

Index

- A
- Accenture study, 13
  - Acknowledging mistakes, 159
  - Active listening, 132–133
  - Adaptability, 152–153, 159. See also
    - Negotiation improvisation
  - Aggressive offers, 108
  - Aikido, 68
  - Alvarez & Marsal, 27, 46, 88, 121, 149, 183
  - Analytical data, 76
  - Ask for It* (Babcock and Laschever), 150
  - Asking for what we want: arming yourself with data when, 94–95; being prepared to concede, 102–103; conditioning that prevents women from, 52–53; cost of not, 7–10; gathering tangible data to support, 75–82; practicing and rehearsing, 103–104; prep work for negotiation requests, 92–94; timing of, 101–102; women leaders’ practice of, 2; women’s distaste for, 6–7. See also Negotiation; “No”; Pushback; Self-advocacy
  - Assertive opening, 107–109
  - Attitudes: gender differences in negotiation, 6–7, 52–53; gender differences in sense of entitlement, 63; growth mind-set vs. fixed mind-set, 41–43; negotiation value created by positive, 66–67; strategies for increasing confidence, 64–65; striving in balanced thinking and, 62–65. See also Optimism
  - Authority: never undervaluing your, 138–139; when appeals are required to higher, 118–119
  - Avoidance approach to conflict, 56
- B
- Babcock, Linda, 1, 52, 150
  - Baby boomer women: black-or-white vision of work by, 14; considering the legacy left for younger women by, 15. See also Working women
  - Backdoor “ask,” 86
  - Baer, Markus, 101
  - Baker, Rebecca, 27, 46, 62, 64, 88–89, 121–122, 149–150, 155–156, 183
  - Bandura, Albert, 40
  - Baselining, 79–80
  - BATNA (best alternative to a negotiated agreement), 103, 154
  - Belittling management, 135–136
  - Bigelow, Cindi, 82, 169, 170, 172, 174–175
  - Bigelow Tea, 82, 169
  - Body language, 100, 125–126
  - Bookend Generations* (Hewlett), 14
  - The Boston Consulting Group, 23, 49, 87, 121, 181
  - Brag! The Art of Tooting Your Own Horn Without Blowing It* (Klaus), 60
  - “Bragging” concerns, 60–61
  - Brainstorming, 131
  - Brainwriting, 131
  - Britt, Irene Chang, 114, 122, 147, 150, 177
  - Bullying management, 135–136

- Business Relationships That Last* (Wallace), 83
- Butman, John, 11
- Buying time strategy, 130
- C
- Calvert Investments, Inc., 28, 65, 114, 155
- Campbell Soup Company, 114, 147, 150
- Capital One, 25, 59, 86, 107, 130, 145
- Career success building: as all about making choices, 186; comments on taking action for, 167; continual improvement and, 172; enlisting mentors, sponsors, and sages in your, 179–180; moving “ice cubes” one by one for, 182–183; opportunistic self-advocacy for, 173–175; overcoming inertia for, 167–168; periodic self-analysis for, 183–185; refusing, rebuffing, and saying “no” for, 180–182; seeing yourself as change agent for, 168–172; self-directed action for, 185–186; service branding yourself for, 175–177; understanding that mistakes are part of, 177–179; woman’s pushback skills tied to, 166. See also Working women
- Carnegie Mellon, 1
- Carnevale, Peter, 66
- Carty-Sipp, April, 80, 97–98, 103, 121, 151–152, 160, 162, 173, 176, 178, 182
- Catalyst, 34
- Catherine’s story, 171–172
- Chain of command, 118–119
- Chandoha, Marie, 113–114, 143, 155, 158, 180–181
- Change agents: allowing people to be part of the process, 170–171; building your career success as, 168–172; continual improvement association with you as, 172; passion of, 171–172; steps for creating momentum, 169–170
- Change management: aids for successful, 171; passionate, 171–172
- Charles Schwab Investment Management, 113, 143, 155, 180
- Chesapeake UPS, 48, 74, 126, 177
- Choices, 186
- Citibank, 86, 121, 161, 176
- Closing the deal, 137–138
- Co-investing in negotiation, 110–112
- Collaborative approach to conflict, 56
- Comcast Sports Group, 80, 121, 151, 173, 178
- Communication: body language, 100, 125–126; dead-end questioning used for, 127, 128; deepening questions used for, 127–128; exercising silence as part of, 122–125; humor used as part of your, 112–114; packing your message, 120–121; passionate, 121–122; preferred method for negotiation, 100; 70/20/10 rule for de-escalating deadlocked, 132; tenor and volume of voice during, 126. See also Feedback; Listening
- Conciling: the art and process of, 135–135; BATNA (best alternative to a negotiated agreement), 103, 154; being prepared for, 102–103; creating list of options including, 102. See also “No”
- Concessions: co-investment in, 110–112; negotiation satisfaction tied to number of, 134–135
- Conditioning: as locus of control barrier, 51–52; preventing women from asking, 52–53
- Confidence: questions for building your, 64–65; role-playing to build your, 65–66; visualizing the actual negotiation strategy for building your, 67
- Confirming the terms, 148–149
- Conflict: avoidance approach to, 56; collaborative approach to, 56; holding a grudge that adds to, 153; understanding how you do, 55–57. See also “No”
- Contextual data and benchmarks, 76–77

- Continual improvement: association between you and, 172; career success by following model of, 183–185
- Conviction, 121–122
- Courting your counterpart, 112–114
- Credibility: establishing your, 114–115;
 how body language and voice build,
 125–126; language which builds your,
 84; staying in the game and building your, 153–154. See also Trust building
- D
- Danziger, Lucy S., 31, 70, 92, 133, 153–154
- Data: analytical, people, and contextual, 76–77; arming yourself with, 94–95;
 asking for what you want with supportive, 75–77; common data points, 78; creating a baseline, 79–80;
 on creating your own evidence and, 80;
 using sounding board to share feedback on, 88. See also Information
- De-escalating deadlocks, 130–133
- Dead-end questioning, 127, 128
- Deal making architecture, 106–107
- Decision making: assessing your propensity to take risks in, 28–32;
 listening to your body for, 27–28;
 meditating to clear your mind for, 26;
 trusting your gut instinct for, 24–26.
See also Mulling decision over
- Deepening questioning: comparing dead-end questioning to, 128; how to use, 127–128
- Delays: buying time with, 130; calling on, 129–130
- Descano, Linda, 86, 95, 99, 101, 120–121, 161, 163, 176, 181, 184
- Doing your homework: choosing negotiating strategies and a style, 90–95; enlisting your network, 85–90; gather the tangibles, 75–82; getting in your counterpart's head, 82–85;
 importance and benefits of, 73–74; nail down the logistics, 98–102; prepare to tell the story, 95–98; preparing for possibility of conceding, 102–103
- Dressing professionally, 99
- Dual agenda mind-set, 68–70
- Dweck, Carol, 41, 42
- E
- E-mail communication, 100
- Economic power, 10–13
- Emotions: channeling your own, 67–68;
 early memories on your negotiating, 49; effect of fact finding on your negotiating, 57–58; importance to negotiation, 45–46; negotiation preparation by channeling your own, 67–68; toughening up your, 158–160
- Empowerment: of accepting mistakes as natural, 177–179, by handling setbacks, 156–157; of making choices,
 186; by moving up or moving out,
 155–156
- Entitlement attitude, 63
- Equal Pay Act (1963), 11
- Evans, Gail, 11
- Exercises. See Pushback exercises
- F
- Facebook, 43
- Failure: making lemons into lemonade,
 150; overcoming fear of, 177–179
- Fairness appeal, 118
- Fannie Mae, 24, 120, 181
- Fatima story, 8–9
- Feedback: asking for, 48; guidelines for delivering, 145–147; initiating follow-up, 145–148; from mentors and sponsors, 180; positive mind-set required for receiving 360-degree, 176–177; video, 47–48. See also Communication
- Fixed Income Research and Economics
 (Morgan Stanley), 67, 76, 125, 147, 175
- Fixed mind-set: description of, 41–42;
 questions to self-assess your, 42–43

- Following-up negotiations: confirming the terms, 148–149; continue to build the trust, 162–163; do your own postmortem during, 142–144; don't be afraid to toughen up, 158–160; don't drop the connection, 157–158; handling “no,” 149–151; hear “no” as “not yet,” 151–152; importance and opportunities during, 141–142; initiating a feedback exchange, 145–148; keep expanding the pie, 160–161; mulling decision over, 149; realizing your reputation as negotiator will continue, 161–162; stay in the game, 153–157; stay oriented toward the positive, 152–153
- Frankley, Lois, 10
- G
- Galinsky, Adam D., 108–109, 111, 134
- Ganzlin, Karen, 28, 85–86, 89–90, 120, 134, 176, 178, 183, 184
- Gen Yers women: high value on independence by, 13; limitations still impacting, 13–14; research on life/work balance vision of, 14–15. See also Working women
- Gender differences: in attitudes toward negotiation, 6–7, 52–53; concerns over being punished for pushback, 33–35; in how “no” is heard, 150–151; money negotiations and, 10–13; in negotiation behavior, 1–2, 113–114; regarding dressing professionally, 99; in sense of entitlement, 63; in “taking charge” skills, 34
- Gender salary gap, 11
- Goleman, Daniel, 16
- “Good-girlisms,” 2
- Greenawalt, Lori A., 62–63, 88, 90, 93, 94, 117, 147, 153, 179, 184–185, 185
- Growth mind-set: description of, 41; questions to self-assess your, 42–43
- Grudges, 153
- Guber, Peter, 95
- Gut instinct: advice on listening to your, 25; clues left by your, 24–25; learning to trust your, 24–26
- H
- Handling setbacks, 156–157
- Harvard Business School, 56
- Harvard Negotiation Project, 93
- Harvard University, 66
- Hewlett, Sylvia Ann, 14, 89
- Home field advantage, 101
- Humor, 112–113, 114
- I
- “Ice cube” metaphor, 182–183
- In-person communication, 100
- Information: on negotiation counterpart, 82–85; negotiation improvisation improved by, 87. See also Data
- Institute for Health and Social Policy, 12–13
- Isen, Alice, 66
- J
- Jafri, Fizzan, 67–68, 76, 89, 125, 136, 147–148, 152, 159, 175, 279
- Janelle story, 6
- Jazz improvisers, 73–74
- Johns Hopkins University, 77
- Journalist's formula, 96
- K
- Kagan, Elena, 89
- Karrass, Chester L., 118, 137
- Kellogg Graduate School of Management (Northwestern University), 108
- Klaus, Peggy, 60
- KPMG LLP, 62, 88, 117, 147, 179
- Krumsiek, Barbara J., 28–29, 65, 114–115, 116, 129, 155
- L
- Lange, Liz, 116, 117, 150, 156, 159, 176, 177
- Laschever, Sara, 1, 52, 150
- Leading the witness, 97–98
- Leverage: identifying your, 60; learning to access others, 61–62; learning to use

- your, 60–61; never undervaluing your negotiation, 138–139; using silence as, 122–125
- Likeability indicators, 85
- Listening: active, 132–133; to your body, 27–28; to your gut, 24–26. See also Communication
- Liz Lange Maternity, 116, 150, 156, 176
- L.L. Bean, 24, 25, 129, 150
- Lloyds TSB, 7
- LLuminari, Inc., 10
- “Location in Negotiation: Is There a Home Field Advantage?” (Baer), 101
- Locus of control: description of, 51; overcoming conditioning of, 52
- Logistics: importance of nailing down the, 98; preparing for the little things, 99–101; timing, 101–102
- M
- MacAndrews & Forbes Holdings Inc., 31, 82, 113, 160, 182
- Major, Brenda, 63
- Making choices, 186
- Mash, Eric J., 30
- Maternity leave policies: comparing international and U.S., 12–13; gathering data when challenging, 79
- The Mayer-Salovey-Caruso Emotional Intelligence Test, 47
- McCain, John, 89
- McCarter & English, 56, 99, 126, 160, 167
- McFarland, Susan, 25, 29, 31, 59, 86, 107, 116, 130, 145, 152–153, 174, 180
- McGill University’s Institute for Health and Social Policy, 12–13
- McGinn, Kathleen L., 56–57
- “Me-versus-you” dynamic, 69
- Medical self-advocacy, 4
- Meditation, 26
- Mentors: benefits of securing, 62; enlisting them in your career building, 179–180; feedback from, 180; learning to tap into power of, 61–62; sponsors versus, 89
- MetLife, 26, 61, 82, 84, 113, 152, 174
- Mind-sets: dual agenda, 68–70; growth vs. fixed, 41–43; personal responsibility, 185–186; problem solver, 117–118; receiving feedback with positive, 176–177; resilient, 30, 157, 172. See also Thinking strategically
- Mistakes: acknowledging your, 159; as part of career building, 177–179
- MIT (Massachusetts Institution of Technology): Human Dynamics Laboratory of, 54; Media Lab Entrepreneurship Program of, 54; The Program on Negotiation of, 66
- Mohan, Catherine Ann, 56, 99, 126, 160, 161, 167
- Money negotiations, 10–13
- Morgan Stanley, 67, 76, 125, 147, 175
- Moving up or moving out, 155–156
- Mulling decision over, 149. See also Decision making
- Murphy, Sheila, 26, 44, 61, 82, 84, 113, 116, 129, 152, 162, 174
- My Negotiating Roots, 49–50
- Myers-Briggs Type Indicator, 47
- N
- National Committee on Pay Equity, 11
- Neale, Margaret, 108
- Negotiating roots: assessing your, 49–51; engaging in risk taking by overcoming your, 50–51; My Negotiating Roots questions for exploring, 49–50
- Negotiation: dual agenda mind-set to approach, 68–70; follow up to, 141–163; identifying your positions and interests in, 58–60; importance of emotions to, 45–46; as important pushback skill, 18–20; recognizing your daily opportunities for, 23–24; salary discussion, 10–13;

Negotiation: (Continued)

- understanding natural fit of women and, 16–17; women’s reported distaste and pessimistic attitude toward, 6–7, 52–53. See also Asking for what we want
- Negotiation behavior: avoidance approach to conflict, 56; channeling your emotions to improve your, 67–68; collaborative approach to conflict, 56; courting your counterpart with levity and humor, 112–114; effect of fact finding on your emotions and, 57–58; gender differences in, 1–2, 113–114; getting into a positive mood impact on, 66–67; how attitude and balanced thinking impact your, 62–65; identifying positions and interests that impact your, 58–60; interviewing women on their, 4–6; “me-versus-you” dynamic of, 69; perception of your, 56–57; practicing and rehearsing your, 103–104; role-playing your, 65–66; sense of entitlement, 63
- Negotiation Checklist: Psychological Preparation, 69
- Negotiation conversation: anticipating pushback during the, 116; appealing to sense of fairness during, 118; being a relentless problem solver during, 117–118; body language as part of the, 100, 125–126; calling on delays during, 128–130; closing the deal, 137–138; co-investing concessions during the, 110–112, 134–135; conceding during, 102–103, 133–135; conveying your conviction with passion during, 121–122; courting your counterpart during the, 112–114; de-escalating deadlocks, 130–133; deepening questions used during, 127–128; establishing your credibility during, 84, 114–115, 125–126; exercising silence during, 122–125; how to buy time during, 130; how to package your message during, 120–121; managing bullying and belittling during, 135–136; never undervalue your power during, 138–139; opening assertively, 107–109; preparing to improvise during, 73–104; psychological preparation for, 45–71; setting the pace, 109–110; tiered approach to preparing for, 75–102; understanding the architecture of deal making for, 106–107; when you need to consult with chain of command during, 118–119
- Negotiation counterparts: anticipating pushback from your, 116; appealing to their sense of fairness, 113; co-investing in negotiation with your, 110–112; displaying similar behaviors of your, 85; getting into heads of your, 82–85; the goals, passions, and struggles of your, 83–84; how to package your message to, 120–121; using humor and levity to court your, 112–114; using language that supports your credibility with, 84; managing bullying and belittling by, 135–136; questions for gathering information on, 84–85; remaining engaged during follow-up with, 157–158. See also Relationship trap
- Negotiation improvisation: doing your homework to create ability for, 73–74; how information allows better, 87; practicing in order to perfect, 103–104; preparing for possibility of conceding, 102–103; tiered approach to preparation for, 75–102. See also Adaptability
- Negotiation model: step one: prepare psychologically, 18–19; step two: do your homework, 19; step three: maneuver through the conversation, 19; step four: follow up, 19–20

- Negotiation preparation: choosing negotiating strategies and a style, 90–95; do your homework, 73–104; enlisting your network, 85–90; gather the tangibles, 75–82; getting in your counterpart's head, 82–85; importance and benefits of, 73–74; nail down the logistics, 98–102; for possibility of conceding, 102–103; practicing and rehearsing as, 103–104; prepare to tell the story, 95–98. See also Psychological preparation
- Negotiation satisfaction: number of concessions indicator of, 110–111, 134–135; perception of fairness and, 118
- Negotiation style/strategies: arming yourself with data for, 94–95; choosing, 90–92; nailing the logistics, 98–102; prework to asking for requests, 92–94; pushback approaches on a continuum, 91; storytelling, 95–98
- Networks: backdoor “ask” to assess support by, 86; benefits of enlisting your, 85–87; testing your ideas using your, 88–90; as underused negotiation tool, 85; as your sounding board, 88. See also Peers; Relationships
- Nice Girls Don't Get Rich* (Frankley), 10
- Nike Europe, 154
- “No”: gender differences in reactions to, 150–151; handling rejection of, 149–151; handling setbacks, 156–157; hearing “not yet” instead of, 151–152; learning to say, 180–182; making lemons into lemonade, 150; staying oriented toward the positive in spite of, 152–154. See also Asking for what we want; Conceding; Conflict
- Noelle, 27
- Northcraft, Greg, 108
- Northwestern University, 108
- O
- Obama, Barack, 89
- On My Own Two Feet* (Thakor), 11
- Opening assertively, 107–109
- Opportunistic self-advocacy, 173–175
- Optimism: maintained even after hearing “no,” 152–153; negotiation value created by, 66–67; role-playing to build your confidence and, 65–66; strategies for building your, 64–65; visualizing the actual negotiation strategy for building your, 67. See also Attitudes; Positive mood
- P
- Palin, Sarah, 89
- Passionate communication, 121–122
- Peers: learning to access the power of your, 61–62; perception of your negotiating behavior by, 56–57. See also Networks
- Pentland, Alex, 54
- People data, 76
- Personal responsibility mind-set, 185–186
- Petren, Carol Ann, 31, 82–83, 87, 112–113, 134, 159–160, 181–182
- Position (What) and Interest (Why) exercise, 59
- Positive mood: getting into a, 66; maintained even after hearing “no,” 152–154; negotiation value of a, 66–67. See also Optimism
- Postmortem: conducting your own, 142–143; list three most important negotiation moments, 143–144
- Power: identifying your, 60; learning to access others', 61–62; learning to use your, 60–61; never undervaluing your negotiation, 138–139; pushback for creating economic, 10–13; of silence, 122–125
- Prework for requests, 92–94
- Prime, Jeanine, 34
- Problem solver mind-set, 117–118
- Professional dress, 99

- The Program on Negotiation (university consortium), 66
- Psychological preparation: benefits of negotiating with, 57–58, 70–71; channeling your own emotions, 67–68; finding guides through peers and mentors, 61–62; focusing on your balanced thinking and attitude, 62–65; getting in the mood, 60–67; having a clear understanding of yourself as, 46–49; importance of, 45–46; knowing and using your power or leverage, 60–61, 138–139; locus of control issue of, 51–52; looking for the dual agenda, 68–70; negotiation checklist for, 69; overcoming the “good girls don’t ask” conditioning, 52–53; overcoming the relationship trap, 6, 53–55; role-playing and scenario testing, 65–66; self-assessing what you do want and why, 58–60; self-assessing your negotiating roots, 49–51; understanding how you do conflict, 55–57. See also Negotiation preparation
- Pushback: anticipating negotiation, 116; concerns over being punished for, 33–35; defining, 3; economic power and, 10–13; as informal process fitting the situation, 4; interviewing women on negotiation behavior and, 5–6; listening to your body to know when to, 27–28; medical self-advocacy, 4; to own your own career, 165–186; positive results of engaging in, 43–44; psychologically preparing for, 45–71; recognizing your daily opportunities, 23–24; trusting your gut on knowing when, 24–26; when to use, 3. See also Asking for what we want
- Pushback approaches: assessing your propensity to take risks, 28–32; continuum of, 91; developing your personal pushback style, 38–44; listening to your body, 27–28; make a plan and make a start, 32–33; meditating to clear your mind, 26; trusting your gut instinct for, 24–26
- Pushback exercises: list three negotiation moments, 143–144; My Negotiating Roots, 49–50; Negotiation Checklist: Psychological Preparation, 69; Position (What) and Interest (Why), 59; pushback skill statements, 36; questions for assessing relationships, 54–55; Three Times You Avoided Negotiating, 53; translating pushback skill statements, 37; Your Pushback Credo, 39–40. See also Self-assessment
- Pushback self-assessment: reflecting on your strengths and weaknesses, 37–38; skill statement worksheet for, 36; taking the time for, 35; translating worksheet statements into pushback skill, 37
- Pushback skills: four-set model of negotiation using, 18–20; negotiation and advocacy tools and, 20–21; self-advocacy, 4, 6–7, 17–20, 60–61; self-assessment of your, 35–38; self-command as, 47; self-efficacy as, 40–41; self-knowledge as, 46–49; woman’s career success tied to, 166
- Pushback style: creating your personal, 38–39; growth mind-set vs. fixed mind-set and, 41–43; self-efficacy level and, 40–41; Your Pushback Credo, 39–40
- ## R
- Relationship trap: psychological preparation for overcoming, 53–55; women’s prioritizing relationships as, 6. See also Negotiation counterparts
- Relationships: mentors, 61–62, 89, 179–180; peers, 56–57, 61–62; postnegotiation building of, 160–161; sponsors, 89–90, 179–180. See also Networks
- Reputation: maintaining positive attitude and, 153; postnegotiation

- think-through and preserving your, 149; realizing continued life of your, 161–162
- Resilient mind-set, 30, 157, 172
- Respect: treating all negotiation parties with, 162; for yourself, 163
- Risk taking: accepting mistakes to overcome fear of, 177–179; assessing your propensity for, 28–32; constructive approaches for, 30–31; interviewing women leaders on their, 28–29; overcoming your negotiating roots to engage in, 50
- Risk taking strategies: enlisting others in their success, 30; letting go of guaranteed outcomes, 30; resilient mind-set, 30, 157, 172; taking scientific approach to risk, 30–31
- Role-playing, 65–66
- Rutgers University, 33
- S
- Sages, 179–180
- Salary discussion negotiations, 10–13
- Salary.com, 77
- Sandberg, Sheryl, 43–44
- Sayre, Kate, 11
- Scenario testing, 65
- Scientific American*, 100
- Scientific decision making, 30–31
- Self-advocacy: getting over distaste for, 17; identifying and using your leverage, 60–61, 138–139; as important pushback skill, 18–20; medical encounters and need for, 4; opportunistic, 173–175; personal responsibility for self-directed action and, 185–186; reasons for women's lack of, 6–7. See also Asking for what we want
- Self-analysis: conducting postmortem, 142–144; initiating feedback exchange for, 145–148; on the process of your career, 183–185; three most important negotiation moments, 143–144
- Self-assessment: of fixed mind-set vs. growth mind-set, 42–43; on how you do conflict, 55–57; questions on relationships, 54–55; of your negotiating roots, 49–51; your pushback skills, 35–38. See also Pushback exercises
- Self-command, 47
- Self-directed action theme, 185–186
- Self-efficacy, 40–41
- Self-knowledge: making it a mind-set, 48–49; as pushback skills, 46–49; using self-reflection to add to, 48; taking personality inventories to build your, 47; video feedback contributing to, 47–48
- SELF Magazine*, 31, 70, 92, 133, 153
- Self-promotion: identifying your power, 60; learning how to use your power and, 60–61
- Self-reflection, 48
- Self-worth, 163
- Sense of entitlement, 63
- Service branding, 175–177
- Setting the pace, 109–110
- 70/20/10 rule, 132
- Shell, Richard, 138
- Silence, 122–125
- Silverstein, Michael J., 11
- Similar behaviors, 85
- Simpson, Deborah, 23, 29, 49, 87, 121, 181
- Skype, 100
- Slaughter, Darlene, 23–24, 29, 39, 120, 132, 181
- Sounding board, 88
- “The Sponsor Effect” (Hewlett), 89
- Sponsors: enlisting them in your career building, 179–180; feedback from, 180; how to approach, 90; mentors versus, 89
- Stanford University, 40, 41
- “Stay but leave” phenomenon, 154

Stories: leading the witness with, 97–98; preparing to tell the, 95; structure and tactics for telling, 95–97

Storytelling: using headlines for, 98; structure, tactics, formula for, 95–97;
typical negotiation flow used for,
97

SWOT (strengths, weakness, opportunities, and threats) analysis, 76, 131

T

Tactical workers: description of, 80–81;
perspective of problems by, 81

“Taking charge” skills, 34

TD Ameritrade, 28, 120, 176, 178

TED, 43

Tell to Win (Guber), 95

Test-marketing ideas, 88–90

Thakor, Manisha, 11

Thick skin, 158–160

Thinking strategically: negotiation by,
80–81; tactical vs. strategic perspective of same problem, 81. See also Mind-sets

360-degree feedback, 176–177

Tiered preparation: choosing negotiating strategies and a style, 90–95; enlisting your network, 85–90; gather the tangibles, 75–82; getting in your counterpart’s head, 82–85; nail down the logistics, 98–102; prepare to tell the story, 95–98

Timing: calling on delays, 128–130; factors which impact, 102; how to buy time during negotiation, 130;
importance of negotiation, 101; setting the pace, 109–110

Toughening up, 158–160

Trigger sessions, 131

Trust building: during the follow-up negotiation, 162–163; during negotiation conversation, 112. See also Credibility

Turner, Rosemary, 48, 74, 126, 156, 177,
178–179

U

Ueshiba Morihei, 68

University of Calgary, 30

U.S. employment policies, 12–13

U.S. labor force: disadvantages of employment policies for female, 12–13; percentage of women in the, 23–24

V

Video conferencing, 100

Video feedback, 47–48

Visualization: de-escalating deadlocks by using, 131; getting in a positive mood using, 67

W

Wage gender disparity, 11

Wall Street Journal, 184

Wallace, Ed, 83

“Warrior suits,” 99

Washington University in St. Louis, 101

Wilson, Dee Dee, 24, 25, 35, 68, 69, 129, 150–151, 154

WISHEP (Women’s Institute for a Secure Retirement), 11

Women & Co. (Citibank), 86, 121, 161,
176, 184

Women Don’t Ask: Negotiation and the Gender Divide (Babcock and Laschever), 52

Women leaders: interviewed on their propensity for risk taking, 28–29;
making mistakes as part of becoming,
177–179; understanding how they get there, 2–6

Women Want More (Silverstein, Sayre, and Butman), 11

Working with Emotional Intelligence
(Goleman), 16

Working women: concerns over being punished for pushback by, 33–35;
disadvantages of U.S. employment policies for, 12–13; distaste for negotiating reported by, 6–7, 52–53; dressing professionally, 99; gender salary gap and, 11; interviews on negotiation behavior of, 4–6; lack of self-advocacy by, 4, 6–7; locus of control conditioning of, 51–52; maternity leave policies for, 12–13, 79; pushing back to own your career, 165–186; relationships prioritized by, 6, 53–55; understanding natural negotiating skills of, 16–17; U.S. labor force percentage of, 23–24. See also Baby boomer women; Career success building; Gen Yers women

Y

Your Pushback Credo, 39–40

<http://www.pbookshop.com>

<http://www.pbookshop.com>

