

Table of Contents

Table of Cases	xvii
Table of Legislation	xxv
Chapter 1. Introduction	1
I. Object and Purpose of the Study	1
A. Integration as a Condition for Immigration: the Act on Integration Abroad	1
B. Approach	3
C. Relation to Other Research	5
II. Integration Requirements and Legal Rules on the Admission of Aliens	7
A. Scope of the Investigation	7
B. Sources of Immigration Rules	8
i. International Law	8
ii. European Union Law	10
iii. The Dutch Constitution	15
III. Structure of the Book	16
Part I. Integration and Immigration in the Netherlands
Chapter 2. Dutch Integration Policy and the Act on Integration Abroad	21
I. Introduction	21
II. Before 1979: an Ambiguous Approach to Integration	22
A. Immigration to the Netherlands	22
B. Integration or Return Migration?	22
III. An Integration Policy for Ethnic Minorities (1979–1989)	24
A. Developments in the Fields of Immigration and Integration	24
B. A Patchwork of Language Courses	25
C. Reception of Refugees and Other Protected Persons	27
IV. Preparing the Ground for a Compulsory Integration Policy (1989–1998)	28
A. Developments in the Fields of Immigration and Integration	28
B. A New Integration Policy	29

C.	Learning Dutch as a Second Language: Towards Compulsory Education for Adult Immigrants	30
D.	Reception and Integration of Newly Arrived Immigrants	33
i.	Building up Experience: Reception Programmes between 1990 and 1995	33
ii.	The Introduction of Integration Contracts . . .	35
iii.	. . . and the First Integration Act	36
iv.	Target Group of the Reception and Civic Integration Policy	37
E.	Reception of Refugees and Other Protected Persons	38
F.	Integration in the Country of Origin	40
V.	Compulsory Integration in the Netherlands and Abroad (1998–2007)	41
A.	Developments in the Fields of Immigration and Integration	41
B.	The ‘New Style’ Integration Policy	42
C.	Civic Integration between 1998 and 2007	44
i.	Implementation of the Newcomers Integration Act 1998 and Integration Contracts for Resident Immigrants	44
ii.	Compulsory Integration for Religious Servants	46
iii.	Adjustment of the Course Objectives for Social Orientation	47
iv.	Integration Abroad for Antillean Youths	47
D.	Reform of the Civic Integration Policy	48
VI.	The Act on Integration Abroad	50
A.	The Requirement of Integration Abroad in Dutch Immigration Law	50
i.	A Contested Legal Basis	50
B.	Personal Scope of the Act on Integration Abroad	52
i.	Main Target Group: Family Migrants from Non-Western Countries	52
ii.	Additional Target Group: Religious Servants	53
iii.	Exemptions	54
C.	The Integration Exam Abroad	59
i.	Contents of the Exam before 1 April 2011	59
ii.	Contents of the Exam after 1 April 2011	61
iii.	The Examination	62
iv.	Preparing for the Exam	63
D.	Effects of the Act on Integration Abroad	66
i.	Effects on Immigration	66
ii.	Effects on Further Integration in the Netherlands	68
VII.	Summary	69

Chapter 3. Concepts of Integration and Citizenship in the Netherlands	72
I. Introduction	72
II. Integration as an Admission Requirement	73
A. Integration as a Ground for Exclusion before 2003	73
B. The Act on Integration Abroad: from Inclusion to Exclusion	74
i. Inclusion: Preparing for Life in the Netherlands	74
ii. Exclusion: the Threat of Continuing Immigration	75
iii. Selection: from Motivation to Education	76
C. The Legitimacy of Exclusion: a Balancing of Interests	78
III. The Integration Exam Abroad as an Instrument of Citizenship	80
A. Integration and Citizenship in the Netherlands before the Introduction of the Act on Integration Abroad	80
B. The 'New Style' Integration policy: from 'Active' to 'Shared' Citizenship	84
C. After Enactment of the Act on Integration Abroad: Citizenship in Turmoil	87
D. Assessment: Citizenship in the Netherlands and the Act on Integration Abroad	90
i. Citizenship in the Netherlands	91
ii. The Act on Integration Abroad as an Instrument of Citizenship	96
IV. Concluding Observations	98

Part II. Integration Requirements in Immigration Law

A. Integration Requirements and Fundamental Rights

Chapter 4. Family Life and Family Reunification	103
I. Introduction	103
II. Article 8 of the European Convention on Human Rights	104
A. Scope of Article 8 ECHR – Family Life	105
B. Family Life and the Admission of Aliens: the Approach of the European Court of Human Rights	106
i. Positive or Negative Obligation, Fair Balance or Necessity?	106
ii. Admission of Family Members: Still Searching for the Right Approach	107
iii. Margin of Appreciation	110
C. Balancing Family Life and Immigration Control: the Criteria Used by the Court	111
i. Interests of the State	112

ii.	Interests of the Applicants	115
iii.	Final Observations Regarding the Fair Balance Test in Admission Cases	120
D.	Article 8 ECHR in Relation to Integration Requirements	121
i.	Integration Requirements and the Interest of the State	121
ii.	Integration Requirements and the Interests of the Applicants	123
E.	Dutch Case Law with Regard to Article 8 ECHR and Integration Requirements	125
i.	Positive Obligation and Fair Balance Test	125
ii.	State Interests Served by Integration Requirements	126
iii.	Proportionality of Integration Requirements	127
iv.	Intensity of Review	130
v.	Approach of the Dutch Courts in Relation to Article 8 ECHR	132
III.	Articles 17 and 23 of the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights	133
A.	Scope of Articles 17 and 23 ICCPR – Family Life and Family Reunification	133
B.	Limitations to the Right to Family Reunification	137
C.	Articles 17 and 23 ICCPR and Integration Requirements	139
D.	Dutch Case Law with Regard to Articles 17 and 23 ICCPR and Integration Requirements	141
IV.	Articles 3, 9 and 10 of the Convention on the Rights of the Child	141
A.	Scope of Articles 9 and 10 CRC – the Right of Children not to be Separated from their Parents and Family Reunification	143
i.	Applicability of Article 9 CRC to Immigration Cases	143
ii.	The Right not to be Separated	144
B.	The Possibility to Exercise Family Life Elsewhere	145
C.	The Obligation to Treat Requests for Admission in a ‘Positive, Humane and Expeditious Manner’	146
D.	Article 3 CRC – the Obligation to Let the Best Interests of the Child be a Primary Consideration	147
E.	Articles 3, 9 and 10 CRC in Relation to Integration Requirements	148
F.	Dutch Case Law with Regard to Articles 3, 9 and 10 CRC and Integration Requirements	150
i.	Dutch Case Law with Regard to Articles 9 and 10 CRC	151
ii.	Dutch Case Law with Regard to Article 3 CRC	152

iii.	Dutch Case Law with Regard to the CRC and Integration Requirements	153
V.	The Family Reunification Directive
A.	Object and Purpose of the Directive	154
B.	Eligibility for Family Reunification	155
C.	Conditions for Family Reunification	156
i.	The Conditionality of Integration Requirements	157
ii.	The Relationship between Article 4(1), Final Subparagraph and Article 7(2) FRD	158
iii.	Contents of the Integration Requirements	159
iv.	Limitations to the Discretion of the Member States	160
D.	Dutch Case Law with Regard to the Family Reunification Directive	164
VI.	Interim Conclusion: Legal Standards Concerning Integration Requirements as a Condition for Family Reunification.	165
VII.	The Right to Family Life and the Act on Integration Abroad	167
A.	Preliminary Remark: Family Members Eligible for Admission	167
B.	The Requirement of Lawfulness	168
C.	The Requirement of a Legitimate Aim	169
D.	Proportionality of the Integration Exam Abroad – Relevant Factors	170
i.	Level of the Exam	171
ii.	Availability of Preparation Facilities	172
iii.	Accessibility of the Exam	172
iv.	Family Members of Former Asylum Seekers	173
v.	Effectiveness of the Act on Integration Abroad	174
E.	The Obligation to Give Primary Consideration to the Best Interests of the Child	174
F.	Exempted Categories and Individual Exemptions	175
G.	Summary: Compatibility of the Act on Integration Abroad with the Right to Family Life and Family Reunification	176
VIII.	Concluding Observations	177
Chapter 5. Freedom of Religion		179
I.	Introduction	179
II.	Freedom of Religion as protected by Article 9 of the European Convention of Human Rights	180
A.	Scope of Article 9 ECHR – the Right of Religious Communities to Self-organisation and the Admission of Religious Servants	180

i.	Individual and Collective Dimension of the Freedom of Religion	180
ii.	Admission of Religious Servants	182
B.	Limitations to the Freedom of Religion: Article 9(2) ECHR	188
C.	Margin of Appreciation	190
D.	Article 9 ECHR in Relation to Integration Requirements	191
III.	Article 18 of the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights	195
A.	Scope of Article 18 ICCPR	196
i.	The Right of Religious Communities to Appoint Religious Leaders	196
ii.	Admission of Religious Servants	196
B.	Limitations to the Freedom of Religion: Article 18(3) ICCPR	198
C.	Article 18 ICCPR in Relation to Integration Requirements	200
IV.	Article 6 of the Dutch Constitution	200
A.	Scope of Article 6 Dutch Constitution	201
i.	The Right of Religious Communities to Appoint Religious Leaders	201
ii.	Admission of Religious Servants	201
B.	The Restriction Clause	203
C.	Article 6 Dutch Constitution in Relation to Integration Requirements	204
V.	Freedom of Religion and Equal Treatment	204
VI.	Interim Conclusion: Legal Standards Concerning Integration Requirements as a Condition for the Admission of Religious Servants	205
VII.	The Act on Integration Abroad in Relation to the Freedom of Religion and the Right to Equal Treatment	207
A.	Religious Organisations in the Netherlands and Servants from Abroad	207
B.	Does the Integration Exam Abroad Form a Limitation of the Freedom of Religion?	208
C.	Is the Limitation Justified?	209
i.	Prescribed by Law	210
ii.	Legitimate Aim	210
iii.	Proportionality and Neutrality	211
iv.	The Restriction Clause of Article 6(1) Dutch Constitution	212
D.	Possibilities for Exemption	212
E.	Discrimination on the Grounds of Religion?	213

F. Summary: Compatibility of the Integration Exam Abroad with the Right to Freedom of Religion and the Right to Equal Treatment	215
VIII. Concluding Observations	216

B. Integration Requirements, EU Law and International Agreements

Chapter 6. The Right to Free Movement in European Union Law	221
I. Introduction	221
II. The Right to Free Movement of EU Citizens	222
A. Citizenship and Free Movement of Persons in the TFEU	222
B. The Residence Directive	224
C. Situations not Covered by EU Law?	225
III. Family Members of EU Citizens	226
A. Free Movement or Family Reunification?	226
B. Family Members Entitled to Entry and Residence in the Member States	228
C. Conditions for the Entry and Residence of Family Members	229
D. Article 3(2) Residence Directive: 'Facilitating' Entry and Residence	230
E. Additional Residence Rights for Carers: from Baumbast to Ruiz Zambrano	232
IV. The Right to Free Movement of Nationals of the EEA Member States and their Family Members	233
V. Swiss Nationals and their Family Members	235
A. Free Movement of Swiss Nationals: the EC-Switzerland Agreement	235
B. The Right to Entry and Residence of Swiss Nationals and their Family Members	236
C. Other Family Members: the Obligation to Facilitate Entry and Residence	238
VI. Third-country Nationals who are Long-term Residents and their Family Members	238
A. The Long-term Residents Directive	238
B. Objectives	239
C. The Right of Long-term Residents to Reside in Another Member State	241
D. Compliance with Integration Measures as a Condition for Residence in the Second Member State: the Meaning of Article 15(3) LRD	242
i. Integration as a Condition for Residence?	242

ii.	When May Compliance with Integration Requirements be Demanded?	243
iii.	Contents of Integration Requirements	244
iv.	Limitations to the Discretion of the Member States	246
v.	'Integration Measures' Versus 'Integration Conditions'?	248
E.	Family Members of Long-term Residents	250
i.	Definition of 'Family Members' in the Long-term Residents Directive	250
ii.	The Right to Reside in a Second Member State	250
iii.	Family Members Other than those Referred to in Article 4(1) Family Reunification Directive	253
VII.	Third-country Nationals who are Holders of an EU Blue Card and their Family Members	253
A.	The Blue Card Directive	253
B.	The Right of EU Blue Card Holders to Enter and Reside in Another Member State	254
C.	The Right of Family Members of EU Blue Card Holders to Enter and Reside in Another Member State	255
VIII.	The Right to Free Movement and the Act on Integration Abroad	256
A.	Nationals of the Member States of the EU, the EEA and Switzerland and their Family Members	256
i.	Family Members not Entitled to the Right of Free Movement	257
B.	Long-term Residents and their Family Members	258
C.	EU Blue Card Holders and their Family Members	259
IX.	Concluding Observations	259
Chapter 7. International Relations and Labour Migration		262
I.	Introduction	262
II.	International Agreements Concluded by the European Union	263
A.	The Association Agreement between the EEC and Turkey	263
i.	Standstill Clauses: No New Restrictions for the Admission of Turkish Workers and Self-employed Persons	265
ii.	Non-discrimination	267
iii.	Family Members of Turkish Workers and Self-employed Persons	269
B.	Stabilisation and Association Agreements with the Western Balkan Countries	270

C.	International Agreements Concluded by the EU and the Act on Integration Abroad	273
III.	International Agreements Concluded by the Netherlands	273
A.	The Dutch-American Friendship Treaty	274
B.	The Treaty on Commerce and Navigation between the Netherlands and Japan	276
C.	Agreements between the Netherlands and Suriname	277
D.	The European Convention on Establishment	278
E.	International Agreements Concluded by the Netherlands and the Act on Integration Abroad	279
IV.	Labour Migration	280
A.	The EU Blue Card Directive	280
i.	The EU Blue Card for Highly Qualified Third-country Nationals	281
ii.	Family Members of EU Blue Card Holders	281
B.	The European Convention Relating to the Legal Status of Migrant Workers	282
C.	The European Social Charter (Revised)	284
D.	Labour Migration and the Act on Integration Abroad	286
i.	Standards Set by International Instruments	286
ii.	The Situation of Labour Migrants and their Family Members under the ALA and Compliance with International Instruments	286
V.	Concluding Observations	288

C. Integration Requirements and Equality

Chapter 8. The Right to Equal Treatment: Direct Differential Treatment on Grounds of Nationality and Residence Purpose 293

I.	Introduction	293
II.	Legal Framework Concerning the Right to Equal Treatment	294
A.	The Principle of Equal Treatment	294
B.	The Right to Equal Treatment – Relevant Legal Provisions	294
i.	International Human Rights Treaties	294
ii.	EU Law	296
iii.	The Dutch Constitution	297
iv.	Applicability of the Above Provisions in Admission Cases	297
C.	Justification of Differential Treatment	298
D.	Scope of Review and the Relevance of ‘Suspect Grounds’	299
E.	Formal and Substantive Equality and Indirect Differential Treatment	301

III. Differential Treatment on the Grounds of Nationality	303
A. Preliminary Remark: Nationality, Alienage and National Origin	303
i. Nationality and Alienage	303
ii. Nationality and National Origin	304
B. Is Nationality a 'Suspect Ground'?	306
C. Is the Differential Treatment Based on a Reasonable and Objective Justification?	308
i. Compliance with International Obligations: EU Law and Bilateral Agreements	310
ii. Foreign and Economic Relations	316
iii. Comparability of Countries of Origin	317
iv. Final Remarks Concerning Justification	320
D. Dutch Case Law	321
IV. Differential Treatment on the Grounds of Residence Purpose	323
V. The Right to Equal Treatment and the Act on Integration Abroad	324
A. Differential Treatment on Grounds of Nationality	325
B. Differential Treatment on Grounds of Residence Purpose	326
C. Scope of the Exemption and Effectiveness of the Integration Requirement	329
VI. Summary and Concluding Observations	330

Chapter 9. The Right to Equal Treatment: Indirect Differential Treatment on the Grounds of Racial or Ethnic Origin 333

I. Introduction	333
II. Legal Standards Regarding Indirect Differential Treatment on Grounds of Racial or Ethnic Origin	334
A. Relevant Legal Provisions	334
i. (Inter)national Human Rights Provisions	334
ii. EU Law	335
B. Discrimination Grounds	336
C. Indirect Differential Treatment	338
i. Standard of Proof	339
ii. Which Comparison to Make?	342
D. Justification of Indirect Differential Treatment	345
E. Scope of Review	347
F. The Prohibition of Indirect Racial and Ethnic Discrimination in Relation to Integration Requirements	349
i. Effects of Integration Requirements	349
ii. Establishing a Presumption of Indirect Discrimination	350

iii. Justification	352
III. Indirect Differential Treatment on Grounds of Racial or Ethnic Origin and the Act on Integration Abroad	354
A. Racial or Ethnic Groups Affected by the AIA	355
B. A Presumption of Indirect Racial or Ethnic Discrimination?	357
i. Evidence of Discriminatory Intent?	361
C. Justification	362
IV. Concluding Observations	365
Chapter 10. The Right to Equal Treatment: ‘Reverse Discrimination’	367
I. Introduction: the Problem of Reverse Discrimination	367
II. The Relevance of Nationality: a ‘Most Favoured’ Status?	368
III. The Right to Equal Treatment in Situations of Reverse Discrimination	371
A. Applicability of EU Non-discrimination Provisions	371
B. Differentiation Ground: Migrating Versus Non-migrating EU Nationals	372
C. Justification: Compliance with Obligations of EU Law	372
IV. Dutch Case Law	374
V. Reverse Discrimination under the Act on Integration Abroad	375
VI. Concluding Observations	376
Chapter 11. Conclusions	378
I. Integration Requirements as a Condition for Admission	378
A. Integration as a Ground for Exclusion	378
B. Integration Versus Admission: a Balancing of Interests	379
C. Integration and Equality	382
II. Integration Objectives and the Content of Integration Requirements	384
A. Concepts of Integration	384
B. Legal Standards Concerning Integration Objectives and the Contents of Integration Requirements	385
III. The Act on Integration Abroad in Relation to (Inter) National Immigration Law	386
Bibliography	391
Index	401