matrix Structures	25
Two-Dimensional Structures	25
Pharmaceutical R&D Lab Example	35
Summary	40
2. The Two-Hat Model	41
What Is the Two-Hat Model?	41
Examples of Two-Hat Structures	44
Summary	50
3. The Baton Pass Model	51
The Consumer Goods Model	51
The Pharmaceutical Model	54
Summary	63
4. The Matrix Within a Matrix	65
Design Challenges of the Matrix Within a Matrix	65
Matrix Within a Matrix at the Corporate Level	69

Mars Pet Food Example	70
Summary	73
5. Balancing Power and Defining Roles	75
Designing Power Bases	75
Roles and Responsibilities	82
Summary	85
Part Two: Complex Matrix Structures	87
6. The Three-Dimensional Matrix	91
International Strategy	91
The Geography-Dominant Matrix	98
The Balanced Matrix	102
The Business-Dominant Matrix	106
Differentiated Structures	107
Other Three-Dimensional Models	109
Summary	112
7. More Complex Matrix Structures	115
Global Account Teams	115
The Front-Back Hybrid Model	116
Summary	126
8. The IBM Structure	129
The IBM Front-Back Hybrid	129
More Complexity?	136
Summary	137
Part Three: Completing the Star Model	139
9. Communication in the Matrix	143
Informal Communication	144
Formal Communication	145
Summary	150
10. Planning and Coordination Processes	153
Goal Alignment, Dispute Resolution, and
Coordination Mechanisms	153
Summary	160

11. Planning Processes in the Complex Matrix	161
What About Complex Matrix Designs?	161
Get the System in a Room	172
Online Processes	175
Summary	178
12. Human Resources Policies	179
Human Capital	180
Social Capital	196
Summary	199
13. Leadership in a Matrix Organization	201
Seeing That Conflicts Are Resolved	202
Managing the Top Team	208
Balancing Power	210
Summary	213
14. Implementing a Matrix	215
Using the Star Model	215
Building Capabilities	218
Summary	229
15. A Synopsis of Matrix Capabilities	231
Epilogue: Personal Stories: The Uses and Abuses of the Matrix	235
Early Phase: "What Is a Matrix, Anyway?"	235
Matrix Takes Off and Becomes Trendy	239
The Phase of Decline	243
The Stealth Matrix Phase	245
Today: Matrix Out of the Closet	247
References	249
About the Author	251
Index	253