

---

CONTENTS

---

Acknowledgments	v
Table of Abbreviations	xv
Table of Cases	xvii
The Author	xxxix
Foreword: Law in the Twenty-First Century
Luis Moreno Ocampo, Prosecutor of the International Criminal Court	xxxiii
Preliminary Reflections: The Preventative Role of the International Criminal Court
Judge Elizabeth Odio Benito, Judge and former Vice-President of the International Criminal Court	xxxvii
Introduction to Essays on International Criminal Justice
Leila Nadya Sadat, Henry H Oerschelp Professor of Law and Director, Whitney R Harris World Law Institute, Washington University School of Law	xli
1: The Role of the International Criminal Court in Preventing Atrocity Crimes through Timely Intervention	1
I. Humanitarian Intervention Doctrine and Responsibility to Protect	1
II. The Two Dimensions of the ICC's Preventative Mandate: General Prevention and Timely Intervention	7
III. The ICC's Timely Intervention as a Result of Tangible Threats of Future Atrocity Crimes	8
IV. The ICC's Timely Intervention when Atrocity Crimes are already Taking Place	15
V. Conclusion	19
2: The Admissibility of 'Situations'	20
I. Introduction	20
II. The Distinction between 'Situations' and 'Cases'	22
III. The Notion of Admissibility of 'Situations'	26
IV. Assessing the Admissibility of 'Situations'	34
V. Conclusion	39
3: The Admissibility Analysis of the 'Situation' in the Republic of Kenya before the International Criminal Court	41

Contents

I.	Introduction	41
II.	The Notions of ‘Situation’ and ‘Case’	42
III.	The Notion of ‘Admissibility’ and its Application to ‘Situations’ and ‘Cases’	45
IV.	The Admissibility of the ‘Situation’ in the Republic of Kenya	51
V.	Conclusion	58
4:	The Distinction Between Situations and Cases in National Laws of Cooperation with the ICC	60
I.	Introduction	60
II.	Communication of the Notitia Criminis to the Court according to the OLCICC	63
A	Referral of a Situation by a State Party	63
B	Transmission of Communications under Article 15 of the ICC Statute	64
III.	Admissibility Issues in the OLCICC	66
A	Deferral Requests under Article 18(2) of the ICC Statute	66
B	Admissibility Challenges under Article 19(2) of the ICC Statute	68
IV.	The OLCICC and the Efficacy of Admissibility Rulings at the National Level	70
V.	Final Remarks	73
5:	Complementarity Analysis of National Sentencing	74
I.	Introduction	74
II.	The Relevance of National Sentencing in a Complementarity Analysis	75
III.	National Sentencing as the Objective of a Complementarity Analysis	78
IV.	The Complementarity Analysis of the Legislative Determination of Penalties	80
A	A Priori Determination of the Penalties Applicable to a Given Crime	80
B	Variation in Penalty Ranges on the Basis of the Subjective Element	85
C	Variation in Penalty Ranges on the Basis of the Modes of Liability	90
D	Variation in Penalty Ranges on the Basis of the Lack of Completion of the Actus Reus	93
E	Concursus Delictorum	94
V.	The Complementarity Analysis of the Judicial Determination of Penalties	95
VI.	The Irrelevance of the Executive Determination of Penalties for the Purpose of a Complementarity Analysis	97

Contents

VII. The Complementarity Analysis of National Sentencing against the Backdrop of Situations and Cases	98
VIII. Conclusion	100
6: The Application of Indirect Perpetration through Organised Structures of Power at the International Level	102
I. Introduction	102
II. Initial Reluctance and Subsequent Development of the Notion of Indirect Perpetration through Organised Structures of Power	104
III. The Application of the Notion of Indirect Perpetration through Organised Structures of Power at the ICTY and the ICTR	109
A The ICTY	109
i The Stakic Case	109
ii The Brdanin, Krajcinik and Limaj et al Cases	110
B The ICTR: The Case against Protais Zigiranyirazo	112
IV. The Application of the Notion of Indirect Perpetration through Organised Structures of Power at the ICC	112
A The Bashir Case	112
B The Bemba Case	114
C The Katanga and Ngudjolo Case	116
D The Abu Garda Case	118
V. Conclusion	119
7: Shedding Some Light on the Nature of the Notion of Joint Criminal Enterprise and its Extended Form	121
I. Introduction	121
II. The Development of the Notion of Control over the Crime to Address the Specific Features of International Crimes	122
III. The Development of the Notion of Joint Criminal Enterprise to Address the Specific Features of International Crimes	126
A First Approach to the Notion of Joint Criminal Enterprise	126
B The Notion of Joint Criminal Enterprise since the Decision of the ICTY Appeals Chamber of 21 May 2003: Turning a Notion of Partnership in Crime or Accomplice Liability into a Notion of Co-Perpetration	129
IV. Extended Form of Joint Criminal Enterprise	134
V. Conclusion	142
8: Victims' Participation According to the Jurisprudence of the International Criminal Court	143

Contents

I.	Introduction	143
II.	Who can become a Participating Victim?	145
	A Deceased Persons as victims	146
	B Victims Unrelated to the Charges	148
	C Forms of Harm	150
	D Indirect Victims	152
	E Reassessment of Pre-Trial Decisions on Victim's Status by the Trial Chambers?	154
III.	What are Victims allowed to carry out in the Criminal Proceedings?	155
	A Systemic versus Casuistic Approach to the Determination of the Role of Victims in Situations and Case Proceedings	156
	B The Role of Victims in the Stage of Investigation of a Situation	159
	C The Role of Victims in the Pre-Trial Proceedings of a Case	161
	D The Role of Victims in the Trial Proceedings of a Case	166
	i Victims' Right to Tender Evidence pertaining to Guilt or Innocence	166
	ii Victims' Right to Question Witnesses and the Appropriate Manner of Questioning	168
	iii Victims' Participation in the Disclosure Process	169
	iv Personal Appearance of Victims at Trial	170
	v Evidence on Reparations Issues	171
	vi The Role of Victims in the Recharacterisation of Facts	172
IV.	Conclusion	175
9:	Legal Clinics in Continental Western Europe: The Approach of the Utrecht Legal Clinic	176
	Reflections on Complementarity and Cooperation in Early Practice under the Rome Statute	180
	Judge René Blattmann, Judge and former Vice-President of the International Criminal Court, Carl Bertelsmann Prize, Dr. Hc. University of Basel and Humboldt University of Berlin
III.	Introduction	180
IV.	Complementarity and Cooperation under the Regime of the International Courts for the Abolition of the Slave Trade	181
V.	Complementarity in the ICC Context	183
	A Jurisdiction	183
	B Admissibility	184
	C Clarification on Parameters of Admissibility by the Appeals Chamber	186
IV.	Complementarity in Action in Situations and Cases before the ICC	187
V.	Cooperation in Action at the National Level	190

Contents

A State Cooperation with the ICC through Changes in National Legislation	191
VI. Conclusion	192
Final Reflection: The Challenges of the International Criminal Court	194
Judge Silvia A Fernández de Gurmendi, Judge of the International Criminal Court
I. Legality	194
II. Legitimacy	195
III. Efficiency	197
IV. Cooperation	197
Epilogue: Building the Proceedings before the Pre-Trial Chamber of the International Criminal Court	199
Judge Sylvia H Steiner, Judge and President of the Pre-Trial Division of the International Criminal Court
Bibliography	201