
CONTENTS

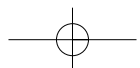

Preface vii

Part I: Valuing Home: Theories, Laws and Policies

1 Conceptualising Home in Context	3
Introduction	3
The Idea of 'Home' in law	7
The Creditor/Occupier Context	11
The Concerns of the Creditor	14
Securing Credit Supplies: Acquisition and Non-acquisition Finance	16
The Practicalities of House Purchases	20
Evaluating the Creditors' Concerns	21
The Concerns of the Occupier	23
The Value(s) of Home	25
Conclusions	27
2 The Meaning of Home in Legal Analysis: The Creditor/Occupier Context	33
Introduction	33
Home-type Values in the Legal Framework	37
Sole Ownership and Creditors' Remedies	41
Property Held on Joint Legal Title	46
Equitable Interests and 'Trusts of the Family Home'	48
Establishing Priority: Creditors and Occupiers	49
Constructive Notice	50
Williams and Glyn's Bank Ltd v Boland : Home Interests Prevail	53
Post- Boland Backlash: Acquisition Mortgages	55
Post- Boland Backlash: the 'Two Trustees' Rule	56
Post- Boland Backlash: Estoppel	60
Priority between Creditors and Occupiers: Conclusions	61
Creditor Actions for the Sale of Co-owned Land	61
The Policy of 1925 and the Presumption of Sale	63
Bankruptcy	68
Trusts of Land and Appointment of Trustees Act 1996	71

xii	Contents
	Judicial Policy after 1996	72
	Conclusions	75
	3 Balancing Creditors' Claims against 'Home' Interests	79
	Introduction	79
	Enforcing the Contract	81
	The Availability of Credit for Home Ownership	88
	'Widening Participation' in the Home Ownership Market	92
	Alternative Perspectives on Striking the Balance	96
	'Law and Market Economy'	97
	Feminist Economics and the 'Masculinity' of Land Law	99
	The Impact of Losing a Home: From the Personal to the Political	109
	Losing One's Home through Creditor Possession Actions	112
	Health Implications of Loss of Home through Mortgage Possession Actions	115
	Law and the Emotions	118
	Evaluation: The Case for Re-considering the Pro-creditor Presumption	122
	Conclusions	128
	4 The Meaning of Home: A Conceptual Springboard	131
	Introduction	131
	Dwelling, Space and Sense of Place: Philosophical Foundations	134
	Unpacking the Meanings of Home	142
	Home as a Financial Investment	146
	Home as a Physical Structure	155
	Home as Territory	157
	Home as Identity	167
	Home as a Social and Cultural Unit	173
	Conclusions	177
	5 Home Ownership and the Meaning of Home	181
	Introduction	181
	The Political Ideology of Home Ownership	188
	The Creation of the Home Ownership 'Ideology'	190
	Societal Advantages of Home Ownership: A Stake in the System?	193
	Protecting the Owner-occupied Home: the Political Impetus	195
	Are Home Owners Better Citizens?	197
	Societal Advantages of Home Ownership: Macroeconomic Returns	201
	Individual Rewards of Home Ownership	206
	The Meanings of Home Across Tenures	208

Contents	xiii
Home Ownership and Household Wealth	213
The Wealth-accumulating Opportunities of Home Ownership for Low Income Households	217
From the 'Right to Buy' to 'Unsafe Safety Nets': the Rise and Fall of Economic Intervention for Low Income Home Owners	220
Home Ownership and the 'X Factor' Meanings of Home	228
Home Ownership and Ontological Security	232
Conclusions	237
 Part II: Locating the 'Home' Interest in Legal Frameworks
6 The Idea of 'Home' in Property Theory and Law	245
Introduction	245
Valuing Property in Land	249
From 'Use Value' to 'Exchange Value': the Meaning of Property in Land	250
Things as Things and Things as Wealth	253
The Evolution of Property in Land: from Use Value to Exchange Value	255
The Policies of English Property Law: the 1925 Legislation	260
The Doctrine of 'Conversion'	263
The 'Trust of Land' and the Use of Land as a Home	265
The Impact of Structural and Legal Frameworks on Creditor/Occupier Disputes	269
The 'Commoditisation of Home'	272
Possession	274
Possession of Land and the Doctrine of Seisin	278
The 'Endowment Effect'	281
The Land Registration Act 2002: from Possession to Title	284
Property and Personhood	287
Philosophical Foundations of Property for Personhood	288
Radin and the theory of 'Property for Personhood'	296
Home as 'Property for Personhood'	300
Conclusions	303
7 Valuing 'Family' in the Family Home	307
Introduction	307
Alternative Models for Protecting 'Family Home'	310
The Concept of 'Family Home' in English Law	314
The 'Deserted Wife's Equity' in the Family Home	314
Matrimonial Homes Legislation	319
Creditors and the Burden of Inquiry	321

xiv	Contents
	The Decision in Boland and the 'Family' Home	325
	Section 30 of the Law of Property Act 1925 and the 'Collateral Purpose Doctrine'	327
	Bankruptcy	329
	Charging Orders	332
	Family Home: Themes and Issues	334
	Home per se	336
	The 'Marriage' of Family and Home	340
	Gender and 'Other' Roles in the 'Family Home'	341
	The 'Individual Occupier' Approach to the Concept of Home	345
	Alternative Approaches: Homestead Legislation	348
	Family Home or Home per se : Evaluating the Options	353
	Conclusions	357
	8 'Re-possessing Women': Gender and the Meanings of Home	361
	Introduction	361
	Feminist Critique of the Values of Home	366
	Home as 'Women's Place'	367
	Home as a Site for Individual Subjectivity	370
	Home as a Universal Value?	372
	The Universal Value of Home Ownership	376
	Women as Home Owners	378
	Is Income the Key?	383
	Gender Difference in the Meanings of Home	387
	Gender, Home Ownership and Ontological Security	391
	Gender, Default and Repossession	395
	Conclusions	400
	9 Taking Account of Child Occupiers: from Rhetoric to Reality?	409
	Introduction	409
	The Home Interests of Child Occupiers in Legal Discourse	416
	Sole Owned Property	419
	Jointly Owned Property	421
	Putting Children's Interests on the Agenda: The Trusts of Land and Appointment of Trustees Act 1996	426
	Edwards v Lloyd's TSB Bank	432
	Child Welfare and Loss of Home: Assessing the Implications	434
	Considering the Claims of Child Occupiers	435
	The Meaning of Home for Children	437
	Children's Experience of Losing their Homes	439
	Home Ownership and Child Occupiers	443
	Conclusions	445

Contents

xv

10 The Concept of Home in a Human Rights Framework	451
Introduction	451
The Framework of the Human Rights Act 1998	453
The Creditor/Occupier Context	454
The Creditor/Occupier Context in a Human Rights Framework	458
Article 8—the Right to Respect for the Home	459
‘Family Home’ in the Human Rights Framework	461
Private Life, ‘Home’ and Article 8	463
Article 8 and the Problem of Horizontal Effect	465
Article 1 of the First Protocol	467
The Conflict between Article 8 and P1–1	472
Article 8 and the Right to ‘Respect for Home’ in the Creditor/Occupier Context	474
The Meaning of ‘Home’ for Article 8	475
An ‘Interference’ by a Public Authority with the Right to Respect for Home	476
The Qualified Nature of Article 8	477
The Impact of the Decision in London Borough of Harrow v Qazi	481
The Decision in London Borough of Harrow v Qazi	483
Lord Bingham	486
Lord Steyn	488
Lord Hope	489
Lord Millett	491
Lord Scott	495
The Impact of the Decision in London Borough of Harrow v Qazi for Creditor/Occupier Disputes	495
Article 14 in Conjunction with Article 8	500
After Qazi : Conflicting Convention Case Law	503
Kay v London Borough of Lambeth and Leeds City Council v Price	505
Conclusions	518
Conclusions	523
Bibliography	525
Index	543

