

Contents

Preface	xv
Acknowledgments	xix
Foreword: The Missing Constitution	xxiii
Oliver A. Houck
1 Introduction: The Intersection of Constitutional and Environmental Law	1
James R. May
Sources of and Limits to Federal Environmental Law	3
Congressional Authority	3
Limits on Federal Authority	9
Sources of and Limits to State Environmental Law	13
Sources of State Authority	13
Limits to State Authority	14
Judicial Review	18
Standing	18
Political Question Doctrine	19
Individual Rights	19
Takings	20
Due Process	22
Rights to a Quality Environment	23
Displacement of Federal Common Law	25
Conclusion	27

Part One

Federal and State Authority

- 2 *The Commerce Clause: Foundation for U.S. Environmental Law 37
 Bruce Myers and Jay Austin
- The Basics of Commerce Clause Doctrine 40
 - A Powerful Source of Authority for Environmental Regulation 40
 - The Three Categories of Interstate Commerce Regulation 41
 - The Commerce Clause and Environmental Protection 43
 - Surface Mining: A Landmark Win for National Environmental Protection 44
 - Clean Water: The Supreme Court Questions the Commerce Clause's Reach 50
 - Endangered Species: Sporting a Bull's-Eye after Lopez and Morrison 54
 - Other Areas of Environmental Protection 57
 - The Road Ahead: Raich and the Continued Viability of the Commerce Clause for Environmental Protection 59
 - Coming Full Circle: From Wheat to Weed 59
 - Counting Votes for Environmental Protection—and Looking Beyond the Commerce Clause 61
 - Conclusion 63
 - Case Study: Overcoming Fishy Constitutional Arguments to Save the Alabama Sturgeon 64
- 3 *The Nondelegation Doctrine 73
 Patricia Ross McCubbin and George B. Wyeth
- Basics of the Nondelegation Doctrine 74
 - Principles 74
 - History of the Doctrine 75
 - Modern Challenges to Environmental or Health and Safety Laws:
 - Benzene* and American Trucking 76
 - Benzene* and Its Progeny 77
 - American Trucking* 78
 - Other Nondelegation Challenges in Environmental and Federal Lands Cases 81
 - The Nondelegation Doctrine Today: A Practitioner's Guide 83
 - Conclusion 84
 - Case Study: Using the Nondelegation Doctrine as a Defense to Enforcement 85

4	Executive Power, the Constitution, and the Environment: The Take Care Clause and the Unitary Executive	91
	Robert L. Glicksman
	The Take Care Clause as a Restriction on Standing to Sue	94
	Judicial Review, Constraints on Agency Discretion, and the Separation of Powers	94
	The Role of the Take Care Clause in Standing Law	95
	The Potential Impact of Article II on Executive Power and Environmental Law	96
	The Environmental Implications of the Unitary Executive	98
	The Unitary Executive Theory	98
	Independent Agencies and Environmental Law	98
	The Unitary Executive Theory and Presidential Control over Agency Discretion	105
	Conclusion	106
	Case Study: Protecting Endangered Species Abroad or Infringing on Presidential Control over Compliance with the Law?	107
5	Environmental Federalism	117
	Jim Wedeking
	Cooperative Federalism in Environmental Law	119
	Carrots, Sticks, and Threats	120
	Oversight of Delegated State Agencies	123
	Enforcement under Cooperative Federalism: Overfiling	124
	Federalism and the Tenth Amendment in Environmental Law	125
	The Reservation Clause	126
	The Limits of Federal Jurisdiction	127
	The Anticommandeering Doctrine	129
	Federalism and the Eleventh Amendment in Environmental Law	132
	Suits against States as Regulators	133
	Suits against States as Regulated or Liable Entities	135
	Conclusion	136
	Case Study: Distinguishing Oversight from Administration under Cooperative Federalism	137
6	The Dormant Commerce Clause and the Environment	149
	Sam Kalen
	Introduction to the Dormant Commerce Clause	151
	Discriminatory Laws and Strict Scrutiny	153

Nondiscriminatory Laws and Pike Balancing	154
Market Participants	154
Dormant Commerce Clause in Environmental Law	155
Solid Waste and Flow Control	155
Natural Resources	158
Energy Resources	159
Congressional Action and the Dormant Commerce Clause	160
Standing in Dormant Commerce Clause Cases	161
Conclusion	161
Case Study: Addressing Greenhouse Gas Emissions at the Local Level	162
7 Federal Preemption of State and Local Environmental Laws	171
Norman A. Dupont
Preemption: The “Tripartite” Test and Doctrinal Confusion	172
The Presumption against Preemption: “A Sometimes Thing”	173
Preemption in Environmental Law	174
Preemption Claims Asserted by Industry and Trade Associations	175
Preemption Claims Brought by Single Firms	176
Preemption Claims Brought by Industry Groups and Trade Associations	176
Industry Preemption Claims Based on Favorable Agency Statements Asserting Preemption	178
Preemption Based on a Judicial Perception of a NIMBY State or Local Law	179
Preemption of State Law Based on a Federal Standard for Labeling or Warning about Environmental Safety	182
How to Handle a Federal Preemption Claim in Environmental Law	185
Conclusion	186
Case Study: Addressing Greenhouse Gas Emissions and Federal Preemption	186
Part Two
Judicial Review
8 Standing and Environmental Law	195
Robin Kundis Craig
When Does Standing Become a Problem in Environmental Litigation?	196
Proving Standing	196
The Basic Federal Court Requirements for Standing	197
The Elimination of Pure Public Interest Standing and the Emphasis on Individualized Injury	197

The Three-Part Federal Standing Test: Lujan v. Defenders of Wildlife	198
Standing Requirements for Organizations	199
The Injury Requirement	200
The Basic Injury-in-Fact Standard	200
The Role of Increased Risk and Probabilistic Injury	202
The Persistent Ambiguity of Procedural Injury	206
Informational Injury	207
The Causation Requirement	207
The Redressability Requirement	208
Redressability and Citizen Suit Civil Penalties	208
Redressing Climate Change	210
Standing for States: Massachusetts v. EPA	210
Conclusion	211
Case Study: Challenging an Oil Company's Emissions	212

9 The Political Question Doctrine 217

James R. May
Background of the Political Question Doctrine	218
Political Question Doctrine in Environmental Law	222
Textual Commitment in Environmental Law	224
Prudential Commitment in Environmental Law	227
Conclusion	231
Case Study: Courting Disaster	232

Part Three

Individual Rights

10 The Takings Clause and Environmental Law 245

Karl S. Coplan
Condemnation Proceedings, Direct and Inverse	247
Scope of Public Use Authority for Direct Condemnation	247
Inverse Condemnation Proceedings for Physical Occupation or Interference	248
Essential Elements of Just Compensation	249
The Framework for Regulatory Takings Analysis	249
Categorical Takings	250
Partial Diminution in Value: The Penn Central Multifactor Test	252
Exactions: Nollan and Dolan	253
Personal Property Takings	254
Takings Analysis in Environmental Law Contexts	255
Wetlands, Coastal Development, and Floodplain Regulation	255
Endangered Species Protections	259

Mining Law	260
Contaminated Site Cleanups	262
The Procedure of Regulatory Takings Law	264
Takings Claims against the Federal Government	264
Takings Claims against State Subdivisions	265
Takings Claims against States and State Agencies	265
Ripeness and Exhaustion Requirements	265
Need to Combine Federal and State Takings Claims in One Action	266
Takings Remedies	266
Conclusion	267
Case Study: Developing Sugarloaf Shores: A Takings Parable	268
11	Due Process Challenges
	277
Robin Kundis Craig
The Applicability of the Due Process Clauses: Liberty and Property	278
Liberty Interests	278
Property Interests	279
Procedural Due Process	280
Procedural Due Process in General	280
Procedural Due Process Challenges to Environmental and Natural Resources Litigation	283
Procedural Due Process Challenges to the Implementation of Environmental and Natural Resources Statutes	285
The Special Due Process Problem of Administrative Compliance Orders	288
Substantive Due Process	289
Background	289
Challenges to the Burdening of Fundamental Rights: Substantive Due Process and Regulatory Takings Claims	290
Substantive Due Process Challenges to the Rationality of Environmental and Natural Resources Statutes	291
Substantive Due Process, Environmental Penalties, and Punitive Damages in Common Law Claims	292
Conclusion	294
Case Study: Hearing Demands in Connection with Unilateral Administrative Orders Issued under CERCLA	295
Part Four
Emerging Constitutional Issues in Environmental Law
12	Environmental Rights in State Constitutions
	305
James R. May and William Romanowicz
Aspects of Environmental Rights Provisions	307
Nature of the Right: Clean or Healthful?	308
Scope of the Right: Human or Natural Environment?	308

Whether the Right Is Self-Executing	309
Who May Vindicate Environmental Rights?	310
Who May Be Held Accountable, and for What?	311
Standard of Review for the Right: Deference or Strict Scrutiny?	311
Conclusion	313
Case Study: Damming Environmental Rights in Marion	313
Appendix: Selected Constitutional Environmental Provisions	315
13 Constitutional Environmental Rights Worldwide	329
James R. May and Erin Daly
How Environmental Rights Are Protected in Constitutions	331
Judicial Receptivity to Constitutionally Embedded Environmental Rights	333
Independent Environmental Rights	333
Dependent Environmental Rights	334
Derivative Environmental Rights	335
Dormant Environmental Rights	336
Adjudicating Fundamental Environmental Rights	336
Conceptual Conundrums	337
Pragmatic Considerations	339
Remedial Challenges	343
Pathways to Successful Constitutional Environmental Litigation	345
Constitutional Culture	346
Enabling Constitutional Litigation	346
Tolerance of Judicial Reform	347
Conclusion	348
Case Study: Protecting Manila Bay—To Show to the World, and to All and Sunary	348
14 Using Environmental Property Rights to Shape Constitutional Law	359
Daniel A. Farber
The EPR Menagerie	362
EPRs and Standing	366
EPRs and Environmental Takings Issues	369
EPRs and the Limits of Federal Regulatory Power	371
Conclusion	372
Case Study: Protecting the New Jersey Pine Barrens	372
15 Constitutional Influences on Climate Litigation	381
Lee A. DeHihns III
Constitutional Principles Influencing Common Law Causes of Action for Climate Change	382
Implied Preemption	382

The Political Question Doctrine	383
Standing	387
Constitutional Influences on the Role of the System in Addressing Climate Change	390
Conclusion	392
Case Study: Speaking of Preemption	392
About the Editor	399
About the Contributors	401
Table of Cases	407
Index	427

<http://www.pbookshop.com>