

Contents

Table of Cases	xix
Introduction	1
I. BACKGROUND	1
II. THE FOCUS AND MAIN ISSUES OF THIS BOOK	5
III. THE STRUCTURE OF THIS BOOK	7
IV. DELIMITATIONS AND THE SOURCES OF THIS BOOK	11
1. Social Security in General	15
INTRODUCTION	15
I. SOCIAL SECURITY AT THE NATIONAL LEVEL	16
1. Basic Concepts	16
1.1 The Concept of Social Security	18
a. Social Insurance	19
b. Social Assistance	21
1.2 Social Risk	23
2. The Emergence and Evolution of Social Security	23
2.1 Forms of Security in the Pre-industrial World	24
2.2 Social Security in the Industrial World	24
a. Expansion of Social Security	27
b. The Beveridge Report and the Emergence of Social Citizenship	28
3. Social Security Models in the Member States of the European Union	32
3.1 The Continental (or Bismarckian) Model	34
3.2 The Atlantic (or Beveridgean) Model	36
3.3 The Scandinavian (or Mixed) Model	36
3.4 The 'Latin-Rim' Countries	36
3.5 Other Classifications of the Welfare State	37
4. Current Challenges and Developments in the Field of Social Security	39
4.1 The Challenges and Pressures with respect to Current Social Security Systems	40
4.2 The Emergence of New Social Risks	44
II. SOCIAL SECURITY AT THE INTERNATIONAL LEVEL	46
1. International Social Security Law	46
1.1 Bilateral and Multilateral Agreements	48
1.2 International Organisations	50

xii Contents

a. The International Labour Organisation	51
b. The Council of Europe	52
c. The Nordic Convention on Social Security	53
2. Co-ordination of Social Security Systems Between Countries Involved in the Process of Economic Integration	54
2.1 Co-ordination of the Social Security Systems of the Member States in the EEC Treaty	56
2.2 Challenges and the Last Developments in the Social Security Law of Co-ordination of the European Community	59
CONCLUDING REMARKS	63
2. Social Security and Gender	65
INTRODUCTION	65
I. WOMEN AND SOCIAL SECURITY IN A HISTORICAL CONTEXT	66
1. Gender Aspects of Social Security Schemes	66
1.1 Women and Work-based Schemes	66
1.2 Women and Residence-based Schemes	70
a. Gender Aspects of the Beveridge Report	70
2. Social Security and Feminism	72
2.1 Feminist Theories: Maternalist and Individualist Arguments	73
a. German Feminism	79
b. French Feminism	82
c. Scandinavian Feminism Sweden	84
2.2 Did Feminism Matter?	87
3. Social Security and Demographic Concerns	88
II. WOMEN AND SOCIAL SECURITY TODAY	89
1. Gender Models of Welfare State in the Member States of the European Union	91
1.1 The Strong Male Breadwinner Model: Germany	93
1.2 The Moderate Male Breadwinner Model: France	96
1.3 The Weak Male Breadwinner Model: Sweden	98
2. Women and Current Challenges and Developments in Social Security	101
III: WOMEN AND INTERNATIONAL SOCIAL SECURITY	103
1. Women and the Co-ordination of Social Security Systems within the European Union	104
CONCLUDING REMARKS	105
3. Female Migration and Implications for Social Security	107
INTRODUCTION	107
I. MIGRATION AND FREE MOVEMENT IN THE EUROPEAN UNION	108
1. Migration in Europe: General	108

Contents xiii

1.1 The Right of Free Movement in the European Union	111
2. Female Migration	114
2.1 Female Migration Within the European Union	116
II. THE IMPACT OF MIGRATION ON WOMEN'S EMPLOYMENT AND MARITAL STATUS	119
1. The Impact of Migration on Women's Employment Status	120
1.1 The Impact of Migration on the Employment Status of Women Within the Framework of the European Union	124
1.2 Factors Inhibiting Migrant Women's Labour Market Activity	129
2. The Impact of Migration on Women's Marital Status	132
CONCLUDING REMARKS	134
4. Work Interruptions and the Personal Scope of the Co-ordination Regulations	137
INTRODUCTION	137
I. THE PERSONS COVERED BY THE CO-ORDINATION SYSTEM ON THE BASIS OF THE CRITERION OF SOCIAL SECURITY	139
1. The Personal Scope of Reg 1408/71	139
1.1 The Concept 'Employed or Self-employed' Person	140
a. The Criterion of Social Security	143
i. Branches of Social Security	144
ii. The Characteristics of the National Schemes	145
iii. The Kind of Affiliation to a National Scheme	148
b. The Lack of Insurance	149
1.2 The Condition of Movement	152
1.3 The Condition of Nationality	154
1.4 Economic Activity and the Personal Scope of Reg 1408/71	157
a. The Nature of Economic Activity	157
b. Lack of Economic Activity	160
c. Temporary Interruption of Work and Application of Reg 1408/71	161
2. The Personal Scope of Reg 883/04	162
2.1 The Branches of Social Security	163
2.2 The Characteristics of the National Schemes	164
2.3 The Kind of Affiliation to a National Scheme	167
2.4 The Conditions of Movement and Nationality	168
3. Work Interruptions and the Application of the Co-ordination System	168
3.1 Work Interruption because of Childbirth/Child-rearing	168
3.2 Work Interruption because of Migration	169
II. THE CHOICE OF LAW SYSTEM	170
1. The Provisions of Reg 1408/71	170
1.1 The Main Principles of the Choice of Law System: One Applicable Legislation Lex Loci Laboris	170

xiv Contents

a. The Principle of One Applicable Legislation	171
i. Exceptions to the Principle of One Applicable Legislation	171
b. The Lex Loci Laboris Principle	172
i. When a Worker Pursues Her/His Activity in One Member State and Resides in Another	174
ii. When a Worker Pursues Her/His Activity or Activities in Several Member States	175
iii. Exceptions to the Lex Loci Laboris Principle	176
1.2 The Personal Scope of the Provisions of Title II	180
a. The Persons Covered by the Provisions of Title II of Reg 1408/71 and the Main Principles Established in It	180
b. Persons Not Actively Pursuing an Economic Activity and the Application of the Main Principles of Title II	182
i. Definite Cessation of Work and Application of the Main Principles of Title II	182
ii. Temporary Interruption of Work and Application of Title II	183
2. The Provisions of Reg 883/04	193
2.1 The Main Principles Established in Title II	193
2.2 The Personal Scope of Title II of Reg 883/04	194
3. Work Interruptions and the Choice of Law System	194
3.1 Work Interruption because of Childbirth/Child-rearing	196
3.2 Work Interruption because of Migration	197
CONCLUDING REMARKS	197
5. Work Interruptions and the Application of the Fundamental Principles of Co-ordination	199
INTRODUCTION	199
I. THE AGGREGATION PRINCIPLE	200
1. The Provisions of Reg 1408/71	201
1.1 The Content of the Aggregation Principle concerning Specific Benefits	201
1.2 The Personal Scope of the Specific Aggregation Provisions of Title III	202
a. Sickness/Maternity Benefits	202
b. Old Age Benefits	203
c. Unemployment Benefits	207
d. Family Benefits	209
2. The Provisions of Reg 883/04	211
2.1 The Content of the Aggregation Principle	211
2.2 The Personal Scope of the Provisions concerning Aggregation	211
3. Work Interruptions and the Application of the Aggregation Principle	211

Contents xv

3.1	Work Interruption because of Childbirth/Child-rearing	212
3.2	Work Interruption because of Migration	213
II.	THE EXPORTABILITY PRINCIPLE	214
1.	The Provisions of Reg 1408/71	214
1.1	The Content of the Exportability Principle concerning Specific Benefits	215
a.	Concerning Sickness/Maternity Benefits	215
i.	Residence in a Member State Other than the Competent State	216
ii.	Stay Outside the Competent State	217
b.	Concerning Old Age Benefits	219
c.	Concerning Unemployment Benefits	219
i.	Art 69 of Reg 1408/71	219
ii.	Art 71 of Reg 1408/71 and the Concept of Residence	222
d.	Concerning Family Benefits	225
1.2	The Personal Scope of the Specific Exportability Provisions of Title III	226
a.	Sickness/Maternity Benefits	227
b.	Old Age Benefits	228
c.	Unemployment Benefits	228
d.	Family Benefits	231
2.	The Provisions of Reg 883/04	233
2.1	The Content of the Exportability Principle	233
2.2	The Personal Scope of the Provisions concerning Exportability	236
3.	Work Interruptions and Application of the Exportability Principle	236
3.1	Work Interruption because of Childbirth/Child-rearing	236
3.2	Work Interruption because of Migration	237
4.	Classification of the Benefit related to Child-rearing	238
4.1	The Definition of Maternity Benefits	239
a.	Maternity Benefits in the National Systems of the Member States	239
i.	Maternity Benefits in Kind	239
ii.	Maternity Leave	240
iii.	Maternity Benefits in Cash	243
b.	Maternity Benefits within the Framework of the Co-ordination Law	244
4.2	The Definition of Family Benefits	247
a.	Family Benefits in the National Systems of the Member States	247
b.	Family Benefits within the Framework of the Co-ordination System	247
4.3	The Distinction between Family Benefits and Maternity Benefits and the Classification of the Parental Benefit in the Law of Co-ordination	248

xvi Contents

a.	The Emergence and the Notion of the Parental Benefit	250
b.	The Classification of the Parental Benefit under Reg 1408/71	251
c.	Classification of the Parental Benefit and Application of Different Provisions of the Co-ordination Regulations	256
III.	THE NON-OVERLAPPING PRINCIPLE	258
1.	The Provisions of Reg 1408/71	259
1.1	The Content of the Non-Overlapping Principle in Relation to Family Benefits	259
a.	Non-Overlapping Rules when the Benefits are Based on the Pursuit of Economic Activity	259
b.	Non-Overlapping Rules when One Benefit is not Based on the Pursuit of Economic Activity	262
1.2	The Personal Scope of the Non-Overlapping Provisions	263
2.	The Provisions of Reg 883/04	264
2.1	The Content of the Non-Overlapping Principle	264
2.2	The Personal Scope of the Non-Overlapping Provisions	265
3.	Work Interruptions and the Application of the Non-Overlapping Principle	265
3.1	Work Interruption because of Childbirth/Child-rearing	265
3.2	Work Interruption because of Migration	266
IV.	THE NEW PRINCIPLE OF ASSIMILATION OF FACTS	266
	CONCLUDING REMARKS	267
6.	Changed Family Conditions and the Personal Scope of the Co-ordination Regulations	271
	INTRODUCTION	271
I.	THE PERSONS COVERED BY THE CO-ORDINATION SYSTEM ON THE BASIS OF FAMILY/MARRIAGE	272
1.	The Provisions of Reg 1408/71	273
1.1	The Concept of Family Member within the Framework of Reg 1408/71	273
a.	Definition of the Term 'Members of the Family' in Reg 1408/71	273
i.	The Concept of the Family in the Member States	275
ii.	The Concept of the Family in Community Law	280
1.2	The Criteria of Movement and Nationality	285
2.	The Provisions of Reg 883/03	285
3.	New Family Forms and the Persons Covered by the Co-ordination System	286
II.	TERMINATION OF MARRIAGE AND THE PERSONAL SCOPE PROVISIONS OF THE CO-ORDINATION REGULATIONS	287
1.	The Termination of Marriage and National Laws	288

Contents xvii

1.1 The Termination of Marriage and Family Law Arrangements	289
1.2 The termination of Marriage and Social Security Law Arrangements	291
2. The Termination of Marriage and Community Law	293
3. Termination of Marriage and the Personal Scope Provisions of the Co-ordination Regulations	296
III. MEMBERS OF THE FAMILY AND THE CHOICE OF LAW PROVISIONS OF THE CO-ORDINATION REGULATIONS	297
CONCLUDING REMARKS	298
7. Changed Family Conditions and the Application of the Fundamental Principles of Co-ordination	301
INTRODUCTION	301
I. THE AGGREGATION PRINCIPLE	302
1. The Provisions of Reg 1408/71	302
1.1 The Application of the Aggregation Principle Concerning Sickness/Maternity Benefits to Family Members	302
1.2 The Application of the Aggregation Principle Concerning Old Age Benefits to Family Members	303
1.3 The Application of the Aggregation Principle Concerning Unemployment Benefits to Family Members	303
1.4 The Application of the Aggregation Principle Concerning Family Benefits to Family Members	305
2. The Provisions of Reg 883/04	305
3. Changed Family Conditions and the Application of the Aggregation Principle	305
II. THE EXPORTABILITY PRINCIPLE	306
1. The Provisions of Reg 1408/71	306
1.1 The Application of the Exportability Principle Concerning Sickness/Maternity Benefits to Family Members	306
1.2 The Application of the Exportability Principle Concerning Old Age Benefits to Family Members	307
1.3 The Application of the Exportability Principle Concerning Unemployment Benefits to Family Members	308
1.4 The Application of the Exportability Principle Concerning Family Benefits to Family Members	308
1.5 The Individualisation Trend in the Social Security Systems and the Application of Reg 1408/71	311
2. The Provisions of Reg 883/04	313
3. Changed Family Conditions and the Application of the Exportability Principle	313
III. THE NON-OVERLAPPING PRINCIPLE	314
1. The Provisions of Reg 1408/71	314

xviii Contents

1.1 The Application of the Non-Overlapping Principle Concerning Family Benefits to Family Members	314
1.2 Marriage Dissolution and Application of the Non-Overlapping Principle	315
2. The Provisions of Reg 883/04	317
CONCLUDING REMARKS	318
Conclusions	321
I. THE FINDINGS OF THE BOOK	322
1. Work Interruptions because of Childbirth/Child-rearing or Migration	322
2. Changed Family Conditions	324
II. FINAL REMARKS	325
Index	329

<http://www.pbookshop.com>