

Contents

Preface	xv
Acknowledgments	xxi
About the Authors	xxv
CHAPTER 1
Introduction	1
1.1 Outline of This Book	1
1.2 Studying for the CAIA Level II Examination	3
PART ONE
<hr/>
Asset Allocation and Portfolio Management
CHAPTER 2
The Endowment Model	7
2.1 Defining Endowments and Foundations	7
2.2 Intergenerational Equity, Inflation, and Spending Challenges	10
2.3 The Endowment Model	12
2.4 Why Might Large Endowments Outperform?	14
2.5 Conclusion	19
CHAPTER 3
Risk Management for Endowment and Foundation Portfolios	21
3.1 Spending Rates and Inflation	21
3.2 Liquidity Issues	24
3.3 Rebalancing and Tactical Asset Allocation	28
3.4 Tail Risk	30
3.5 Conclusion	32
CHAPTER 4
Pension Fund Portfolio Management	33
4.1 Defined Benefit Plans	34
4.2 Governmental Social Security Plans	43
4.3 Defined Contribution Plans	43

PART TWOPrivate Equity*CHAPTER 5*Private Equity Market Landscape*49

- 5.1 Main Strategies 49
- 5.2 Main Differences between Venture Capital and Buyout 50
- 5.3 Private Equity Funds as Intermediaries 54
- 5.4 Private Equity Funds of Funds as Intermediaries 56
- 5.5 Private Equity Funds of Funds Value-Added 58
- 5.6 The Relationship Life Cycle between Limited and General Partners 59
- 5.7 The J-Curve 62
- 5.8 Conclusion 64

CHAPTER 6Private Equity Fund Structure*67

- 6.1 Key Features 69
- 6.2 Conflicts of Interest 77
- 6.3 Finding the Balance 77

CHAPTER 7The Investment Process*79

- 7.1 Process Description 79
- 7.2 Risk Management 85

CHAPTER 8Private Equity Portfolio Design*89

- 8.1 Three Approaches to Private Equity Portfolio Design 89
- 8.2 Risk-Return Management Approaches 93
- 8.3 The Risk Profile of Private Equity Assets 99

CHAPTER 9Fund Manager Selection Process*107

- 9.1 Determination of the Wish List of Fund Characteristics 107
- 9.2 Deal Sourcing 109
- 9.3 Due Diligence: Importance and Limitations 111
- 9.4 Decision and Commitment 116

CHAPTER 10Measuring Performance and Benchmarking in the Private Equity World*117

- 10.1 Individual Funds 117
- 10.2 Portfolio of Funds 129

CHAPTER 11Monitoring Private Equity Fund Investments*135

- 11.1 Approach to Monitoring 135
- 11.2 The Monitoring Objectives 136

Contents

vii

11.3	Information Gathering in the Monitoring Process	139
11.4	Actions Resulting from Monitoring	142
CHAPTER 12
	Private Equity Fund Valuation	145
12.1	Net Asset Value (NAV)	145
12.2	Internal Rate of Return (IRR)	147
12.3	Economic Value Approach	149
CHAPTER 13
	Private Equity Fund Discount Rates	151
13.1	The Capital Asset Pricing Model (CAPM)	151
13.2	Private Equity Fund Betas	153
CHAPTER 14
	The Management of Liquidity	161
14.1	Private Equity Cash Flow Schedules	161
14.2	Sources of Liquidity	162
14.3	Investment Strategies for Undrawn Capital	164
14.4	Cash Flow Projections	165
14.5	Overcommitment	174
14.6	Conclusion	177
PART THREE
	Real Assets
CHAPTER 15
	Real Estate as an Investment	181
15.1	Attributes of Real Estate	181
15.2	Asset Allocation	182
15.3	Categories of Real Estate	185
15.4	Return Drivers of Real Estate	189
CHAPTER 16
	Unsmoothing of Appraisal-Based Returns	191
16.1	Smoothed Pricing	191
16.2	Models of Price and Return Smoothing	194
16.3	Unsmoothing a Price or Return Series	198
16.4	An Illustration of Unsmoothing	201
CHAPTER 17
	Core, Value-Added, and Opportunistic Real Estate	207
17.1	Defining the Three NCREIF Real Estate Styles	208
17.2	Differentiating Styles with Attributes	210
17.3	Purposes of Real Estate Style Analysis	210

17.4	Real Estate Style Boxes	213
17.5	Cap Rates and Expected Returns	214
17.6	Developing Risk and Return Expectations with Styles	215
CHAPTER 18
	Real Estate Indices	221
18.1	The Mechanics of Appraisal-Based Indices	221
18.2	Non-Appraisal-Based Indices	224
18.3	Description of Major Real Estate Indices	226
CHAPTER 19
	Public versus Private Real Estate Risks	231
19.1	Market-Based versus Appraisal-Based Returns	231
19.2	Arbitrage, Liquidity, and Segmentation	234
19.3	Public Real Estate Products	244
CHAPTER 20
	Portfolio Allocation within Real Estate	247
20.1	Income Taxation	247
20.2	Leverage	250
20.3	Agency Relationships	251
20.4	Information Asymmetries	252
20.5	Liquidity and Transaction Costs	253
20.6	Cross-Border Real Estate Investment	253
20.7	Summary and Conclusions	255
CHAPTER 21
	Farmland and Timber Investments	257
21.1	Global Demand for Agricultural Products	258
21.2	Accessing Agricultural Returns	260
21.3	Understanding the Returns to Farmland	264
21.4	Commodity Price Volatility and Its Implication for Farmland-Based Investment Strategies	270
21.5	Global Investing in Timberland	274
21.6	Key Points and Summary Conclusions	277
CHAPTER 22
	Investing in Intellectual Property	279
22.1	Characteristics of Intellectual Property	279
22.2	Film Production and Distribution	281
22.3	Art as an Investment Asset	288
22.4	R&D and Patents	293
22.5	Conclusion	298

PART FOURCommodities*CHAPTER 23*Key Concepts in Commodity Market Analysis 301

23.1	Introduction	301
23.2	Real Assets and Financial Assets	302
23.3	The Role of Investors in Commodity Markets	302
23.4	Convenience Yield	303
23.5	Cost of Carry	304
23.6	Theories of Commodity Forward Curves	305

CHAPTER 24Role of Commodities in Asset Allocation 315

24.1	Introduction	315
24.2	Review of Major Articles and Studies	316
24.3	Sources of Return to Futures-Based Commodity Investment	319
24.4	The Statistical Properties of Commodity Prices	320
24.5	Asset Allocation	324

CHAPTER 25Methods of Delivering Commodity Alpha 329

25.1	Introduction	329
25.2	Directional Strategies	329
25.3	Relative Value Strategies	330
25.4	Commodity-Based Equity and Debt Strategies	338
25.5	Fundamental Analysis for Directional and Relative Value Strategies	339
25.6	Looking Forward	341

CHAPTER 26Methods of Delivering Commodity Beta: Indices, Swaps, Notes, and Hedge Funds 343

26.1	Introduction	343
26.2	Direct Physical Ownership of Commodities	344
26.3	Indirect Ownership of Commodities	344
26.4	Leveraged and Option-Based Structures	350
26.5	Commodity Indices Compared to Securities Indices	351
26.6	Sources of Commodity Index Returns	352
26.7	Issues in Commodity Index Design	353
26.8	Performance Enhancements of Enhanced Commodity Indices	357
26.9	A Primer on Commodity Index Calculation: Spot, Roll, Excess, and Total Returns	359

CHAPTER 27Macroeconomic Determinants of Commodity Futures Returns 363

- 27.1 Commodities as an Inflation Hedge 364
- 27.2 Commodities and Exchange Rates 371
- 27.3 Commodities and the Business Cycle 373
- 27.4 Conclusion 378

CHAPTER 28Effective Risk Management Strategies for Commodity Portfolios 379

- 28.1 Marking the Net Asset Value 379
- 28.2 Measuring Event Risks 381
- 28.3 Stress Testing Using Value at Risk 382
- 28.4 Measuring Liquidity Risks 384
- 28.5 Performance Attribution 385
- 28.6 Mitigating Operational Risks 386
- 28.7 Conclusion 387

PART FIVEHedge Funds and Managed Futures*CHAPTER 29*Structure of the Managed Futures Industry 391

- 29.1 Investing in CTAs and CPOs 391
- 29.2 Industry Regulation 392
- 29.3 Benefits of CTAs 394
- 29.4 Margin Requirements 395
- 29.5 Understanding Returns 396
- 29.6 Foreign Currency Exposure 400
- 29.7 Collateral Income and Segregation Issues 400
- 29.8 Margin-to-Equity Ratios 402
- 29.9 Conclusion 403

CHAPTER 30Managed Futures: Strategies and Sources of Return 405

- 30.1 Investment Strategies 406
- 30.2 Economics of Commodity Futures Markets 408
- 30.3 Efficient Market Hypothesis and Returns to CTAs 413
- 30.4 Profitability of Momentum-Based and Other Trend-Following Strategies 415
- 30.5 Empirical Evidence on Technical Trading Rules 423
- 30.6 Conclusion 425

CHAPTER 31Risk and Performance Analysis in Managed Futures Strategies 427

- 31.1 Risk Measurement 427
- 31.2 Historical Performance of CTAs 435

*Contentsxi

31.3	Research on Performance and Benefits of Managed Futures	439
31.4	Benchmarking of CTAs	441
31.5	Alpha-Beta Separation Using Passive Indices	443
31.6	Performance of CTAs during Periods of Financial Stress	446
31.7	Conclusion	452
CHAPTER 32
	Structuring Investments in CTAs	453
32.1	Sourcing Managers	453
32.2	Issues in Structuring a CTA Investment Program	454
32.3	How Many Managers Should One Choose?	455
32.4	CTA Funds and Multi-CTA Funds	458
32.5	Managed Accounts	459
32.6	Platforms	463
32.7	Comparison of Approaches to Structuring a CTA Investment	463
32.8	Quantitative Analysis of Managers	465
32.9	Investment and Operational Due Diligence Processes	468
32.10	Cost of Active Management	470
32.11	Conclusion	472
CHAPTER 33
	Hedge Fund Replication	475
33.1	Introduction	475
33.2	An Overview of Replication Products	475
33.3	Potential Benefits of Replication Products	476
33.4	The Case for Hedge Fund Replication	477
33.5	Unique Benefits of Replication Products	480
33.6	Factor-Based Approach to Replication	483
33.7	Payoff-Distribution Approach	488
33.8	Bottom-Up or Algorithmic Approach	492
33.9	Conclusion	493
CHAPTER 34
	Convertible Arbitrage	497
34.1	Evolution of the Convertible Arbitrage Strategy	497
34.2	Terminology	498
34.3	Valuation of Convertible Securities	500
34.4	The Greeks	507
34.5	An Arbitrage Situation	511
34.6	Convertible Arbitrage in Practice: Stripping and Swapping	515
34.7	Leverage and Convertible Arbitrage	518
CHAPTER 35
	Global Macro and Currency Strategies	521
35.1	Introduction to the Macro Strategies	521
35.2	Directional Currency Trades	524

35.3	The Case of Emerging Markets	526
35.4	Four Models for Currency Trading	528
35.5	A More Complex Trade: Contingent Yield Curve Steepening	535
35.6	Risk Management and Portfolio Construction	536

CHAPTER 36Fundamental Equity Hedge Fund Strategies 539

36.1	Variations within Equity Long/Short Funds	539
36.2	Background of the Long/Short Equity Hedge Fund	543
36.3	Mechanics of the Strategy	543
36.4	Managerial Expertise and Sources of Returns	547
36.5	Long/Short Return Attribution	550

CHAPTER 37Quantitative Equity Hedge Fund Strategies 553

37.1	Variations of Quantitative Strategies	553
37.2	Background on Quantitative Strategies	557
37.3	Mechanics of Quantitative Strategies	559
37.4	Sources of Returns	563
37.5	A Stylized Quantitative Equity Strategy	567
37.6	The Great Quant Meltdown of August 2007	568

CHAPTER 38Funds of Hedge Funds 573

38.1	Approaches for Accessing Hedge Funds	573
38.2	Characteristics of Funds of Hedge Funds	575
38.3	Fund of Funds Performance	578
38.4	Fund of Funds Portfolio Construction	578
38.5	Manager Selection	586
38.6	Risk Management	586
38.7	Due Diligence Issues Arising in the Context of Funds of Funds	588
38.8	Benefits Offered by Funds of Funds	590
38.9	Disadvantages of Funds of Funds	592
38.10	Funds of Funds versus Individual Hedge Funds	593
38.11	Hedge Fund Indices	597

CHAPTER 39Regulation and Compliance 603

39.1	A Succinct History of Hedge Fund Regulation in the United States	603
39.2	Registration and Regulation in the United States	605
39.3	Various Reporting Requirements for Hedge Funds	612
39.4	The Global Regulatory Environment for Hedge Funds	614

*Contentsxiii*CHAPTER 40*Operational Due Diligence*617

40.1 Operational Due Diligence

618

40.2 Strategy-Specific Due Diligence

630

References645*Index*665

<http://www.pbookshop.com>

<http://www.pbookshop.com>