

Contents

Acknowledgments	xiii
Introduction	xvii
1 Trade Frequently	1
2 Trade Foreign Exchange	11
3 Believe in Your Heart That You Can Pick Stocks	19
4 Assume That Recent Trends Will Continue Indefinitely	29
5 Pour Continuer . . . Sell When Things Look Bleak . . . and Stay the Heck Out of the Market	35

CONTENTS

6	Know in Your Heart That This Time It's Different . . . and Act on It	41
7	Dividends Are for Spending—Not Investing—Just Ignore Them or Use Them to Buy Baubles	49
8	Cash Is Garbage—Except When It's Not	57
9	Put Your Money into a Hedge Fund	69
10	Try Strategies That No One Else Has Ever Thought of . . . You Can Out-Think the Market	77
11	Use the Strategies That University Endowments and the Giant Players Use	81
12	Commodities Are Calling . . . Will You Answer the Phone?: Everything That Happens in Your Life Involves Commodities	87

Contents

13	Go on Margin for Everything	93
14	Sell Short	97
15	Do Not Have a Plan for Your Investing or for Your Financial Life Generally	103
16	Do It All Yourself	109
17	Pay No Attention at All to Taxes	111
18	Believe That Those People You See on TV Can Actually Tell the Future	113
19	Do Not Start Even Thinking about Any of This until the Absolutely Last Moment	117
20	Don't Believe That Any of This Matters Very Much, This Money Stuff	119
21–49:	How to Ruin Your Greatest Asset—You	123
	Choose a Career with No Possibility of Advancement	124

CONTENTS

Choose a Career with Little Chance for a Good Income	124
Choose Lots of Education over Lots of Pay	125
Show No Respect for Your Boss or Fellow Workers	125
Don't Learn Much about Your Job, Industry, or Employers . . . Just Wing It	126
Do the Minimum Just to Get By	126
Show Up in Torn Jeans, Unshaven, Unwashed, Any Old Way You Feel Like Showing Up	126
Show No Regard for the Truth	127
Display Open Contempt for Your Job, Your Fellow Workers, Your Boss, and Your Clients/Customers	127
Act Like You Are Morally Superior to Your Job and Your Colleagues	128
Do Not Be Punctual	128
Don't Hesitate to Have a Cocktail or Two at Lunch	128

Contents

Gossip and Sow Divisiveness at Work	129
Second-Guess Everyone around You at Work, Especially Your Boss	129
Threaten Your Boss and Employer with Litigation	129
Look for Grievances at Work	130
Make Sexual Advances to Anyone You Find Attractive	130
Make Excessive Phone Calls, Texts, and E-Mails on Company Time	131
Play Video Games at Work and Make Loud Noises as You Do	131
Make and Keep Lots of Personal Appointments on Company Time	132
Listen to Your Colleagues' Conversations and Snoop on Their E-Mails	132
Talk about How Much Better Earlier Employers Were Than Your Current Employer	133
Brag about Your Great Family Connections	133

CONTENTS

Pad Your Expense Account	134
Borrow Money from Your Fellow Employees and Don't Pay It Back	134
Question, Mock, and Belittle Your Tasks	135
Flirt with Your Colleagues' Significant Others	135
Proselytize at Work and Belittle Anyone Who Doesn't Share Your Political or Religious Beliefs	135
Say Anything You Want That Comes into Your Head	136
About the Author	137