

Index

- acetylcholine 161, 162
- adolescence and psychopathy 127 see also children and youths biological factors 128–30 juvenile criminality 130–1 psychosocial factors 130 stability of psychopathic traits 131–3 traits in conduct disorder (CD) and antisocial personality disorder 128
  treatment 133–4
- affective defense 161
- affective factors in psychopathy 6
- affective–interpersonal features 41
- age-related conviction rates 284–5
- aggression 86–8
- amygdala 80–1
  aggression 88
  smaller volume with conduct disorder 129
- anterior cingulate cortex (ACC) 63, 81
- antisocial factors in psychopathy 6
- antisocial personality disorder 100
  psychopathic traits 128
- Antisocial Process Screening Device (APSD) 42 functional imaging studies 57–8
- anxiety 41
- anxious attachment 245
- assessment of psychopathy 17–19, 32
- admissibility of PCI in adversarial proceedings 27–9
- ethical issues with PCL and predicting risk 29–30
- insanity defence 22–4
- measurement 5–7, 8–9
- myths associated with psychopathy 30–2
- potential misuses of PCL in legal proceedings 25
  capital punishment 25–6
  malingering 25
  sexually violent persons (SVP) 26–7
- psychometric properties of PCL instruments 19
  PCL–R 19–21
- attachment 245
- attention bottleneck 85–6
- attention deficit leading to fearlessness 83–5
- attribution 180
- avoidance attachment 245
- behavioural problems 1
- benzodiazepines 229, 230
- Berkowitz, David 166
- biological factors in psychopathy adolescent psychopathy 128–30
- blood oxygen level-dependent (BOLD) response 43

- boldness 40
- Boston Legal* 3
- bragging 241–2
- brain function in psychopathy 39–40
  - critique of study findings 58–60
  - diagnostic distinctions 40–3
  - error-related negativity (ERN) response 63–4
  - functional imaging studies 46–58
  - key assumptions 65–7
    - criminal responsibility and sentencing mitigation 68–9
    - implications for legal practice and policy 67
    - treatment and prevention 70
    - treatment risk and treatment amenability 70
  - measurement techniques
    - electrocortical 43–5
    - neuroimaging 43
  - P3 brain potential amplitude 60–3
  - structural imaging studies 45–6
- brain imaging
  - evidence to jurors 23
- businesspeople and psychopathy 177–8, 236, 265–6
  - environmental crime 270–1
- callous–aggressiveness 41
- callous–unemotional (CU) factor 42
  - children and youths 205–6
- capital punishment 25–6
- charming demeanour 1
- children and youths 205–7
  - see also* adolescence and psychopathy
  - desistance 207–8
  - recidivism risk 207
- cholecystokinin 162
- civil commitment 90
- civil proceedings, manifestation of psychopathy 251–6
- Cleckley, Hervey 2, 3, 5, 149
  - characteristics of psychopathy 8–9
- cobra batterers 166
- cognition–emotion interactions in psychopathy 79–80, 92
  - judicial practice 88–90
  - practical issues 86
    - aggression 86–8
  - theoretical perspectives 80–6
  - treatment 91–2
- cognitive dissonance 266
- cognitive remediation 91
- cognitive-behavioral therapies 249
- Comprehensive Assessment of Psychopathic Personality (CAPP) 108–9
- computerized tomography (CT) imaging 43
- conduct disorder (CD) 127
  - biological factors 128–30
  - psychopathic traits 128
  - psychosocial factors 130
- countertransference 233
- criminal career trajectory 201–2, 204–5, 214
- recidivism risk
  - adolescents 131, 134
  - children and youths 207
- sex offenders 212–13
  - desistance 213–14
  - women 214
- women 208–9
- criminal investigative analysis (CIA) 139
- FBI procedure 140
- identification of psychopaths 149–51
- law enforcement 142–3
- Criminal Minds* 140
- criminal/offender profiling 139
- criminality 1, 2, 177–9
  - see also* prison and psychopathy; violent crime
  - economic crime 179–83
  - environmental crime 270–1
  - future directions for research and study 197–9
  - juveniles 130–1
  - organised crime 183–4
    - leadership style 184–92
  - war crime 192–7
- criminals, rate of psychopathy 143
  - homicides 144
  - sex offenders 144
  - sexual homicides 144–5
- CSI effect 140
- culpability 89
- Daubert et al. v. Merrell Dow Pharmaceutical* (1993) 28
- Davis, Richard Allen 159–60
- deceitful and manipulative behavior 242
  - during interviews 267–71
  - coping with 277–8
- deceitfulness 1
- Dexter* 3

- diagnostic evaluation 141–2 Dictator decision-making game 82 diffusion tensor imaging (DTI) 43 structural imaging of psychopaths 45 disinhibition 40
dismemberment of victims 148
dismissing attachment 245 disulfram 229
divorce 243–5
dopamine 161, 162
- economic crime 179–83
electrocortical measuring techniques 43–5
    critique of study findings 65
    error-related negativity (ERN) response 63–4
    P3 brain potential amplitude 60–3 electroencephalography (EEG) 43–4 emotional relationships with psychopaths 235–6 intimate relationships 237–45
    parenthood 245–8
emotion-based attachment in gangs 190
environmental crime 270–1
error-related negativity (ERN) response 44
    psychopathy 63–4
ethical issues
    PCL–R and related instruments 29–30
Ethics Code of the American Psychological Association 29–30 event-related potential (ERP) response 44 P3 brain potential amplitude 60–3 extortion 182–3
- facial expression recognition 129 factors associated with psychopathy 6 families and psychopathy 235–7 civil proceedings 251–6 clinical setting work 248–51
    intimate relationships 237–45
    parenthood 245–8
Fatal Attraction 3 fear potentiated startle (FPS) 83–4 fearful attachment 245
fearfulness 41
fearless dominance 42
fearlessness 80
feedback-related negativity (FRN) response 64 female psychopaths see women psychopaths forensic criteria for determining affective or predatory violence 164
- fraudsters 180–1
functional magnetic resonance imaging (fMRI) studies 47–54
Fyre v. the United States (1923) 27
- gamma-aminobutyric acid (GABA) 161, 162 inhibition of hypothalamus 164, 171 gang dynamics 185–92
gender differences in psychopathy assessment bias 100
    presentation 104–5, 112
    capturing gender differences during assessment 107–9 differing psychopathology and conduct 105–6 example case 109–11
    similarities and differences 106–7 grandiose self presentation 1 Green River Killer 150–1 guilt 22–4, 180
- homicides
    rate of psychopathy 144
Huhtinen, Sami 188
5-hydroxyindolacetic acid (5-HIAA) 129 hypothalamus 162
    GABA inhibition 164, 171
- Impulsive/Premeditated Aggression Scale (IPAS) 165 impulsive–antisocial features 41 impulsive–conduct problem (I/CP) factor 42 impulsivity 1
infidelity 240–1
insanity defence 22–4
inside traders 180–1
instrumental love 237–8 instrumental violence 146, 209 integrated emotion system (IES) 81 interpersonal factors in psychopathy 6 Interpersonal Measure of Psychopathology (IM-P) 18, 113, 266–7 interviewing psychopaths 261–4 deception and manipulation 267–71 practical advice 273–4 awareness of constant monitoring 277 consider use of coercive tactics 278 coping with manipulateness and deceit 277–8 discuss interviewee threats with others 278–9

- interviewing psychopaths (Continued) discuss personal insecurities with others 278 expect absence of anxiety and embarrassment 276–7 expect absence of bonding and guilt 275–6 familiarization and planning 274–5 goal simplification 276 maintain calmness and immunity to flattery 279 safe environment 275
  psychopath's interpersonal behavior 264–7 threats of violence 272–3 intimate relationships with psychopaths 237–45 ipse dixit 30–1 irresponsible behavior 1
Jurek v. Texas (1976) 26
Kansas v. Crane (2002) 26
Kansas v. Hendricks (1997) 26
Kumho Tire Co. Ltd v. Carmichael (1999) 28
law enforcement 142–3
leadership style 184–92
lifestyle factors in psychopathy 6 long-term goals, absence of 1 MacDonald, Jeffrey 169 magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) 43
  structural imaging of psychopaths 45
malignant alienation 117
malignant narcissism 125
malingering 25
management of psychopaths 112, 118
  groups processes 115–16
  one-to-one meetings 112–14
  toll on staff 116–17
manipulativeness 1
Mask of Sanity, The (1941) 2, 5, 149
  characteristics of psychopathy 8–9
meanness 40
mens rea 22–4
mixed violence 169
Mladic, Ratko 192
models of psychopathic characteristics 40–3 modes of violence 160, 161 motivation of psychopaths for change/improvement 249–50 mutilation of bodies 148
  myths associated with psychopathy 30–2 narcissistic personality 100 narcissistic snares 117 neuroimaging techniques 43 psychopaths
    functional imaging studies 46–58
    structural imaging studies 45–6
    structural imaging of psychopaths 45–6 norepinephrine 161, 162 novelty P3 response 61
nutritional deficiency in early childhood 129 Nykopp, Anja 149–50
opioid peptides 162
orbital frontal cortex (OFC) 81
  aggression 88
organised crime 183–4
  leadership style 184–92
P3 brain potential amplitude 60–3 paralimbic dysfunction hypothesis 80, 82–3 parasitic living style 1 parasuicides 229
parent–child relationship in psychopathy 236–7, 245–8 parents
  antisocial behavior 130 criminal behavior 130
  passive avoidance learning 84–5 periaqueductal gray (PAG) 162 personal security when interviewing psychopaths 275 pitbull batterers 166
positron emission tomography (PET) 43 affective murderers 162–3 predatory acuity in psychopaths 168 predatory mating 239–40 predatory violence 159–60 see also violent crime future directions 170–1 legal and judiciary issues 168–70
  measurement 163–5
  psychopathy 165–8
  scientific background contemporary findings 161–3 historical perspective 160–1 preoccupied attachment 245 prey–predator dynamic in psychopath attacks 166–8

Index

291

- prisons and psychopathy 223–4 see also criminality measures against psychopathic behavior 232–4 psychiatric care 228–30
  psychiatric care
    psychopathic vs. psychotic 230–2
  rate of psychopathy 7
  staff 226–8
    special features of interactions 227–8 promiscuity 237
promiscuous sexual behavior 6 pseudo-psychopathy 81–2, 88, 223–4 psychoanalysis 249
psychodrama 249
Psychopathic Personality Inventory (PPI) 18, 42–3
  functional imaging studies 56–7 Psychopathy Checklist – Revised (PCL–R) and related instruments 5–6, 17–18 admissibility in adversarial proceedings 27–9 criminal investigative analysis (CIA) 142–3 ethical issues and predicting risk 29–30 factors assessed 40–2 popularity 18
  potential misuses in legal proceedings 25
    capital punishment 25–6
    malingering 25
    sexually violent persons (SVP) 26–7 properties 19
    predictive validity 20–1
    reliability 19–20
  psychometric properties 19
  Screening Version (PCL:SV) 17–18
    predictive validity 21–2
    reliability 21
  stability of psychopathy 204–5
  women psychopaths 100
    assessing prevalence of psychopathy 102–4
    capturing gender differences during assessment 107–9 factor structure 101–2
    psychometric properties 101
  Youth Version (PCL:YV) 17–18, 206
Psychopathy
  ‘color blind’ to human emotions 264 crime-related behavior 145–7
  post-offence behavior 147–9 future directions for study and investigation 8–9
  historical perspective 5
  identification 149–51
  measurement 5–7, 8–9
  myths 30–2
  nature of 1–5
  offenders and society 225–6 poor contextual cueing 264 poor semantic processing 264 portrayal in the media 2–3 practical application and study populations 7–8 publications 4–5
  rate in criminals 143
    homicides 144
    sex offenders 144
    sexual homicides 144–5
  stability over time 202–4 psychotic prisoners 230–2 punishment insensitivity 80–1 Queen Bee Syndrome 115 rape 146–7, 212–13
  rate of psychopathy in population 7–8 reactive violence 209
  recidivism 142, 201
    adolescents 131, 134
    violent offenders 211
  relational aggression 106 relationships, short-term 6 reoffence rates of psychopaths 91 response modulation hypothesis (RMH) 80, 83–4
    culpability 89
Ridgway, Gary 150–1
romantic love 238
Rorschach tests 167
sadism, sexual 213
sadistic violence 147, 167 safety considerations during interviews 275 schizoaffective psychosis 232 secure attachment 245 security when interviewing psychopaths 275 self-centred impulsivity 42 self-presentation 248
Self-Report of Psychopathy 18 serotonin 161, 162

292

sex offenders
    criminal career trajectory 212–13
        desistance 213–14
        women 214
    rate of psychopathy 144
sexual homicides
    rate of psychopathy 144–5
sexual psychopath 27 sexual violence 146–7, 213 sexually dangerous persons 26–7 sexually violent persons (SVP) 26–7 shamelessness 180
Silence of the Lambs 3 single photon emission computerized tomography (SPECT) 43
    functional neuroimaging studies 47
Snakes in Suits 177–8, 236
social dominance 41
stability of psychopathy 202–4 adolescence 131–3
standard error of measurement (SEM) 28 Stanko, Stephen 24 stimulation, need for 1 study populations for psychopathy 7–8 substance P 162
successful psychopaths 2 suicide attempts 229
swindlers 180–1

temporal lobe damage 82 testosterone 130
theoretical perspectives on psychopathy 80–6
therapeutic community therapies 249
treatment 70, 249
    adolescent psychopathy 133–4 amenability 70
    cognition–emotional interactions 91–2 prisons 228–30
triarchic model of characteristics 40

Ultimatum decision-making game 82

ventral medial prefrontal cortex (vmPFC) 81 Violence Risk Assessment Guide (VRAG) 20, 21–2
violence-inhibition-mechanism-deficit (VIM) hypothesis 80

Index

violent crime 139–40, 152 see also criminality; predatory violence crime-related behavior 145–7
        post-offence behavior 147–9
    criminal career trajectory 209–10
        desistance 211–12
        recidivism risk 211
        women 212
    identifying psychopaths 149–51 psychological analyses 141–2 psychopathy and law enforcement 142–3 psychopathy rate in offenders
        homicides 144
        sex offenders 144
        sexual homicides 144–5
    risk 70
    threats of during interviews 272–3

war crime 192–7
    definition 193
weapon use 147
Web of Science® database 4
women psychopaths 99–100, 119–20
    criminality 208–9
        violent offenders 212
    future directions in practice and research 118–19
    practical management 112, 118
        groups processes 115–16
        one-to-one meetings 112–14
    practical management
        toll on staff 116–17
    presence of psychopathy in women 100–1, 104 factor structure of PCL–R 101–2 psychometric properties of PCL–R 101
    presentation 104–5, 112 capturing gender differences during assessment 107–9
        differing psychopathology and conduct in men and women 105–6
        example case 109–11
        similarities and differences between men and women 106–7
    prevalence of psychopathy in women 102–4
    sex offenders 214

youths see children and youths

<http://www.pbookshop.com>

<http://www.pbookshop.com>

<http://www.pbookshop.com>

<http://www.pbookshop.com>

<http://www.pbookshop.com>

<http://www.pbookshop.com>