

Contents

Foreword by Brian Paddick vii

Preface ix

Acknowledgements xi

■ PART I SETTING THE SCENE 1

1 The lessons worth learning from past mistakes 3

■ PART II THE NHS 13

2 Cooking the books in NHS catering 15

3 NHS professionals—a better class of fraudster? 25

■ PART III CHARITIES AND SCHOOLS 37

4 The ‘nun on the run’ 39

5 Charity begins at home 51

■ PART IV UK BANKING FRAUD 65

6 Robin Hood or Robbing Hood? 67

7 Bringing down the bank at Barings 79

PART V UK POLICE INTERNAL FRAUD	91
8 The 'Laird of Tomintoul'— and how to get the right to graze sheep at Scotland Yard	93
9 Corporate credit cards for cops—Part II	107
PART VI INTERNAL UK FRAUD	127
10 Curiouser and curiouser	129
PART VII GOVERNMENT	135
11 The men from the Ministry	137
12 The ghost, the guardian and the Galleria—internal fraud in local authorities	151
13 The heating contractor who was just a load of hot air	161
PART VIII UK POLICE AND MILITARY OUTSOURCING AND PROCUREMENT	169
14 An outsourcing nightmare	171
15 Alarm bells should have been ringing out, loud and clear	191
16 Fun with works and maintenance in the police and the Ministry of Defence	215
PART IX US COMPANY FRAUD	233
17 Crazy Eddie wasn't so crazy after all	235
18 ZZZZ Best and Barrie Minkow—saint or sinner?	253
PART X MULTI-NATIONAL FRAUDSTERS	265
19 Firepower: a bitter pill to swallow	267
20 Recent scandals in the subcontinent	277
PART XI CONCLUDING THOUGHTS	289
21 Can significant frauds be nipped in the bud?	291

Notes 297

Index 301