

Contents

List of Contributors	xi
Introduction: Exploring Transnational Administrative Rule-Making	1
Olaf Dilling, Martin Herberg, and Gerd Winter
I. Defining the Object of Research and Excavating a Discrete Strata of Global Norms	2
II. Varieties of Transnational Administrative Constellations.....	3
III. From Soft Law to Hard Law: The Manifold Sources of Public Authority	4
IV. Elements and Origins of Legitimation	6
V. Outline of the Contributions.....	9
VI. Conclusion.....	16
References	17
Part I: Setting the Stage—Early Origins of Transnationalisation	21
1. History of Transnational Administrative Networks.....	23
Christian Tietje
I. Introduction.....	23
II. General Overview on the Historical Development of International or Transnational Cooperation Concerning Administrative Issues	24
III. The Development of Administrative Unions.....	27
IV. Forms of Administrative Networks in the Nineteenth Century Outside Formally Institutionalised Forums of Cooperation	30
V. ‘The International Community’ and ‘International Administrative Law’	32
VI. Conclusion.....	34
References	35
Part II: Emerging Procedures in Expert Committees	39
2. Procedure and Legitimacy in Environmental Networks.....	41
Bettina Lange
Abstract.....	41

I.	Asking Questions about the Relationship between Procedure and Legitimacy	42
II.	How do Transnational Governance Networks Transform the Exercise of Public Powers?	44
III.	How to Open up the 'Black Box' of Policy Networks?	48
IV.	Relationships between Procedure and Legitimacy in the Transnational Governance Network under Article 17(2) of the IPPC Directive	51
V.	Linking Procedure and Legitimacy in the Transnational Governance Network of 'the Common Implementation Strategy' Under the EU Water Framework Directive	60
VI.	Linking Procedure and Legitimacy in the Transnational Governance Network for the Enforcement of EU Environmental Law (IMPEL)	67
VII.	Conclusion	71
	References	73
3.	Global Governance Networks in Action: the Development of Toxicological Test Methods at the OECD	77
	Martin Herberg
I.	Introduction: The Shift from World Politics to Global Standard-Setting	77
II.	Globalisation, New Modes of Governance, and the Quest for Legitimacy	79
III.	Science in the Age of Uncertainty: The Institutional Design of the OECD Test Guidelines Programme	87
IV.	Institutional Crises and Institutional Learning: Further Insights from the Expert Interviews	94
V.	Concluding Remarks: Lessons Learned from the OECD Test Guidelines Programme	104
	References	106
	Part III: Negotiation and Deliberation in Regulatory Committees	109
4.	Transnational Administrative Comitology: The Global Harmonisation of Chemicals Classification and Labelling	111
	Gerd Winter
	Abstract	111
I.	The Phenomenon of Transnational Public Administration	112
II.	The Case	114
III.	Theorising on the Case	133

IV. The Question of Legitimation	137
References	147
5. The Codex Alimentarius Commission—A View from Practice.....	151
Dieter Arnold
Abstract	151
I. Background	151
II. Procedures for the Elaboration of Codex Standards and Related Texts	153
III. Relationship of the Codex Alimentarius Commission with GATT/WTO	155
IV. Food Safety Risk Analysis and the Role of Science in the Codex Alimentarius.....	158
V. The Roles of JECFA and JMPR in the Elaboration of Codex Standards for Residues of Pesticides and Veterinary Drugs	162
VI. Example: Risk Assessment of Residues of Veterinary Drugs.....	165
6. The Contribution of Global Administrative Law to Enhancing the Legitimacy of the Codex Alimentarius Commission.....	171
Alexia Herwig
I. Introduction	171
II. An Overview of the CAC.....	172
III. Perceived Legitimation Deficits of the CAC	185
IV. Solutions Offered by Concepts of Global Administrative Law.....	189
V. Main Conclusion	207
References	208
Part IV: Institutional Dynamics and Member State Control	213
7. Autonomy or Adaptability? Environmental Integration in the World Bank	215
Alexandra Lindenthal
I. Introduction	215
II. Rationalist and Sociological Approaches to Administrative Autonomy.....	218
III. Environmental Integration in the World Bank	221
IV. Explaining the World Bank’s Autonomy	227
V. Conclusion.....	230
References	231

8. The Openness of International Organisations for Transnational Public Rule-Making.....	235
Stefan Oeter
I. Introduction: Public Rule-Making as a Prerogative of State Institutions	235
II. The Role of International Organisations in Public Rule-Making.....	236
III. The Drive towards Informality	239
IV. The Evolution of Transnational Rule-Making in the Context of International Organisations.....	241
V. The Rationale of Transnational Rule-Making in the Context of International Organisations	242
VI. The Various Forms of Transnational Rule-Making in the Context of International Organisations	244
VII. The Inherent Limits of Transnational Rule-Making in the Context of International Organisations	248
VIII. Conclusions	250
References	251
Part V: Regional Representation and Participation of Civil Society	253
9. Towards 'Open' Transnational Administrative Networks: Emerging Structural Features	255
Karsten Nowrot
I. Introduction	255
II. Rediscovering Traditional Organisational Characteristics in Network Structures.....	258
III. Evaluating the Structural Trends: Intended Informality versus Optimised Steering Capacities	267
IV. Legitimacy Proliferated: Towards a Paradigm of the 'Open Administrative Network'.....	270
V. Outlook	274
References	275
10. Transnational Governance Networks and Democracy: What are the Standards?.....	281
Jens Steffek and Mariana Gomes Pereira
I. Democracy and Inter/Transnational Governance: the Rise of a Debate	281
II. Network Governance and Governance Networks.....	284
III. Democratic Quality of Governance Networks: the Internal Dimension.....	289

IV. Democratic Quality of Governance Networks: the External Dimension.....	292
V. Conclusion.....	298
References	300
11. Developing Countries: Trapped in the Web of Sustainable Development Governance	305
Joyeeta Gupta
I. Introduction	305
II. Changing Rules of Governance: The Governance Web.....	308
III. Differentiated Impacts on Developing Countries: The Flies in the Web.....	318
IV. Conclusions	323
References	326
Index	331

<http://www.pbookshop.com>