

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
About the Author	xiii
Introduction	1
Chapter 1
Diversity Is Being Invited to the Party; Inclusion Is Being Asked to Dance.	5
Why Black and White?	6
Diversity vs. Inclusion	8
Diversity Is Being Invited to the Party; Inclusion Is Being Asked to Dance	13
Chapter 2
I Think I'm a Pretty Good Dance Partner: Is This Book for Me?	17
We Are All on a Journey—What Stage of the Journey Are You In?	18
“Aware and Ready to Dance” Stage	19
“Cool Moves but Still in Need of School” Stage	20
“Oh, Was that Your Foot?” Stage	20
“I’m Not Dancing” Stage	22
Chapter 3
I Know the Cha Cha; Isn’t that Like the Charleston? Aren’t We All the Same?	23
Being in the Minority Is a Noticeable Difference	24
But Aren’t We All the Same?	25
What We as Human Beings Have in Common	26
Why Being Color-Blind Can’t Get Us to Inclusion	27
Inclusion Is Not Only the Right Thing to Do; It’s the Rich Thing to Do	28
Deepen Your Experiences across Race	30
Explore and Share Your Cultural Diversity	32

Chapter 4

With the Right Music, You Can Get Anyone on the Dance Floor: What Messages Are You Sending About Who's Included?	37
Inclusion Is Not About Intelligence	38
Processes that Will Help You Communicate and Demonstrate Inclusion	39
Small and Simple but Important Dance Steps You Can Take to Create Inclusion in Your Environment	40
Watch Out for Stereotype Threat and Learn How to Counter It	43

Chapter 5

So You Were a Little Offbeat; It Isn't the End of the Dance: How to Recover When You've Stepped on Your Dance Partner's Toes	47
Do the S-A-M-E Dance	48
S = STOP: Stop Expecting and Pretending to Know	49
A = APOLOGIZE: Don't Hide behind Your Intent	50
M = MISTAKES: It's Okay to Make Mistakes	51
Mistakes Have an Impact	52
Micro-Inequities	53
E = ENGAGE: Start the Dance of Engagement	54

Chapter 6

What's Everybody Staring At? Nobody's Perfect When They First Learn to Dance: The BASICS of Cultural Competence.	57
Follow the BASICS	58
B = Breathe: Suspend All Judgments	58
A = Assumptions: Question Your Assumptions	59
Exercise: How Not to Lead with Your Assumptions	61
S = Self-Awareness: Stay Self-Aware about What Are You Bringing to the Interpretation of the Dynamic.	61
Staying Self-Aware: "Whiteness"	62
Staying Self-Aware: What Statements and Questions Not to Use with Your Black Dance Partner	64
I = Information: Get Information before You Decide What's Going On.	66
Remember Not All Black People Are the Same.	67
Learn about the Experiences and Triumphs of Black People	67
C = Culture: All Cultures are Equally Valid.	68
Pop Culture	69
TV and Movies.	70
History, Literature, Art, and Music	70

Education 70
 Religion 71
S = Step Forward 71

Chapter 7

Are You Sure He’s Our Waiter? I Think He’s the Band Leader:
 How Is Your Lens Shaping What You See? 75
 Start to Explore Your Diversity Lens 76
 Go Looking for the Gorilla 79
 One Person’s Mugger Is Someone Else’s Brother. 81
 Get on the Bus: Look for Opportunities to Expand Your Lens about Black People, Their Experiences and Culture 82
 Watch Out for How Your Lens Interprets
 Expressions of Black Culture 83
 Individualism and Collectivism. 85

Chapter 8

He’s Black. What Do You Mean He Can’t Dance? Check for Your Biases When Things Get Bumpy 89
 Our Problem Is Implicit 90
 Get Familiar with Your Implicit Biases. 91
Unintentional Biases: Katrina Survivors 91
Take the Implicit Association Test 92
 Use Your Explicit Beliefs and Values to Correct Your Implicit Biases. 93
 Steps You Can Take to Check Your Automatic Responses 94
 Change Your Brain’s Diet 96

Chapter 9

Dancing with Peggy McIntosh: Breaking the Thirteen Deadly Habits of Workplace Oppression 99

Chapter 10

White People Have Always Been Center Stage: Understanding
 White Privilege and Other Forms of Unearned Privilege 109
 Get a Working Understanding of White Privilege 110
 Make Your Own List of How You
 Experience White Privilege 111
 Do the Line Dance of Opportunity 112
 Privilege Isn’t Just a White Thing. 114
 Realize How Group Identities Interrelate
 and Compound Each Other 118

Chapter 11

Five Old Dance Moves that White People Do: Updating Your Dance Moves to Support the Success of Black People at Work	121
Stories that People of Color Tell	122
Five Old Dance Moves that You Don't Want to Do	125
Old Dance Move No. 1: The One-Mistake Rule	125
Old Dance Move No. 2: Sloppy Sentimentalism	126
Old Dance Move No. 3: Guilt by Association	128
Old Dance Move No. 4: The Prince Syndrome	130
Old Dance Move No. 5: In-Group Favoritism	132
One Big Move: Decide to Be Responsible for the Success of a Black Person	135

Chapter 12

The Warm Up Is Over, Now for the Big Dance Move: Biasproofing Your Organization's Systems	139
Biasproof Your Organization's Systems and Practices—You Are Not "Doing Something Special"; You Are Doing Something Equitable	140
Case Study: Law Firm A	142
Biasproofing System—Work Allocation	145
General Solutions	153
Race and Gender—Conscious Solutions	153

Chapter 13

Sometimes Cutting in Is the Right Move: Using Your Privilege to Interrupt Bias	155
What Interrupting Bias Means	157
Interrupting Is about Engaging	157
Interrupting Bias Is Not about Changing People	158
Reasons Why Your Privilege Helps Interrupt Bias against Target Group Members	159
Techniques You Can Use to Interrupt Bias	160
Practice, Practice, Practice	162
The Cost of Silence	163
Interrupting Later Can Work Too	166
More on Practice	167
Conclusion	171
Appendix A: A Resource Guide for Dance Partners	177
Appendix B: Lifetime Benefits of Being a Working Class White Person in the Early 21st Century	185
Index	191