

Contents

Acknowledgments	xiii
Preface	xv
Introduction	xvii
1. Why Sales Compensation?	1
The Role of the Sales Force	1
Why Sales Compensation Works	2
The Power of Sales Compensation	4
Job Content—The Source of Sales Compensation Design	6
Sales Jobs and Sales Process	7
Sales Compensation—Paying for the Point of Persuasion	10
Sales Force Obsolescence and Sales Compensation	11
The Impact of Customer Relationship Management	13
Summary	14
2. Sales Compensation Fundamentals	15
Variable Compensation Models	15
Income Producers versus Sales Representatives	20
About Sales Compensation Concepts	23
Sales Compensation Design Elements for Sales Representatives	23

VIII • CONTENTS

Eligibility	24
Target Total Cash Compensation	25
Pay Mix and Leverage	27
Performance Measures and Weights	30
Quota Distribution	32
Performance Range	34
Performance and Payment Periods	36
Summary	38
3. Who Own Sales Compensation?	39
Sales Compensation Program Ownership	40
Program Accountabilities	41
Assignment of Program Accountabilities—Large Sales Organizations	43
Using Committees	45
Sales Compensation—The Process Manager	46
Summary	47
4. Why Job Content Drives Sales Compensation Design	48
Job Content Drives Sales Compensation Design	48
Sales Job Components	50
Sales Job Type Inventory	53
Job Levels	61
Job Design Errors	62
Sales Compensation Practices by Job Types	64
Summary	65
5. Formula Types	66
Types of Plans	66
Illustrating Formula Payouts with Sales Compensation Formula Graphs	66
Unit Rate Plans	68

24	Target Pay Incentive Plans: Commission versus Bonus	75
25	Target Incentive Plans: Commission Formula	78
27	About Link Designs	90
30	Bonus Formula: Providing Equal Earning
32	Opportunities When Territories Are Dissimilar in Size	98
34	Target Bonus Plans	98
36	Bonus—Calculation Basis	108
38	Special Designs	109
	Base Salaries	116
39	Summary	121
40
41	6. Formula Construction	122
	Fundamentals of Sales Compensation Formulas	122
43	The Economics of Income Producers	125
45	Advanced Thinking about Income Producer
46	Commission Rates	127
47	Constructing Sales Representative Formula	131
	Formula Construction Worksheets	136
	Summary	146
	7. Support Programs: Territories, Quotas, and Crediting	147
	Territory Configuration	148
53	Quota Management	154
61	Sales Crediting	162
62	Summary	168
64
65
	8. Difficult to Compensate Sales Jobs	169
66	Channel Sales Representative	170
66	Long Sales Cycle, Mega-Order Sellers	171
	Business Development—Specification Sellers	172
66	Strategic Account Manager	173
68	Pursuit Teams	174

X • CONTENTS

New Account Sellers	175
Account Manager	176
Overlay Specialist	177
New Hires	178
Branch Manager	179
House Account Manager	180
Sell and Deliver Service Providers	181
Merchandisers	181
Summary	182
9. Compensating the Complex Sales Organization	183
Examples of Complex Sales Organizations	185
Challenges for Sales Compensation	191
Preferred Sales Compensation Outcomes	192
Sales Compensation Rules for Complex Sales Entities	193
Summary	195
10. Global Sales Compensation	196
The Philosophy of Internationalism versus Globalism	196
Sales Compensation—A Local Solution	198
Global Trigger Conditions	202
Global Sales Compensation Solutions	204
Trends in Global Sales Compensation Practices	206
Summary	207
11. Administration	208
Administration Components	209
How to Avoid Unnecessary Administrative Burdens	217
Summary	218
12. Implementation and Communication	219
Implementation	219

	175	Communication	223
	176	Summary	230
	177
	178	13. Program Assessment	231
	179	Strategic Alignment	232
	180	Employee Motivation	234
	181	Best-Practice Variance	235
	181	Return on Investment	237
	182	Program Management	237
		Summary	239
Organization	183
s	185	14. Sales Compensation Design	240
	191	The Sales Compensation Design Process	241
	192	Ten Steps to Sales Compensation Design	242
ales Entities	193	Summary	247
	195
	196	Closing Notes	248
s Globalism	196	Appendix A: Illustrative Sales Compensation Plan	250
	198	Appendix B: Sales Compensation Surveys	263
	202	Appendix C: Software Vendors—Sales Compensation
	204	Administration Software	264
ctices	206
	207	Index	265
	208
	209
e Burdens	217
	218
on	219
	219		