

CONTENTS

	Foreword	xi
	Marvin Lewis
	Prologue: Speed and Execution Are the Keys to Success	1
1	The Two-Minute Drill Mind-Set: Eight Winning Principles Business Leaders Can Learn from the Great Game of Football	15
	Football Example: UT vs. Pitt, 2003
	Business Example: Problems with Six Sigma
2	You Are the Quarterback: Leading Your Organization to Improve	39
	Football Example: Broncos vs. Browns, 1987
	Business Example: Poor leadership at a distribution center
3	Know the Score and Define Winning: How Is Your Organization Really Performing, and What Do You Really Want to Achieve?	67
	Football Example: USC vs. Notre Dame, 2005
	Business Example: Improving new product delivery time and quality
4	Create Your Scouting Report and Game-Day Match-Ups: Identify Potential Opponents to Change	91
	Football Example: Dolphins vs. Jets, 1994
	Business Example: Improving a company's price-quoting system

5	Create an Extreme Focus and a Sense of Urgency: A Plan for Implementing Rapid Change	113
	Football Example: Patriots vs. Panthers, 2004 Super Bowl
	Business Example: Natural gas shortage crisis
6	Develop Your Winning Two-Minute Drill Package: Get the Right Players on the Field and Take Ownership of the Plan	135
	Football Example: 49ers vs. Bengals, 1989 Super Bowl
	Business Example: TMS Engineering
7	Snap the Ball and Execute the Right Plays: Execution Is Critical to Improvement	161
	Football Example: Titans vs. Rams, 2000 Super Bowl
	Business Example: CTSK Industries' cost-cutting measures
8	Close Out the Game, Then Celebrate: Don't Reward "Victory" Until You See Truly Lasting Success	191
	Football Example: Kentucky vs. LSU, 2002
	Business Example: Kingswood Valley Healthcare
9	Conduct a Postgame Press Conference and Analysis: Review Your Successes So That You and Others Can Do Even Better in the Future	215
	Football Example: Indianapolis Colt postgame press conference (after playing New York Jets), 2006
	Business Example: Tri-X Corporation
	Epilogue: Winning Is Better Than Losing	239
	Endnotes	251
	Acknowledgments	255
	About the Authors	257
	Index	261