

Index

- Abu Dhabi, 80
- accessibility, 58
- agglomeration economies, 9
  - influence of, 52–60
- Alcatel, 46
- Alonso-style bid-rent models, of urban
  - land-use, 95–6
- alpha world cities, 24
- amount of aggregate space, 61–2
- Amsterdam, 67–9
- Amsterdam Stock Exchange, 68
- ArcaEx, 45
- Asian and Middle Eastern markets,
  - 76–81
- Asian IFCs, 76–81
- asset market bubbles, 215
- asset prices, 129–30

- Bahrain, 80
- Bank for International Settlements (BIS)
  - data analysis, 37–8
- bank M&A across developed
  - economies, 41–2
- Bank of America, 79
- Bank of England, 68, 72–3
- Bank of Japan, 77
- bank penetration, 56
- banks by assets, 42
- Banque de France, 70
- Banque de l'Indo Chine, 72
- Barings, 68, 78
  - financial crisis, 72
- Basel II capital adequacy and solvency
  - regulatory requirements, 212
- Battery Park City schemes, 138–9
- Beirut, 80
- below equilibrium rents (BERI), 131
- Berlin, 68, 72
- beta world cities, 24
- Black Monday, 1987, 188
- Bretton Woods Agreement, 65–6
- Bretton Woods exchange rate system,
  - 65, 76, 79
- broking and securities trading, 116
- Brussels, 69

- business downturn, 132
- business upturn, 132

- call centres, 115
- capital value, of an office building, 149
- Castells's 'network society', 22
- catchment area, 8
- CBOT, 45
- central business districts (CBDs), 161
- central place theory, 9
- Chemical Bank, 139
- Christaller's central place system, 7–9
- cities
  - agglomeration economies, 9
  - command and control, 12–13
  - congestion and crowding costs, 9, 14
  - distribution in size, 6
  - diversified, 15
  - edge, 9
  - firm growth and firm turnover, 12
  - high-order, 9, 30
  - impact of shifts in nature of
    - activities, 14–15
  - and Jacobian economies, 10, 12
  - lower order, 9
  - market place, 8
  - North American and UK, 12–14
  - outside states, 15–18
  - proportions of headquarters (HQs)
    - buildings, 12–14
  - and provision of telecommunications
    - networks, 47
  - ranked by GDP, 17
  - settlement hierarchy, 8
  - spatial distribution of, 6
  - specialised, 10–12
  - subordinate, 12
  - transport costs, 10–11
- city, idea of, 5
- City of London, 57, 68, 70–71, 73, 84–5,
  - 114, 118, 162, 206
- classical location theory, 94
- CME, 45
- cobweb or corn-hog cycle adjustment
  - process, 130

- commodity prices, 188
- co-movement
  - in asset markets and financial market, 188
  - in global equity markets, 190
- competitive international service centre, 62
- competitiveness, 31, 63
  - rating of, 35
- consolidation of financial services, influencing factors, 43
- construction lag, 131
- Cooper Brothers, 71
- Crédit Lyonnais, 72
- cross-continental strategic alliances, 45

- Daiichi, 77
- DataStream index, 201
- decentralisation, of financial activity, 48–50
- Deloitte, 71
- Deutsche-Asiatische Bank, 78
- Deutsche Bank, 48, 70, 72
- Deutsche Börse, 45
- development boom–slump cycle, 133
- development cycles in IFCs, 147–8, 281–2
- DiPasquale and Wheaton model, for rent, 129
- Disconto-Gesellschaft, 70
- distance and information on equity trading, combined effect of, 56–7
- diversification, 10
- diversified cities, 15
- dot.com crisis, 188
  - see also* financial markets
- Dow Jones index, 201–2
- Dubai, 80
- Dutch East India Company, 28, 68
- Dutch tulip mania, 201, 203

- ease of doing business and status as a business centre, 36–7
- Eastern European offices, 150
- economic growth, in a region, 60
- edge cities, 9
- effects of distance on equity flows between countries, 55–6
- electronic trading platforms, 44–7

- employment, in financial activities
  - City of London, 118
  - New York, 118–19
- employment cycle in IFCs, 117–22
- equity market prices, 188
- Eurex, 45
- Eurobond markets, 65
- Eurocredits, 65
- Eurodollar markets, 65
- EuroLAN, 47
- Euronext, 44–5
- European centres, 69
- European international financial centre (IFC), 69
- European overseas banks, 78
- European real estate, 165, 168
- European Union urban agglomeration, 7

- face-to-face communications, 50–52
- factors determining choice of cities in attracting financial firms, 57
- Falcon, 46
- FEA, 46
- Federal Reserve System, 73
- finance, insurance and real estate (FIRE), 133
- financial markets
  - asset market bubbles, 201–6, 265
  - attributes and functions of, 33
  - average correlation between national markets, 189
  - Barings Crisis, 198
  - Black Monday, 194
  - bubble bursting, 206
  - capital flows between countries, 191–2
  - coefficient of global market factor, 189–90
  - commercial mortgage-backed securities (CMBS) portfolios, 198
  - commercial real estate, 265
  - co-movement and crises, 189–200, 264–6
  - co-movement in global equity markets, 190
  - competition between banks and other financial institutions, 210
  - conditions for a rational bubble, 204–5

- contagion and spillover effects, 196–200
- correlation coefficients of monthly real returns for US and major European markets, 189
- credit cycle, 208
- development of asset bubbles in relation to the East Asian equity and currency crises of 1997, 205
- Dutch investment fund correlation analysis, 199–200
- Dutch tulip mania, 201, 203
- East Asian financial crisis, 197
- Economist* views, 33–4
- employment status, 206
- equity and commercial real estate cycles for OECD countries, 208–9
- Exchange Rate Mechanism (ERM) difficulties, 197
- feedback effects between the equity and housing markets, 203
- fundamentals of, 200
- Hong Kong stock market crisis, 195
- impact of rise in intangible values, 203–4
- implications for investment strategies, 191
- information asymmetry, 196–8
- integration of property and, 270–77
- Latin American loans, crisis, 198
- Long-Term Capital Management (LTCM), 194
- Mexican Peso crisis, 195
- Morgan Stanley Capital International World stock market index, 190
- occupational demand and rents, 206
- optimists vs pessimists, 204
- private capital flows, 197
- Property company and Real Estate Investment Trust (REIT) returns, 189
- and property downturns, 211
- property prices and bank lending, 207–8
- real estate booms, 201–6
- real estate crisis, 206–14, 264–6
- real estate cycles in OECD countries, 211–12
- risks of global financial integration, 193–6
- role played by real estate in financial crisis, 207
- Russian debt default, 197
- Shiller's behavioural explanations of equity market boom, 203
- and shocks in lending markets, 215
- South Sea Bubble, 201
- Swedish banking crisis, 212–13
- theoretical benefits of global financial integration, 192–3
- US residential sub-prime mortgage crisis, 198
- variance of asset returns in a country, 195
- Financial Modernisation Act (1999), 66
- firms' decision-making, on location, 60–61
- Fisher four-quadrant model, for rent, 129–30
- FLAG (Fibre Optic Link Around the Globe), 46
- FNAL, 46
- foreign assets held by countries, 71–2
- foreign exchange trades, 37–8
- Frankfurt, 69, 71, 76
- French overseas banks, 72
- French real estate investment, 165
- Fujitsu, 46
- gamma world cities, 24
- Geneva, 69
- geo-political factors, 58
- Glass–Steagall Act, 40, 66, 75
- global and market risk, 287–94
- global capital flows, 170
- global cities
  - analysis of air travels, 25–7
  - Anne Haila's work, 141
  - Asian cities, 25, 27, 29–30
  - basis of intra-national regional trips, 27
  - on the basis of linkages, 20
  - built space and ownership, 31
  - capital and reinvestment, 29–30
  - central business districts (CBDs), 261
  - by corporate service provision, 24
  - cosmopolitan nature, 28
  - Eurocentric/Atlantacist bias, 29
  - Friedman's and Sassen's ideas, 18–23, 30

- global cities (Contd.)
 functional specialisation, 290
 GaWC database analysis, 24–7 growth of transnational firms, 19 high factor loadings, 25 impact of national and local institutions, 30 importance of London and New York, 25
 multinational enterprise (MNE) generated system of, 22 occupational space, 31
 real estate, 260–61
 religion, 30
 social impacts of urban restructuring in, 22
 social structure, 30
 taxonomic approach, 24
 Tokyo, 29
 Global Crossing, 46
 Global Financial Centres Index, 34–5
 Globalisation and World Cities (GaWC) project, of world cities, 23–7 global real estate investment, 217, 246–51
 Gold convertibility, 73 great depression era (1930s), 74
- Hamburg, 68–9, 76
 Harvey's 'secondary circuits of capital' theory, 140
 Henderson's model, of agglomeration economies, 9–10 hexagonal market areas, 8
 high-order cities, 9, 30
 history, 67–74
 'home bias' effect, 55
 Hong Kong, 79–80
 Hope & Co, 68
 HSBC, 78
- impact of technology on financial services, 48–50, 117, 188 indicators and attributes, 34
 Industrial Bank of Japan, 77 inflation and oil prices, 66
 information technology and globalisation, 47–50, 81–3, 117, 188
- changing office space requirements, 110 control and maintenance of linkages, 51–2 decision-making process, 50 and face-to-face communications, 50–52 impact of technology, 48–50 intensity of communication, 52 portfolios of sites, 51 innovations in commercial real estate markets, 269 insurance companies, 71–2 integrated property–finance market relationships, 270–77 interbank non-domestic claims in developing and transitional economies, 55 internal geography, 5
 international arbitrage, 197
 International asset markets, 214 international debt issuance figures by country, 38–9
 International Financial Index (IFI), 37 international financial services, 32 international real estate investments, 165–70
 Investment Property Databank (IPD), 143
 Islamic finance, 83
- Jacobian economies, 10, 12
 Japanese banking system, 77
 Japanese investment banks, 77
 JP Morgan, 73, 75
 JS Morgan, 72–3
- $K = 3$  structure, 8
 KDDI, 46
keiretsu networks, 29
 Kleinwort, 72
 knowledge base and infrastructure, 58
- Lebanon, 80
 lending role, in the property cycle, 164–5 liberalisation policies and financial market, 66–7 locational fixity, 31
 location of business activity, 60–61
 London Docklands, 138–9
 London Interbank Offer Rate, 164

- London International Financial Futures Exchange, 45, 57
- London Stock Exchange, 68, 71, 196
- lower order cities, 9
- major law and accounting firms, 71
- Manufacturers Hannover, 139
- market place, 8
- Marshallian externalities, 9
- Marshall's ideas, of localisation economies, 53
- MasterCard Worldwide Index, 36–7
- mergers and acquisitions (M&A), 40–41
- Middle Eastern IFCs, 76–81
- Middle East financial centres, 36
- Mitsubishi, 77
- Mitsui, 77
- Morgan Harjes et Cie, 73
- Morgan Stanley index, 201
- multinational enterprise (MNE), 22, 28
- Muscovy Company, 28
- Myrdal and Latin American dependency theory, 27
- NASDAQ, 45
- national boundaries, 15
- national economies, 6
- National Stock Exchange of India, 45
- NEC, 46
- negotiated process, 138
- New International Financial System, 67, 83
- New York, 71, 73, 118–19
- niche centres, 36
- Nomura, 77
- Nyckeln, 213
- office developer, 130
- office space
- agency approach to development process, 142–4
  - Alonso-style bid-rent models of urban land-use, 95–6
  - approaches measuring development process, 136
  - building costs and property value, 129–35
  - Chicago, property development, 128
  - City of London, property development, 125–7
  - City of London, rental adjustment, 105–6, 109
  - cyclical behaviour of markets, 131
  - demand for, 109–17, 261–4
  - developers and development cycles, 125–9
  - development cascades of, 146–7
  - Dublin, rental adjustment, 106
  - econometric modelling research, 135–6
  - estimated development of the service sector, 92
  - European markets, rental adjustment, 107
  - floorspace per worker, City of London, 120–22
  - floorspace per worker, New York, 118–20
  - Helsinki, rental adjustment, 107
  - impact of changing business practices and, 109–17
  - impact of developer forecasts of future values, 131
  - impact of management changes, 110–11
  - and information technology, 110
  - innovative workplace policies, 113
  - institutional framework of development process, 136–42
  - and interlocking of markets, 135
  - international city central business districts (CBDs), 108–9
  - for international financial services, 114–17, 123–4
  - land rent, land-use and transport costs, 94–7
  - links between capital markets and the property cycle, 128
  - options and developer strategies, 144–8
  - quantitative models of the development market, 135–44
  - rental lags and phasing, 133–4
  - rent models and rental adjustments, 97–105
  - role of corporate real estate managers, 113
  - specialist, 92–3
  - supply and investment, 261–4
  - Tokyo, 127

- office space (Contd.)
  - UK banks and insurance company space usage, 121–2
  - UK office space usage, 112, 113
  - United States, rental adjustment, 107
  - United States office space usage, 112–13
  - volatile demand for space, 146–7
- offshore, 36
- Olympia and York (O&Y), 139–40
- OMX, 45
- OPEC, 66
- OTC derivatives trading, 37–8
- outsourcing, 43–4
- ownership, changing pattern of, 219, 251–5

- Pacific Coast Exchange, 45
- Paris, 68, 70, 72
- Paris Borse's liberalisation measures, 66, 72
- People's Republic of China (PRC), 78–9, 86
- period of crises, 74–6
- Plaza Accord (1985), 211
- Porter's Diamond Model of competitive advantage, 58–9
- portfolio allocations, in real estate markets
  - barriers and issues, 169–70
  - basic principles, 150–52
  - capital flows, 170–80
  - diversification, 160
  - domestic real estate, 167–8
  - equity returns, 163–4
  - global diversification, 165–9
  - illiquidity premium, 158
  - and international financial centres (IFC), 180–82
  - international investments, 165–70
  - investment in private real estate, 152–9
  - investment patterns and investor behaviour, 161–2
  - IPD Portfolio Analysis Service segments, 160
  - lending terms, 164–5
  - London and South of England bias in investment, 161
  - market volatility in US and UK, 163
  - non-domestic investors, 170
  - payment of dividends, 163
  - private real estate markets, 169
  - real estate vehicles and, 163–5
  - return-chasing strategies, 165–6
  - sector–region segments, 159–61
  - strategic advantages in London investment, 162
  - theoretical real estate allocations, 169
  - UK real estate investment, 161
- Price Waterhouse, 71
- Property company and Real Estate Investment Trust (REIT) returns, 189
- property development cycles, 132
- property investment vehicles, 266–8
  - benefits of transparency, 245
  - closed-ended funds, 223
  - diversifying characteristics, 228
  - 'fund-of-fund' structures, 226
  - fund styles, 223–4
  - German open-ended funds, 223, 226
  - impact of change in debt markets, 241
  - infinite or finite life funds, 223
  - leveraged funds, 225–6
  - listed real estate vehicles, 228–33
  - NAV basis, 220, 222
  - open-ended funds, 223
  - pension funds, 220
  - private equity, 220–28
  - property derivatives, 241–3
  - real estate debt markets, 233–5
  - real estate funds, 220–22
  - Real Estate Investment Trust (REIT) model, 220
  - securitised debt and the capital markets, 236–40
  - and transparency, 227
- purchasing power parity, of top cities, 17

- rank size rule, 6
- rating of competitiveness, 35
- real estate capital markets and capital availability, 171
  - capital flows between countries, 191–2
  - capitalisation rate or yield, 171

- capital values and cap rates in the Sydney office market, 179
- City of London office rents, 175–6
- depreciation, 177–80
- equilibrium state, 171
- global, 170
- individual real estate investment portfolios, 180
- long-run real growth rate, 175–6 and rental growth, 181
- required returns and yields, 171–6
- risk-free rate and risk premium, 172–3
- structural shifts in risk, 174
- theoretical decomposition of yields, 178
- transparency and institutional structure, 174–5
- UK cap rates, 179
- US cap rates, 179
- zero coupon bond yields, 172
- real estate investment and ownership
  - benefits and gains, 292–4
  - changing pattern of ownership, 219, 251–5, 291
  - foreign direct investment, 217
  - global, 217, 246–51
  - innovations in property investment vehicles see property investment vehicles
  - traditional model of investment ownership, 218
  - US real estate investment trust model, 218
- Real Estate Investment Trust (REIT)
  - returns, 189
- redevelopment, 118
- regional differences, 297–8
- Regulation Q, 65–6, 76
- relationships between firms in IFCs, 54
- relationships between rent and financial market performance, 277–81
- rental adjustment models for individual cities, 298–300
- rental relationship overtime, 282–7
- retail and wholesale transaction activity, 114–16
- risk of cable disruption, 46, 51–2
- role of city governments, 59–60
- role of government, 58
- Rothschild, 68, 72
- Schröders, 68–9, 72
- SEA-ME-WE-3/4 cables, 46
- settlement hierarchy, emergence of, 8
- Shanghai Share Brokers Association, 78
- signature architect office construction, 141
- significance of land and property markets, 61–4
- Slovenian Stock Exchange, 45
- slump, 132
- South Sea Bubble, 201
- spatial behaviour of firms, 53–4
- spatial model, of urban system, 7–9
- specialised city, 10–12
- ST Telemedia, 46
- subordinate cities, 12
- Sumitomo, 77
- Swedish banking crisis, 212–13
- Swedish real estate, 212
- Swiss Stock Exchanges, 45
- Teleglobe, 46
- telematics, 50–52, 81–2
- Telstar, 83
- Tobin's Q, 131
- Tokyo, 76–7
- Toronto Stock Exchange, 45
- Transatlantic radio communication, 83
- transnational corporations (TNCs), 19, 28, 32
- transoceanic fibre-optic cables, establishment of, 46
- Treaty Ports, 77
- Tyco, 46
- UK real estate investment, 161
- United States, 73
- urban agglomerations
  - PricewaterhouseCoopers estimates, 17
  - UN estimates, 16–17
- urbanised nation, 5
- urban land-use conflicts, 138
- urban population, 16
- urban redevelopment, 22

- urban redevelopment, in New York and London, 138–9
- US cities, 12–14
- US financial activity employment statistics, 118–19
- US urban hierarchy, 13
- value to replacement cost ratio, 131
- Vienna, 69
- VSNL, 46
- Wall Street Crash (1929), 75
- Wójcik's index, 37
- world cities see global cities
- World Federation of Stock Exchange (WFSE) data for market capitalisation, 39–40
- World Financial Center, 139
- World Wars, 74, 76
- Xetra trading platform, 56
- Zipf's law, 6
- Zurich, 69, 76

<http://www.pbookshop.com>