

INDEX

A

accountability: 71
 vs. responsibility: 72–73
 setting the standard for: 71–77
 writing your maxims: 77–79
action, driving: 119–127
analysis paralysis: 120. See also action; inaction
authenticity: 137–139

B

balance: 179–180
 establishing boundaries: 185–192
 pursuing your passions: 201–208
 putting things in perspective:
 182–183, 193–200
 what it means to be balanced:
 180–181
 where to start: 183–184
being responsible. See accountability boundaries, establishing: 185–190
buzzwords: 15–21

C

challenging the status quo: 111–116
challenging your team: 167–173
 writing your maxims: 173–176
client leadership: 27
committing to your people's growth:
 167–173
 writing your maxims: 173–176
connecting to your team's reality:
 157–158
 understanding what your people do: 158–162
 writing your maxims: 163–166
corporate-speak: 16. See also
 buzzwords

D

decision-making: 119–127
defeat: 65, 67
defining standards: 90–95
driving action: 119–124
 writing your maxims: 124–127

E

Edison, Thomas: 87
 employee engagement: 135–136
 establishing boundaries: 185–190
 writing your maxims: 190–192
 ethical guidelines. See guidelines

F

Facebook: 56–57
 feedback: inviting: 219–221
 on vision statements: 108
 five whys: 112–116
 forum: 221
 future you: 41
 creating: 28–29
 defining your future: 42–45 writing maxims for the future
 you: 46–49

G

guidelines: why we need guidelines:
 51–57
 writing your maxims: 57–60

H

Harley-Davidson, vision statements:
 105
 Hemingway, Ernest: 65, 66, 67
 Hopper, Grace Murray: 131

I

identifying new opportunities:
 111–116
 writing your maxims: 116–118
 inaction: 120. See also action inspiration, as the key to successful leadership: 132–133

J

judgment-based guidelines. See
 guidelines

L

leadership: defining your own
 leadership style: 133–134
 four aspects of: 6
 vs. management: 131–133
 leadership maxims. See maxims leadership maxims approach: 5 benefits of: 12–14
 Leadership Maxims online community: 221
 leadership philosophies: 4–5
 leadership style: 137–138
 finding your style: 138–143
 writing your maxims:
 143–145
 leading a balanced life: 6
 leading change: 119–124 leading the thinking: 6
 challenging the status quo:
 111–118
 driving action: 119–127
 how to become a thought leader:
 85–86
 the importance of: 83–85
 standards: 89–97
 vision statements: 99–109
 where to start: 86–88
 leading your people: 6 committing to your people's growth: 167–176

- defining your own leadership style: 133–134
 - finding your style: 137–145
 - leadership vs. management: 131–133
 - personal relationships: 147–156
 - understanding what your people do: 157–166
 - where to start: 135–136
 - leading yourself: 6
 - accountability: 71–79
 - creating a future you: 28–29
 - guidelines: 51–60
 - the importance of: 25–27
 - motivation: 33–40
 - overcoming obstacles: 61–70
 - shaping your future: 41–49
 - where to start: 29–31
 - light bulbs: 34–35, 38–39, 43
 - living your maxims: 211–216
- M
- management, vs. leadership: 131–133
 - maxims: accountability maxims: 71–79
 - applying: 9–12
 - challenging the status quo: 111–118
 - challenging your team: 167–176
 - connecting to your team's reality: 157–166
 - creating: 7–9
 - to define the future you: 41–49
 - for driving action: 119–127
 - establishing boundaries: 185–192
 - guidelines maxims: 51–60
 - leadership style: 137–145
 - living your maxims: 211–216
 - motivation maxims: 33–40
 - for overcoming obstacles: 61–70
 - for personal relationships: 147–156
 - pursuing your passions: 201–208
 - putting things in perspective: 193–200
 - reviewing and reevaluating: 214–216
 - sharing: 217–222
 - standards of performance maxims: 89–97
 - vision maxims: 99–109. See also leadership maxims approach
 - Microsoft, vision statement: 105
 - motivation: 33–34
 - finding your motivation: 34–37
 - writing your maxims: 37–40
- O
- The Old Man and the Sea* (Hemingway): 65
 - online forum: 221
 - opportunities, identifying: 111–118
 - overcoming obstacles: 61–68
 - writing your maxims: 68–70
- P
- passion: 201–208
 - Patton, George S., III: 121, 122, 123
 - personal relationships: 147–148
 - building: 148–153
 - writing your maxims: 153–156

- Procter & Gamble, vision statement: 105
- pursuing your passions: 201–202
 making time for your life: 202–205
 writing your maxims: 205–208
- putting things in perspective: 182–183, 193–194
 staying focused on what's important: 194–198
 writing your maxims: 198–200.
See also balance
- R
- responsibility. See accountability
- reviewing your maxims: 214–216
- S
- Saffo, Paul: 112
- seven so whats: 114–116
- sharing your maxims: 217
 how to share: 218–219
 importance of sharing: 218
 inviting feedback: 219–221
- standards: 89
 defining: 90–95
 writing your maxims: 95–97
- status quo, challenging: 111–118
- T
- thought leaders: 119–120
 defined: 87
- thought leadership: 27
- how to become a thought leader: 85–86
- the importance of: 83–85
- where to start: 86–88
- V
- Veeck, Alan: 120
- vision statements: 99–100
 feedback: 108
 setting a direction for your team: 100–106
 writing your maxims: 106–109
- W
- writing your maxims: for
 accountability: 77–79
 challenging the status quo: 116–118
 challenging your team: 173–176
 connecting to your team's reality: 163–166
 driving action: 124–127
 establishing boundaries: 190–192
 for the future you: 46–49
 for guidelines: 57–60
 on leadership style: 143–145
 for motivation: 37–40
 for overcoming obstacles: 68–70
 on personal relationships: 153–156
 pursuing your passions: 205–208
 putting things in perspective: 198–200
 for standards of performance: 95–97
 vision statements: 106–109

<http://www.pbookshop.com>

<http://www.pbookshop.com>

<http://www.pbookshop.com>

<http://www.pbookshop.com>

<http://www.pbookshop.com>

<http://www.pbookshop.com>