

Contents

Acknowledgements	v
Table of Cases	ix
Table of Legislation	xiii
Table of Conventions, Treaties etc	xv

PART I: THE EXISTENCE OF COLLECTIVE MORAL RIGHTS

1. Introduction	3
I. The Moral Plausibility of Collective Rights	3
II. Context of this Argument	5
III. Boundaries and Assumptions	10
IV. Inadequacy of Kymlicka's Theory of Group-Differentiated Rights	13
V. Approach and Structure	28
2. Collectivities as Moral Rights-Holders	30
I. Introduction	30
II. Supervenience and Collectivities	35
III. Dworkin's Account of Community	42
IV. Extending Dworkin's Deep Personification	46
V. Collective Responsibilities and Collective Rights	52
3. Collective Interests and Collective Rights	57
I. Introduction	57
II. Interests and Collectivities	58
III. Non-Aggregative Collective Interests	60
IV. Collective Interests and Goods	66
V. The Necessary Existence of Collective Rights	76

PART II: MORAL CONDITIONS FOR COLLECTIVE RIGHTS

4. Conflicting Rights	85
I. Introduction: The Specification Pincer	85
II. Claims for the Non-Necessity of Conflicts	94
III. Rejecting Compossibility	97
IV. The Pervasive Compatibility of Individual and Collective Rights	102
V. Toward a Compatibility Approach	105

5. The Service Principle	107
I. Introduction	107
II. The Humanistic Principle and the Service Principle	109
III. The Service Principle and Community Legitimacy	113
IV. The Service Principle and Individual Autonomy	119
V. The Service Principle and Community Survival	123
VI. Demands of the Service Principle: Sufficient Regard and Vulnerable Insiders	126
6. The Mutuality Principle	131
I. Introduction	131
II. Imposed Constraints on Groups	132
III. Toward a Mutuality Principle	137
IV. Internally-Limited Self-Determination	143
V. Coordinating Collectivities	148
7. Rights to Exit and Membership Control	153
I. Introduction	153
II. Functions of Exit	156
III. Acceptable Bundles of Exit and Voice	166
IV. The Mutuality Principle and Membership Control	177
 PART III: REALISING COLLECTIVE RIGHTS
8. Imperfect Collectivities	187
I. Introduction	187
II. Partial Compliance and the Approximation Principle	189
III. Political Duties to Encourage Compliance with the Community Conditions	196
IV. Political Duties to Foster Civil Society	198
9. Toward a Community of Communities	204
I. Introduction	204
II. Principled Deference and Principled Interference	205
III. Principled Contestation	215
IV. Emerging Applications	226
V. A Community of Communities	229
 Index	 231