

Contents

1	The beginning	I
2	My father and his family	4
3	My grandparents	7
4	My mother	12
5	My father's work	15
6	My parents together	18
7	My sister	23
8	The early years	26
9	The twenties	31
10	Clouds	37
11	Flight	41
12	Switzerland	49
13	An interlude – “fast forward”	56
14	To France	59
15	Paris – the beginning	61
16	Lycee Michelet	64
17	The Fizaines (and others)	67
18	Paris – the second year	71
19	To Nice	78
20	Our parents in London	86
21	The end of the Lycee de Nice	88
22	The promised land	92
23	Aldenham	94
24	The first year	98
25	1937	104
26	1938–1939	108
27	The final end of Nice	115
28	The phoney war – Cambridge	119
29	The real war starts	123
30	Internment	125
31	Reactions	132
32	The Isle of Man	137
33	Release	144
34	Another interlude – “fast forward”	146
35	The Blitz – back to Aldenham – the RAF	148
36	Air Crew Cadet	152

37	Wings	155
38	Learning to teach flying	158
39	Flying instructor back in Cambridge	160
40	Twin engines	166
41	Joining a Wellington crew	170
42	612 Squadron	173
43	The war in Europe ends	177
44	Demobilisation	180
45	Post-war Cambridge	182
46	1946	188
47	1947	190
48	Michèle	193
49	Going to the Bar	195
50	My mother leaves	200
51	My father's death	204
52	A postscript	210
53	Beginnings at the Bar	213
54	Marriage, etc	219
55	My mother in Germany	223
56	A painful family reunion	228
57	My mother's death	232
58	End of a generation	235
59	The second half	239
60	The Junior Bar	240
61	Silk	248
62	Some highlights	253
63	Towards the end of the Bar	259
64	The Bench?	269
65	Life as a Judge	278
66	Separation	287
67	The Law Commission	291
68	Diana	301
69	The Court of Appeal	307
70	Disappointments	320
71	A new profession	324
72	A resurrection	334
	Epilogue	339
	Annexe – The Macao Sardine Case	343