

Index

Page references followed by fig indicate an illustrated figure; followed by t indicate a table.

A

Acquisitions. See Cross-border acquisitions

Agilent, 229

Agility: contradictions of patience and, 213; patterns of leadership guidance for, 230*t*–231*t*; unbalancing patience and, 215–216

Alcan, 154

Alcatel (France), 164

Alibaba Group, 13

Amano, Tomofumi, 61, 87, 269, 272, 276, 277, 281, 283

AMD, 258

Apple Inc.: challenges to their IP in China, 235–237; fake retail stores in China, 236

Arcelor, 152

Argentina, 34*t*

ASEAN (Association of Southeast Nations): examining of Honda's motorcycle business among countries of, 100–108, 109, 111–112, 269–270, 277–278, 281, 283; low-priced products with reduced excess quality/performance by, 100–105; managing high-volume production in emerging markets by, 108–111; market evolution following low-priced products by, 111–112; resource reallocation and capability building for market penetration by, 105–108; two new large segments of motorcycle market in, 112

Asian countries: development of resource bases by, 265–266; emerging market opportunities of, 266; five themes of competitive positioning in, 266–284

Asian emerging markets: examining competitive positioning in, 266–267; fostering a global mind-set strategy for, 267, 282–284; globalizing through alliances and acquisitions for, 267, 278–282; reconceptualizing strategy for, 266, 267–271; reinventing the global organization strategy for, 267, 276–278; rethinking innovation strategy for, 267, 271–276

Asian firms: increasing rates of cross-border acquisitions by, 171–173; Indonesia, 4*t*, 106, 107*fig*; Thailand motorcycle market, 106, 107*fig*. See also Chinese and Indian (C&I) firms

Australia, 4*t*

Auto industry: comparing General Motors, Ford Motor, and Toyota's production, 117; comparing the big four and Hyundai, 41–44; General Motors (GM), 41–44, 117, 257, 282–283; Hyundai, 41–44, 268, 271, 276, 283; Indian, 40–44, 47, 268; Nissan, 18, 252. See also Motorcycle market; Toyota

Automobile Industry Policy announcement (1994), 119

Automotive original equipment manufacturer (OEM), 274

B

B2B (business-to-business) trade:
 challenging the MNC business model, 35–36; comparing BRICs and development world versus EM2EM, 37*fig*–38; drivers of global trade growth (2000–2010), 38*fig*;
 intra-Asian, 35–36

Bagga, Charan, 29, 267, 271, 282

Beijing Daily (newspaper), 248

Beijing-Matsushita Color CRT, 68

Belgium, 4*t*

Bern Convention for the Protection of Literary and Artistic Works, 248

Bharat Forge Limited (BFL), 190–192, 273–274, 283

Bharti Airtel (BA): acquisition of Zain by, 169, 193, 226; business model of, 15, 192–193; global mind-set of, 283; IBM's IT services driving business of, 225–227, 275; rethinking innovation by, 273

Bhattacharya, Debu, 153

Birla, Kumar Mangalam, 153

BMW, 268

Boeing, 5

BOP (bottom of pyramid) consumers, 88, 205

BPO (business process outsourcing).
See Outsourcing

Branding: broad-based positions for, 50–51; mass media suited to reach EM-ME consumers, 51; selling users and nonusers on product benefits, 51–52

Brazil: GDP with PPP adjusted (2000–2010), 32*fig*; largest corporations' headquarters in, 3; percentage growth of key consumption indicators (2000–2009) with PPP adjusted, 33*t*; population classification by economic segments, 34*t*; ranking economy and GDP (2010) of, 4*t*

BRIC (Brazil, Russia, India, China) countries: corporations now headquartered in, 3; GDP with PPP adjusted (2000–2010), 32*fig*; growing economic importance of, 88; as home to half the world's population, 51; increasing domestic consumption in, 32–35; percentage growth of key consumption indicators (2000–2009) with PPP adjusted, 33*t*. See also China; India; Russia

British Steel (later Corus Steel), 150

Budweiser, 53

Business models: changes in Indian car market, 40–44; EM2EM trade challenging MNC, 35–40; outlines of new emerging market, 44–57

C

Cadbury, 52

Callaway, 253

Canada, 4*t*

Capability building strategy, 105–108

Carlsberg, 53

Carrefour, 54

CEMEX (Mexico): Australian Rinker Group acquired by, 141–142; Brazilian Vale acquired by, 142; British RMC Group acquired by, 141; outcomes of acquisitions by, 188; shareholder value increased by acquisitions by, 164

Chandrasekhar, S., 162

Chandru, Vijay, 228

Chang'an-Suzuki Auto Co. (China), 127

Changhong, 54

Chatterjee, Koushik, 158, 159

Chery Automobile Company, 257

Chidambaram, Finance Minister, 161

Chile, 34*t*

China: Coca-Cola's teas sold in, 52; diaper market in the, 47–48; emergence as top trading country, 35, 36*fig*; fake Apple retail stores in, 236; GDP with PPP adjusted (2000–2010), 32*fig*; global warming impact by, 14; “going abroad” (zou chuqu) strategy of, 184; guanxi (form of reciprocity) norm in, 250; high turnover rates of talent in, 242; joint ventures between global auto makers and domestic firms in, 115–138; largest corporations' headquarters in, 3; liberalization of FDI (foreign direct investment) in, 117, 184,

- 239–243; Mao Zedong era (1949–1976) legacy in, 240–241; motorcycle exports to Vietnam from, 101–104; multinational companies manufacturing exports from, 30; P&G hair care market segment in, 46; P&G's Golden Sleep Campaign (2007) launched in, 48; Panasonic China's local adaptation and global integration in, 61–62; percentage growth of key consumption indicators (2000–2009) with PPP adjusted, 33; population classification by economic segments, 34; protecting intellectual property in, 235–264, 275–276; ranking economy and GDP (2010) of, 4; regulatory changes driving cross-border acquisitions, 184; sales performance of TAG's Xiali model versus others in, 120*fig*; Shanghai Jiao Tong University of, 75, 76; SOEs (state-owned enterprises) of, 121; South African Breweries (SAB) PPP-based pricing approach in, 53; Toyota-TAG joint venture strategy toward, 117–138; World Trade Organization membership of, 117, 136, 237, 240. See also BRIC (Brazil, Russia, India, China) countries
- China FAW Group Corporation, 135–136
- China Lifestyle Research Center, 62, 269, 272
- Chinese Academy of Sciences, 194
- Chinese and Indian (C&I) firms: cross-border acquisitions by country, 174; cross-border acquisitions by industry, 175; global industries in which Indian acquisitions have occurred in tandem, 179–180; global players in industries where acquisitions have occurred, 178; globalization thesis of acquisition by, 176–177, 181–182; implications of growing cross-border acquisitions by, 185–189; motivations and thesis of cross-border acquisitions by, 144–145, 173, 176–185, 189. See also Asian firms; Emerging economy companies; Indian firms
- Chinese auto industry: Beijing Jeep-Chrysler, 117; Chang'an-Suzuki Auto Co., 127; development of, 116–117; Dongfeng-Citroen Motor Company, 117; examining joint ventures (JV) between global auto makers and, 115–116; fastest-growing market of, 196–197; First Automotive Works (FAW)-VW joint venture, 117; Guangzhou Honda, 136; Guangzhou Peugeot, 117; sales performance of TAG's Xiali model versus others in, 120*fig*; Shanghai-VW, 117, 122, 136; Tianjin Daihatsu, 117; Toyota-TAG's joint venture for entrance into, 117–138
- Chinese IP leaks: Cisco's strategy to control, 260–261; Ford employee copying trade secret documents, 257–258; by former GM employee to Chery Automobile Company, 257; IBM executive e-mailing trade secrets to HP, 258; Intel employee taking IP to AMD, 258
- Chinese IP protection challenge: examining the widespread problem of, 235–237, 275–276; factors which increase the, 239–243; field research on problem of, 237–239; how increased FDI (foreign direct investment) has increased the, 239–243; landmark Lego copyright infringement case (2003), 248–249; solutions for, 244–262
- Chinese IP protection recommendations: activities and practices for, 245*fig*; corporate culture infused with controls discipline, 255–257; disaggregation strategy, 253–254; embracing dynamism, 254–255; focused corporate social responsibility (CSR), 261–262; having IP strategy on the offensive, 249–250; having strategic clarity, 245–246; interest alignment strategy, 250–252; knowledge of legal fundamentals, 247–249; practicing business intelligence, 246–247; strategic human resource management and talent management, 257–261
- Chinese State International Property Organization, 240

- Christensen, C., 90–91, 97, 99
- Cisco: decentralizing into global hubs, 19, 26; strong one-company culture of, 22; TelePresence of, 21
- CNPC (China), 141
- Coca-Cola: catering to consumptions habits in China and Russia, 52; counterfeiters of iconic bottle of, 242; robust strategy staying within beverage domain of, 7; value chain leverage through acquisition of Thums Up brand, 182
- Coevolution: cultivating a mind-set for, 83–85, 277; establishing strategic outposts for, 81–82; jump-starting through adaptation-intended acquisition, 82–83; moving from spontaneous to deliberate, 79–80; Panasonic China adoption of, 68–79
- COKO Toy Company, 248–249
- Collaborative innovation: disaggregation of value chains driving, 15–16, 278; emergence of intellectual property driving, 17; outsourcing driving, 15–16. See also Global innovation; Innovation
- Communication strategy: broad messaging appealing to large segments, 50–51; mass media suited to reach EM-MC consumers, 51; for selling users and nonusers on product benefits, 51–52
- Competitive advantage: global integration's competitive value for, 63; strategies in emerging Asia for, 265–284
- Competitive positioning strategies: fostering a global mind-set for, 267, 282–284; globalizing through alliances and acquisitions for, 267, 278–282; reconceptualizing strategy for, 266, 267–271; reinventing the global organization for, 267, 276–278; rethinking innovation strategy for, 267, 271–276
- Consumers: BOP (bottom of pyramid), 88, 205; EM-ME (emerging market–middle class), 35, 44, 46–48, 51, 53; MOP (middle of the pyramid), 88
- Controls discipline norm, 255–257
- Cooperation value, 63
- Copyright. See Intellectual property (IP)
- Corporate culture: IP through controls discipline tendency in, 255–257; moving toward strong one-company, 21–23
- Corporate headquarters: network of global hubs instead of, 17–20; “virtualization of the corporation” replacing, 18
- Corporate leadership guidance: for agility and patience, 230t–231t; agility and patience contradictions in, 213; emerging economies’ innovative patterns and, 230t–231t; leadership psychology factor of, 214–215; unbalancing agility and patience, 215–216
- Corporate mind-set, 24–27
- Corporate social responsibility (CSR), 261–262
- Corus Steel: EBITDA earnings of, 143; Tata Steel’s acquisition of, 141, 143, 150–153. See also Tata Steel–Corus Steel case study
- Court, D., 34
- Cross-border acquisitions: announcements on, 169–170; by Asian countries (excluding Japan), 174t; competitive advantage through, 278–282; competitive threat posed by emerging market firms through, 198–199; financing, 145, 148–149; by firms from Asian countries, 174t–175t; formula for successful, 164–166; global capital markets thesis on, 185; global industries in which Indian acquisitions have occurred in tandem, 179t–180t; global players in industries engaging in, 178t; globalization thesis of, 176, 181–182; implications of emerging economy firms engagement in, 185–189; increasing number of emerging economy firms making, 170–173; increasing rates of, 141–142; by Indian firms (2000–2009), 145, 146t–147t; by industry, 175t; motivations and thesis of, 144–145, 173, 176–185, 189; Oriental approach versus Western approach to, 158, 159; poor outcomes for Indian firms, 162–164,

- 279; regional origins of, 171–173; regulatory changes thesis on, 183–184; stock market returns impacted by announcement of, 148t; value created through synergy of, 144–145, 146t, 182–183. See also Less developed countries (LDCs)
- Cross-border acquisitions case studies: on agency problems, 160–162; Bharat Forge Limited (BFL) acquiring six mid-sized firms, 190–192; Bharti Airtel (BA) practice of, 192–193, 226; on easy capital issue, 162–164; Geely and Volvo, 169, 196–198; Hindalco and Novelis, 153–155, 187, 188; Lenovo and IBM's personal computer business, 141, 169, 194–195; Tata Motors and Jaguar Land Rover, 155–157, 187, 188; Tata Steel and Corus, 150–153; on too little integration problem, 158–160. See also Indian firms
- CSN (Brazil), 150
- Customization: heterogeneity premise of, 10; how globalization produces extreme, 9–11fig; how technology reduces the cost of, 10–11fig
- D
- Daiichi Sankyo, 167
- Daimler organizational transformations required of, 18
- Dawar, Niraj, 29, 267, 271, 282
- Deere & Co., 6–7
- Deng Xiaoping, 68
- Distribution strategy: channeling power by trading as a partner, 56–57; for managing highly fragmented retail trade, 54–56
- Domestic consumption: BRIC countries and dramatic increase of, 32–35; increasing in emerging markets, 31
- Dual-subscriber identity module (SIM) handsets, 208
- Dura-line, 253
- E
- Economic Times* (Indian newspaper), 142
- Economist* (magazine), 157, 171
- Eight O'Clock Coffee (U.S.), 183
- Elfrink, Wim, 18, 27
- Eli Lilly, 181
- EM-ME (emerging market–middle class) consumers: definition of, 35; functionality and aspirational attributes of, 47; innovator's dilemma and mismatch between Japanese products and needs of, 87–88; market segmentation of, 44, 46–48; mass media suited to reach, 51; PPP-based pricing approach to, 53
- EM2EM (emerging market to emerging market): B2B (business-to-business) trade in the, 35–38fig; as challenging the MNC business model, 35–40; comparing trade growth rates of BRICs and developed world versus the, 37fig–38; as expanding market of, 31; instructive lessons of the, 35–40
- Emerging economy companies: cross-border acquisitions by country, 174t; cross-border acquisitions by industry, 175t; implications for MNCs of developed countries, 198–199; implications of growing cross-border acquisitions by, 185–189; motivation and thesis on cross-border acquisitions by, 144–145, 173, 176–185, 189; value created through synergy of acquisition, 144–145, 146t, 182–183. See also Chinese and Indian (C&I) firms
- Emerging market dilemma, 91–92. See also Innovator's dilemma
- Emerging market strategy: allocating resources and developing local capability, 97–99; finding reasonable quality for emerging markets, 96–97; managing high-volume production, 108–111; repositioning of products in quality and price, 93–96fig, 283
- Emerging markets: BOP (bottom of pyramid) consumers of, 88, 205; comparing markets of developed countries and, 7; competing in Asian, 265–284; EM-ME (emerging market–middle class) consumers of, 35, 44, 46–48, 51, 53, 87–88; EM2EM (emerging market to

- emerging market) of, 31, 35–40; how the local adaptation–global integration tension is amplified in, 64–65; implications for marketing programs of MNCs in, 40–44; increasing rates of domestic consumption in, 31; Japanese firms tapping into, 88–93; limited targeted consumers of multinationals in, 30–31; middle of the pyramid in, 88–90; new business model for, 44–57; population classification by economic segments, 34t; robust strategies of, 6–7; strategic tool kit for success in, 45t–46t. See also Less developed countries (LDCs)
- Emerging markets business model: branding and communication strategy, 45t, 50–52; distribution strategy, 45t, 54–57; market segmentation strategy, 44, 45t, 46–48; pricing strategy, 46t, 52–54; product strategy, 45t, 48–50; strategic tool kit for success, 45t–46t
- Employees. See Talent factors
- EMSS (electronics manufacturing services) firms, 110–111
- Ericsson, 15
- Evans, Richard, 154
- “Excess quality” problem, 93–94
- F
- Facebook, 25
- Fiat, 268
- Ford Motor Company: comparing Hyundai and, 41–44; Ford employee copying trade secret documents, 257–258; manufacturing and production of, 117; selling two car brands to Tata Motors, 155–156
- Foreign direct investment (FDI): Chinese liberalization of, 117, 184; cross-border commerce source of, 170–171; impacting intellectual property theft in China, 239–243
- Fortune* magazine, 3
- France Telecom SA, 193
- Frugal innovation, 13–15
- G
- Geely-Volvo acquisition, 169, 196–198, 283
- General Electric (GE): decentralizing into global hubs, 26; establishing strategic coevolution LGT (local growth team) at, 81–82; strong one-company culture of, 22; working with global hospitals, 15
- General Motors (GM): comparing Hyundai and, 41–44; IP leak by former employee to Chery Automobile Company, 257; lost market share due to old mind-set, 282–283; manufacturing and production of, 117
- GeneSpring, 229
- Germany, 4t
- Ghossein, Mickael, 193
- Global economy: global enterprise characteristics determined by, 3–4; twenty-four largest economies (2010), 4t
- Global innovation: collaborative, 15–17; “frugal,” 13–15; next-generation global enterprise diagram on rethinking, 5fig; rethinking new approach to, 11–17; 360 degree, 12–13. See also Collaborative innovation; Innovation
- Global integration: comparing local adaptation to, 62–63; description of, 63–64; various methods for realizing competitive value of, 63
- Global integration–local adaptation tension: amplified in emerging markets, 64–65; coevolution perspective of handling the, 65–68; cultivating coevolution mind-set to solve, 83–85; description of the, 62–64; dynamics of the tension-embracing structure, 68fig; MNCs (multinational corporations) and challenge of, 61–62; Panasonic China’s coevolution approach to, 68–85
- Global mind-set, 282–284
- Global organization: from command and control to connect and coordinate, 20–21; moving toward a strong one-company culture, 21–23; network of

- global hubs, 17–20; next-generation global enterprise diagram on rethinking, 5*fig*; rethinking new approach to, 17–23, 267, 276–278
- Global strategy: atomization of the value chain, 8–9; emerging robust market strategies, 6–7; global platforms and customized solutions of, 9–11*fig*; next-generation global enterprise diagram on rethinking, 5*fig*; rethinking new approach to, 4–11; robust emerging market strategies, 6–7
- Global warming, 14
- Globalization: develop a global mind-set for, 282–284; predicting extreme customization due to, 9–11*fig*
- “Going abroad” (zou chuqu) strategy (China), 184
- Goldman Sachs, 9
- Google Talk, 21
- Gross domestic product (GDP): in BRIC countries (2000–2010) with PPP adjusted, 32*fig*; purchasing power parity (PPP) measured in terms of, 31–32
- Guangzhou Honda, 136
- Guanxi* (form of reciprocity), 250
- Gupta, Anil K., 3, 213, 265, 267, 270, 276, 278, 282
- ## H
- Haier (China), 170, 199
- Hariharan, Sam, 169, 270, 273, 279, 283
- Hatfield, Joe, 65
- HDD (hard disk drive) industry: allocating resources and developing local capability, 97–99; innovator’s dilemma experienced by the, 91
- Hewlett-Packard (HP), 258
- Hindalco Industries: background information of, 153; Novelis acquired by, 141, 153–155, 187, 188, 279; too little integration following acquisition by, 158–160
- Hitachi Maxell, 94
- Home Appliances Company. See Panasonic Home Appliances Company
- Honda: ASEAN motorcycle market strategies of, 100–108, 109, 111–112, 269–270, 277–278, 281, 283; comparing Hyundai and, 41–44; global mind-set of, 283
- Honda’s motorcycle business: division of labor for ASEAN development, 107*fig*; examining successful against low-cost competitors, 100–108, 109, 111–112, 277–278; low-priced products with reduced excess quality/performance strategy, 100–105; managing high-volume production, 109; resource reallocation and capability building for market penetration, 105–108; Super Club motorcycle, 101, 102; Vietnamese market share by, 101*fig*, 281
- Honeywell, 19
- Huawei Technologies, 13
- Human Genome Project (U.S.), 222
- Human resources (HR): Chinese IP protection through strategic, 257–261; cultivating a one-company culture role of, 23
- Hyundai: Atos (Santro) compact car of, 42; comparing the big four and, 41–44; entering the Indian auto market, 268, 276; global mind-set of, 283; strategic rethinking of innovation by, 271
- ## I
- IBM: business-to-business domain of, 15; decentralizing into global hubs, 19–20, 26; examples of innovations in India by, 225–227, 274–275, 278; executive caught e-mailing trade secrets to HP, 258; export from home strategy of, 8; innovations in India by, 225–227, 274–275, 278; IT services driving business of Bharti Airtel, 225–227, 275; Lenova’s acquirement of personal computer business of, 141, 169, 194–195; potential of innovation in India, 217–220; procurement operations in China, 19; strong one-company culture of, 22
- India: car market of, 40–41, 47; GDP with PPP adjusted (2000–2010), 32*fig*; global warming impact by, 14; IBM’s global delivery centers in, 19;

- IBM's innovation in, 225–227, 274–275, 278; IBM's potential for innovation in, 217–220; as IT (information technology) outsourcing destination, 203–204; Kellogg India, 48–49; largest corporations' headquarters in, 3; McDonald's in, 49; P&G hair care market segment in, 46; pattern for innovation in, 204–207; percentage growth of key consumption indicators (2000–2009) with PPP adjusted, 33t; ranking economy and GDP (2010) of, 4t; retail outlets in, 55; Sasken's potential for innovation in, 220–222; sociocultural character of, 205–206, 211–212; Unilever's distribution system used in, 56. See also BRIC (Brazil, Russia, India, China) countries
- Indian auto industry: changing landscape (2000–2010) of the, 43fig; competitive positioning in the, 268; growth of Hyundai market share of, 40–42, 44, 268, 276; Suzuki's Maruti Alto as best-selling car in, 47
- Indian business experience: business infrastructure factors underlying, 210–211; corporate leadership guidance contributing to, 212–213; leadership psychology contributing to, 214–215; market factors underlying, 207–209; pattern of innovation in, 204–207; potential of innovation in the, 216–217; sociocultural factors underlying, 205–206, 211–212; talent factors underlying, 209–210; unbalancing agility and patience, 215–216
- Indian firms: created value through international acquisitions by, 144–145, 146t; how easy capital is a weakness in acquisitions, 162–164, 279; increasing rates of cross-border acquisitions by, 171–173; stock market returns impacted by acquisition announcement, 148t; three unique traits leading to successful acquisitions, 162. See also Chinese and Indian (C&I) firms; Cross-border acquisitions case studies; Emerging economy companies
- Indian Institute of Science (IISc), 222, 224
- India's Global Powerhouses: How They Are Taking On the World*, 145
- Indonesia: motorcycle market of, 106, 107fig; ranking economy and GDP (2010) of, 4t
- Indonesian motorcycle market: Honda's division of labor in development of, 107fig; Honda's motorcycle design for the, 106
- Information technology (IT): cultivating a one-company culture role of, 23; India as outsourcing destination for, 203–204; Indian business infrastructure for, 210–211; Indian talent factors in, 209–210; Lenova Group's acquisition of IBM's personal computer business, 141, 169, 194–195. See also Technology
- Infosys, 19, 181
- Innovation: competitive positioning by rethinking, 271–276; examples of new and revitalized, 225–229; by IBM in India, 225–227, 274–275, 278; India and pattern for, 204–207; insights and recommendations for enterprise, 229, 232–233; patterns of leadership guidance in emerging economies, 230t–231t; Sasken's Inmarsat-linked satellite phone, 227–228; shifting perspective of, 203–204; Strand Lifesciences' AVADIS platform, 228–229; the Swach, 203; two examples of IBM's, 225–227. See also Collaborative innovation; Global innovation; Research & development (R&D)
- Innovation potential: IBM's, 217–220; Sasken's, 220–222, 274; Strand Lifesciences', 222–224, 274; unlocking Indian business, 216–217
- Innovator's dilemma: description of, 87; description of the, 90; HDD (hard disk drive) industry's experience with, 91; Japanese firms' responses to the, 87–88, 91–93; SIDM printers illustration of, 91–93. See also Emerging market dilemma The Innovator's Dilemma (Christensen), 90, 99
- Intel, 258

- Intellectual property (IP): Apple Inc.
and challenges to their, 235–237;
collaborative innovation driven by,
17. See also Research & development
(R&D)
- Intellectual property theft: examining widespread problem in China, 235– 237, 239–243, 275–276; field research on problem in China, 237–239;
landmark Lego copyright infringement case (2003), 248–249; solutions for problem in China with, 244–262
- Intellectual Ventures, 17
- Interest alignment strategy, 250–252
- Interlego AG, 248
- International acquisitions.
See Cross-border acquisitions
- International Monetary Fund, 9
- Italy, 4t
- J
- Jaguar Land Rover, 148, 155–157, 187,
188. See also Tata Motors-Jaguar
Land Rover case study
- Japan: Jishu Ken (self-improvement) activities held in, 130; Kanban system used in, 124, 125, 132; ranking economy and GDP (2010) of, 4t
- Japanese firms: allocating resources and developing local capability, 97–99;
downgrading products for emerging markets, 89–90, 283; growth process of, 88–89fig; HDD industry's allocating of resources and developing local capability, 98–99;
innovator's dilemma of, 87–88;
SIDM printers illustrating innovator's dilemma challenging,
91–93. See also Toyota
- Jayaraman, Balaji, 156
- Jishu Ken* (self-improvement) activities, 130
- Joint ventures (JV): global auto makers partnered with domestic firms though, 115–116; Toyota Group-
TAG, 119–138
- Jung, Edward, 17
- K
- Kanban* system, 124, 125, 132
- Kannapan, Srikanth, 203, 274, 278, 280–281
- Kant, Ravi, 156
- Karnani, Aneel, 141, 279
- Kellogg India: “nutritious breakfast” positioning by, 51; product localization by, 48–49
- Khanna, T., 163
- Kikuchi, Takafumi, 61, 269, 272, 276, 283
- Konka, 54
- KPMG cross-border acquisition survey, 144
- Kumar, N., 158, 159–160, 162
- L
- Leadership guidance. See Corporate leadership guidance
- Left Shoe Company, (Helsinki), 9–10
- Lego Company, 248–249
- Lenova Group: global mind-set of, 283;
IBM's personal computer business acquired by, 141, 169, 194–195; as Olympic Partner, 194
- Less developed countries (LDCs):
increasing rates of cross-border acquisitions by, 171–173; increasing rates of FDI to, 170–171. See also Cross-border acquisitions; Emerging markets
- Lifebuoy, 52
- Lifestyle Research Center (Panasonic Home Appliances Company): BU product planning teams of, 71–72, 74–75, 77–78, 83–85; coevolution approach of, 71–79, 83–85; dynamics as a tension-embracing structure, 75–78; establishment (2005) and function of the, 71–73, 269, 272;
establishment in Europe (2009), 79;
local autonomy of, 73–75; mission focus on new product concepts at, 73–74
- Local adaptation: comparing global integration to, 63–64; description of, 62
- Local adaptation–global integration tension: coevolution perspective on handling the, 65–68; cultivating coevolution mind-set to solve,
83–85; description of the, 62–64;
dynamics of the tension-embracing structure for handling the, 68fig;

MNC's tension between global integration and, 61–64; Panasonic China's coevolution approach to, 61–62, 68–85; tension amplified in emerging markets, 64–65
 London Metal Exchange (LME), 153
 Lukose, Kuruvilla, 203, 274, 278, 280–281

M

Mahindra & Mahindra, 167
 Mahindra, Anand, 167
 Malik, Ashwin, 166
 March, J., 213
 Margabandhu, Kalpana, 227
 Market segmentation strategy: coarse market segments, 44, 46; Indian business experience and issues of, 207–209; market gaps suggest new categories for EM-MC, 47–48; segments driven by functionality and aspirational attributes, 47; tool kit on, 45t
 Marriott, 7
 Marugoto (all-inclusive) solutions, 79
 Maruti, 268
 Matsushita, 54
 Matsushita Konosuke, 68
 Maytag, 170
 McDonald's in India, 49
 McKinsey & Company, 242
 McKinsey Global Institute report (2008), 185
 Metro, 54
 Mexico: CEMEX of, 141–142, 164, 188; population classification by economic segments, 34t; ranking economy and GDP (2010) of, 4t
 Microsoft, 17
 Millennium Steel, 151
 Mind-set: description of, 23; examining the power of, 23–24; global, 282–284; globalizing the corporate, 24–27
 Mindtree, 204
 Mitsubishi Chemical, 110
 Mitsubishi Chemical Verbatim, 94
 Mittal Steel: Arcelor acquired by, 152; shareholder value increased by acquisitions by, 164; successful history of acquisitions by, 159

Mohapatra, P. K., 162
 MOP (middle of the pyramid), 88
 Morgan Stanley, 156
 Motorcycle market: Honda's successful competition in ASEAN, 100–108, 109, 111–112, 269–270, 277–278, 281, 283; Indonesian, 106, 107fig; Thailand's, 106, 107fig; two new large segments of ASEAN, 112; Vietnamese, 101fig–104, 107fig, 269, 277. See also Auto industry
 Multinational corporations (MNCs): coevolution perspective taken by, 65–73; competing in emerging Asia, 265–284; EM-ME (emerging market–middle class) consumers of, 35; EM2EM trade challenging business models of the, 35–40; foreign direct investment (FDI) via cross-border, 170–171; fostering a global mind-set, 267, 282–284; implications for marketing programs in emerging markets, 40–44; implications of acquisitions by emerging economy companies for, 198–199; limited targeted consumers in emerging markets served by, 30–31; manufacturing exports from China, 30; protecting IP (intellectual property) in China, 235–264; tension between local adaptation and global integration facing, 61–65; typical two-dimension matrix structure for, 84
 Muthuraman, B., 143, 150
 Myrvhold, Nathan, 17

N

Nakamura Kunio, 69
 Narasimhan, L., 34
 NatSteel, 151
 Navartis, 181
 Netherlands, 4t
 Next-generation global enterprise, 4–11
 Nissan: interest alignment approach of Toyota versus, 252; organizational transformations required of, 18
 Nokia, 22, 105
 Nokia Siemens Networks (NSN), 15
 Norway, 4t

- Novelis: Hindalco Industries' acquisition of, 141, 153–155, 187, 188; too little integration following acquisition of, 158–160
- O
- Olsen, Ken, 23–24
- One-company culture: cultivating a, 23; description and benefits of a, 21–22
- Orange Telkom Kenya, 193
- Organizational culture: IP through controls discipline tendency in, 255–257; moving toward strong one-company, 21–23
- Outsourcing: collaborative innovation and, 15–16; drivers of, 16; IBM's experience in India with, 219; India as destination for IT, 203–204; IP (intellectual property) protection when, 247
- P
- Palepu, K., 163
- Panasonic China: China Lifestyle Research Center (2005) created by, 62, 269, 272; coevolution approach taken by, 68–79; global mind-set of, 283; local adaptation and global integration by, 61–62; manufacturing-centric beginning of, 70–71; Marugoto (all-inclusive) solutions strategy adopted by, 79; moving from spontaneous to deliberate coevolution, 79–80; rethinking innovation approach taken by, 272; rethinking their global organization, 277
- Panasonic Home Appliances Company: coevolution approach of, 69–70, 71–79; current market share held by, 82; development of local product planning capabilities at, 71–73; dynamics of tension-embracing structure of, 75–78; establishing strategic coevolution outposts, 81; Lifestyle Research Center of, 71–73, 74–75, 76–78, 83–85, 269, 272; local autonomy for, 73–75; origins of the, 69
- Panda, 54
- Patents. See Intellectual property (IP)
- Paterson, John, 20
- Patience: contradictions of agility and, 213; patterns of leadership guidance for, 230t–231t; unbalancing agility and, 215–216
- PetroKazakhstan, CNPC's acquisition of, 141
- Peugeot, 268
- Pfizer, 181, 240
- Poland, 4t
- POSCO (Korea), 181
- Pricing strategy: emerging market strategy of repositioning, 93–96*fig*; large volumes and low margins, 52–53; purchasing power parity-based pricing, 53; relationship of reasonable quality and price, 95–97*fig*; saturating price points, 54
- Procter & Gamble (P&G): diaper products segmented by, 47–48; hair care market segments used by, 46; local adaptation–global integration tension facing, 62–63, 64; producing and selling locally in foreign markets, 8; strong one-company culture of, 22, 23
- Product repositioning: of Honda's motorcycle products, 101–104*fig*; as merging market strategy, 93–96*fig*
- Product strategy: Honda's strategy offering low-priced motorcycles, 100–105; product localization, 48–49; reengineering products for income and environmental variability, 49–50; tool kit on, 45t
- Products: branding, 50–52; collaborative innovation of, 15–17; customization of, 9–11*fig*; emerging market strategy of repositioning, 93–96*fig*; frugal innovation of, 13–15; managing high-volume production in emerging markets, 108–111; market evolution following low-priced, 111–112; quality of, 93–97*fig*, 100–105, 196, 283; rethinking global innovation of, 5*fig*, 11–17; strategy driven by, 6. See also Services
- Project Shakti (Unilever), 56
- Purchasing power parity (PPP): emerging markets: population classification by economic segments, 34t; GDP (gross domestic product) measured in terms of, 31–32; GDP of BRIC countries (2000–2010)

adjusted for, 32*fig*; percentage growth of key consumption indicators (2000–2009) adjusted for, 33*t*; pricing strategy based on, 53

Q

Quality: “excess quality” problem, 93–94; finding reasonable quality for emerging markets, 96–97, 196, 283; Honda’s strategy offering low-priced motorcycle with reduced, 100–105; relationship between prices and reasonable, 95–97*fig*

R

Rajan, Thiyaga, 161

Ranbaxy, 181

Rangan, U. Srinivasa, 169, 265, 270, 273, 279, 283

Reasonable quality: for emerging markets, 96–97; Honda’s motorcycle product approach to, 106; relationship between prices and, 95–97*fig*

Regulatory issues: Chinese policy changes related to, 184; cross-border acquisitions due to changes in, 183–184; foreign direct investment (FDI) policies, 117, 170–171, 184, 239–243; restricting foreign exchange in India, 183

Research & development (R&D): corporate leadership guidance for, 213, 214–216, 230*t*–251*t*; IBM’s potential of innovation in India through, 217–220, unbalancing agility and patience for, 215–216. See also Innovation; Intellectual property (IP)

Resources: developing local capability by allocating, 97–99; emerging Asian markets engaged in developing their, 265–266; global integration’s competitive value by transfer of, 63; Honda’s motorcycle strategy of reallocation of, 105–108

Rio Tinto, 155

RMC Group, 141

Robust strategy: description of, 6; emerging markets and, 6–7

Russia: Coca-Cola’s fruit-flavored drinks in, 52; GDP with PPP adjusted

(2000–2010), 32*fig*; largest corporations’ headquarters in, 3; percentage growth of key consumption indicators (2000–2009) with PPP adjusted, 33*t*; population classification by economic segments, 34*t*; ranking economy and GDP (2010) of, 4*t*. See also BRIC (Brazil, Russia, India, China) countries

S

SABMiller, 13

Samsung Electronics, 105

Sasken: comparing innovation approach of Mindtree and, 204; global strategy of, 280–281; Inmarsat-linked satellite phone innovation by, 227–228; potential for innovation in India, 220–222, 274

Schotter, Andreas, 235

Seagate, 98, 103

Segmentation. See Market segmentation strategy

Services: collaborative innovation of, 15–17; customization of, 9–11*fig*; frugal innovation of, 13–15; rethinking global innovation of, 5*fig*, 11–17. See also Products

Seshasayee, R., 161

Shakti Ammas (Unilever’s women distributions), 56

Shalley, C. E., 213

Shanghai American Chamber of Commerce, 238

Shanghai Jiao Tong University (China), 75, 76

Shanghi VW, 117, 122, 136

Shintaku, Junjiro, 61, 87, 269, 272, 276, 277, 281, 283

Sichuan Automobile Group, 135

SIDM printers, 91–93

Siemens, 18

Skype, 21

Smith, K. G., 213

Sony: Chinese market share of, 54; export from home strategy of, 8

South African Breweries (SAB), 53

South Korea, 4*t*

Spain, 4*t*

Srikanth, T. K., 220

- Strand Lifesciences: AVADIS platform innovation by, 228–229; potential for innovation, 222–224, 274
- Sturgell, Brian, 154, 160
- Sunday Times* (newspaper), 157
- Sundram Fasteners, 181
- Suzlon, 13, 187
- The Swach innovation, 203
- Sweden, 4t
- Switzerland, 4t
- T
- TAG (Tianjin Automobile Group):
n-day batch synchronization of parts approach at, 124–125; organization and size of, 121–122; production approach used by, 122–125; sales performance of Xiali model versus others, 120fig; synchronizing parts and materials to Toyota's, 125–136
- TAG-Toyota Group joint venture:
 exclusiveness in parts transactions, 126–127; 5S (series of virtues) introduced during, 130; globalizing through, 281–282; Jishu Ken (self-improvement) activities held during, 130; outcomes and lessons learned from, 136–138; phase I (1990s) transferring supplier management in TAG, 128–132; phase II (2000s) transferring supplier management in TAG, 132–136; production differences between Toyota and TAG, 122–125, 281–282; renewal negotiations for parts prices, 126; restructuring Tianjin Xiali Automobile Co. Ltd., 133–134; sales performance of TAG's Xiali model versus others, 120fig; settlement of TAG's parts payment during, 125–126; TAG's interfirm system impacting, 127–128; Toyota's proposal to Chinese government for, 119, 121–122
- Taiwanese firms: ODM (original design manufacturer) purchases from, 95; OEM contracts with Japanese firms, 94–95; production growth of, 94; “reasonable quality” products of, 96–97
- Taiyo Yuden, 94
- Talent factors: Chinese IP protection through strategic management of, 257–261; constant bleeding of talent in China, 242; Indian business experience and, 209–210; variations in organizations and educational institutes impacting, 210
- Tanaka, Akira, 115, 281
- Tata Group (India), 150, 203
- Tata Motors (India): acquisition financed with debt taken on by, 156–157; emergence as new competitor, 13; increased leverage problem faced by, 148; Jaguar Land Rover acquired by, 148, 155–157
- Tata Motors-Jaguar Land Rover case study: announcement on, 169; overview of the, 148, 155–157; questioning value of acquisition, 187, 188; too little integration during, 158. See also Jaguar Land Rover
- Tata, Patan, 143, 150, 157, 224
- Tata Steel-Corus Steel case study: agency problems during, 161; overview of, 141, 143, 150–153. See also Corus Steel
- Tata Steel (India): Corus Steel acquired by, 141, 143, 150–153; NatSteel and Millennium Steel acquired by, 151; stock price impacted by Corus acquisition, 152–153
- Tata Tea (India), 183
- TCL (China), 164
- TDK, 94
- Teagarden, Mary B., 235
- Technology: customization costs reduced by, 10–11fig; Web 1.0, 20; Web 2.0 (social media), 20–21; Web 3.0 and Web 4.0, 21. See also Information technology (IT)
- Teeside Cast Products, 152
- Tension-embracing activities:
 description of, 67; dynamics of the tension-embracing structure, 68fig
- Tetley (UK), 183
- Thailand motorcycle market: Honda's division of labor in development of, 107fig; Honda's motorcycle design for the, 106
- Thomson (France), 164
- 360 degree innovation, 12–13

- Tianjin Xiali Automobile Co. Ltd., 121–122
- Tianjin Automobile Industry (Group) Corporation (General Corporation [GC or Zong-Gongsi]), 121, 122, 123, 126, 128, 130
- Tianjin Automobile Industry Sales Co. Ltd., 122, 125
- Tianjin Huali Automobile Ltd., 122
- Tianjin Kyoho Society, 129, 130, 131
- Tianjin Mini-Auto Works, 128
- Tianjin Toyota Motor Corporation, 135
- Tianjin Xiali Automobile Co. Ltd., 133–134
- Toyota: comparing Hyundai and, 41–44; export from home strategy of, 8; interest alignment approach of Nissan versus, 252; kanban system used by, 124, 125; organizational transformations required of, 18; parts supply practices in Japan by, 118–119; strategy toward China by, 117–136; strong one-company culture of, 22. See also Auto industry; Japanese firms
- Toyota Group-TAG joint venture (JV): exclusiveness in parts transactions, 126–127; 5S (series of virtues) introduced during, 130; globalizing through, 281–282; Jishu Ken (self-improvement) activities held during, 130; outcomes and lessons learned from, 136–138; phase I (1990s) transferring supplier management in TAG, 128–132; phase II (2000s) transferring supplier management in TAG, 132–136; production differences between Toyota and TAG, 122–125, 281–282; renewal negotiations for parts prices, 126; restructuring Tianjin Xiali Automobile Co. Ltd., 133–134; settlement of TAG's parts payment during, 125–126; TAG's interfirm system impacting, 127–128; Toyota's proposal to Chinese government for, 119, 121–122
- Toyota Motor Technical Center (China), 129–130
- Trademark. See Intellectual property (IP)
- Trust-Mart (China), 83
- Turkey, ranking economy and GDP (2010) of, 4t
- “2009 Manufacturing White Paper” (Japan), 88
- U
- Unilever: distribution system used in India by, 56; Lifebuoy soap sold by, 52; mass media used to reach consumers by, 51; serving directly through account managers, 55
- United Breweries Group, 165
- United Kingdom, 4t
- United Phosphorous Limited (UPL), 57
- United Spirits Limited (USL), 165–166
- United States: Human Genome Project of the, 222; no longer the top-trading nation in the world, 35, 36fig; P&G hair care market segment in the, 46; percentage growth of key consumption indicators (2000–2009) with PPP adjusted, 33t; ranking economy and GDP (2010) of, 4t
- U.S. Federal Reserve, 185
- V
- Value chain: atomization of the, 8–9; collaborative innovation and disaggregation of, 15–17, 278–279; cross-border acquisition to increase, 144–145, 146t, 182–183; poor outcomes of acquisitions made by Indian firms, 162–164, 279; traditional approach to, 8
- Venezuela, 4t
- Venkatesh, G., 228, 233
- Viagra patent violation, 240
- Vietnamese motorcycle market: China's declining exports to, 101–104; examining Honda's entrance into the, 101–104, 269, 277; Honda's division of labor in development of, 107fig; Honda's share (1998–2003) in the, 101fig, 281
- Vijay Mallya, 165
- “Virtualization of the corporation,” 18
- Volvo-Geely acquisition, 169, 196–198, 283

W

- Wakayama, Toshiro, 61, 265, 269, 272, 276, 277, 283
- Walmart: distribution strategy in emerging markets by, 54; local adaptation–global integration tension when entering China, 64–65
- Walmart Asia, 65
- Walmart China: local adaptation–global integration tension of, 64–65; market share held by, 82–83; Trust-Mart acquired by, 83
- Wang, Haiyan, 3, 267, 271, 276, 278, 281, 282
- Wang, Yue, 115
- Warner, Harry M., 23, 24
- Watson, Thomas, Sr., 23
- Web 1.0, 20
- Web 2.0 (social media), business impact of, 20–21
- Web 3.0, 21
- Web 4.0, 21
- Western firms. See Multinational corporations (MNCs)
- Whirlpool, 170, 199
- Whyte & Mackay (W&M), 165, 166
- World Bank, 9
- World Trade Organization, 117, 136, 237, 240

Z

- Zain, 169, 193, 226
- Zara, 63

<http://www.pbookshop.com>