

Contents

Summary Contents	v
List of Contributors	xiii
Introduction	1
PART ONE ECONOMIC GOVERNANCE	11
1. Much More Than Trade: The Common Commercial Policy in a Global Context	13
Joris Larik
I. Introduction.....	13
II. The CCP as a Corollary of the Internal Market	17
A. The GATT compatibility of the internal market.....	17
B. Defending the internal market.....	19
C. Extending (parts of) the internal market.....	21
III. The CCP as a Vehicle for Foreign Policy.....	23
A. Ensuring the EU's trade benefits abroad	24
B. Shaping of foreign governance through trade	25
C. Reproducing the EU's own model through trade.....	30
IV. The CCP as Contributor to Constitutionalisation	34
A. The EU and the Uruguay Round.....	34
B. WTO law obligations and the Union legal order.....	37
C. The EU, the WTO and the multiplicity of 'constitutional' claims	40
V. Conclusion	45
2. Capital Market Openness After Financial Turmoil	47
Eilis Ferran
I. Introduction.....	47
II. Background: Where We Were	49
III. The Financial Crisis and the Immediate Aftermath.....	51
IV. Regulatory Strategies for Opening Up International Capital Markets.....	54
V. Mechanisms for the Development of Market-Opening Regulatory Strategies	57
A. International standard-setting.....	57
B. Bilateral regulatory dialogues: the transatlantic dialogue	59
C. Parallel avenues	61

VI. Accounting Standards	62
A. International Financial Reporting Standards.....	62
B. Equivalence: an alternative way forward	70
VII. International Mutual Recognition.....	71
VIII. Conclusions.....	80
3. When is Migration not Migration? Examining Services in the EU and GATS	81
Elspeeth Guild
I. Introduction.....	81
II. Service Provision Among the Member States and Third Country Nationals	86
III. Labour Migration and EU Service Provision	90
IV. Working Conditions and Posted Workers in the EU	95
V. GATS and the Worker/Personnel Division	97
A. The international community opens borders!	98
B. Migrants and GATS	100
VI. Conclusions.....	103
4. Diplomacy by Directive? An Analysis of the International Context of the Emissions Trading Scheme Directive	105
Hans Vedder
I. A Tragedy of the Commons and Climate Change	105
II. The External Dimension of EU Environmental Policy.....	108
III. The Energy and Climate Package.....	109
IV. The External Dimension of the Emissions Trading Scheme Directive	115
A. Extraterritorial protective elements.....	115
B. Negotiation elements.....	117
C. Competitiveness elements.....	120
V. Conclusions: the Failure of Diplomacy by Directive	122
PART TWO POLITICAL GOVERNANCE	125
5. The EU and the International Legal Order: The Case of Human Rights	127
Bruno De Witte
I. Introduction.....	127
II. Judicial Interconnections: The European Court of Justice as a Human Rights Actor.....	128
A. Judicial reference to the European Convention on Human Rights	128
B. Judicial reference to other international instruments	132

III. Non-Judicial Interconnections: The Role of International Human Rights in the External and Internal Policies of the EU Institutions.....	135
A. The European Union as a party to international human rights treaties.....	135
B. Human rights policy in the pre-accession context	138
C. External human rights policy more generally.....	141
D. The EU Charter as a barrier to the domestic impact of international human rights instruments?.....	143
IV. Conclusion	146
6. The European Union and the Rest of the World: Criminal Law and Policy Interconnections	149
Valsamis Mitsilegas
I. Introduction.....	149
II. The European Union and the United Nations	149
A. Interconnections in the field of money laundering law—the 1988 Vienna Convention and Community law	150
B. Interconnections in the field of the law on transnational organised crime—the 2000 Palermo Convention and Community/Union law	152
C. Interconnections in the field of the law of corruption: the 2003 Convention on Corruption and the EC/EU	160
III. The European Union and the Council of Europe	165
A. Interconnections in the field of judicial cooperation in criminal matters	166
B. Interconnections in the field of substantive criminal law	167
C. Interconnections in the field of the protection of fundamental rights in the criminal justice process.....	171
IV. The European Union and the Financial Action Task Force	173
V. Conclusion	178
7. The Principle of Legality, Human Rights and the Management of Risks: Post-Kadi Reflections	179
Takis Tridimas
I. Introduction.....	179
II. The judgment in Kadi	180
III. Validity and Interpretation of Regulation No 881/2002	183
A. Issues of validity.....	183
B. Issues of interpretation.....	185
C. Sanctions against nuclear proliferation.....	188

IV. The UK Supreme Court and the Search for ‘Older, Nobler More Enduring Values’	191
A. The TO	192
B. The AQO	194
C. Assessment of the judgment	196
D. Influence of EU law	199
V. Conclusion	201
PART THREE SECURITY GOVERNANCE	203
8. Europe’s Counter-terrorism Law(s): Outlines of a Critical Approach	205
Jan Klabbers
I. Introduction	205
II. The International Law on Terrorism.....	206
III. The European Strategy	211
A. Prevention.....	214
B. Protection.....	215
C. Pursue.....	215
D. Respond.....	216
E. Tensions within the strategy	216
IV. The Legal Instruments	217
A. The foreign policy dimension	217
B. The Union dimension	219
C. The justice dimension	220
V. Coherence	223
VI. Conclusion	224
9. Reflections on European Effective Multilateralism and the Use of Force.....	225
Per Cramér
I. New Perceptions of Threat and Defence	225
II. The UN Framework.....	227
III. UN Crisis Management after the End of the Cold War.....	229
IV. The Question of Humanitarian Intervention.....	231
V. Effective Multilateralism—A Conditional European Loyalty to the UN System.....	235
VI. Concrete Cooperation Between the EU and the UN.....	238
VII. Potential Structural Effects of the Union’s Conditional Loyalty to the United Nations	241
VIII. Potential Repercussions on the Multilateral Legal Order	242
IX. Conditional Loyalty as a Political Argument.....	244
X. Conditional Loyalty Formulated in the Judicial Arena.....	244
XI. Final Reflections	246

10. The Non-proliferation Policy of the European Union	249
Panos Koutrakos
I. Introduction	249
II. Horizontal Principles Governing EU Non-proliferation Policy	250
A. Commitment to effective multilateralism	250
1. Universalisation of relevant international treaties	251
2. Reinforcement of the role of the United Nations.....	251
3. Provision of financial and technical support for specific projects carried out in the context of international non-proliferation treaties aiming to enhance compliance.....	253
4. Export controls	254
(i) Armaments.....	254
(ii) Dual-use goods.....	256
5. Other measures	258
B. Broad construction of security	259
C. Cross-pillar	260
D. The Union's understanding of its own role.....	262
III. Vertical Principles Governing EU Non-proliferation Policy	263
A. Mainstreaming and the case of non-proliferation clauses	263
B. Proceduralisation and institutionalisation.....	265
C. The quest for coherence	266
IV. Inter-institutional Tensions and Judicialisation	269
V. Conclusion	272
PART FOUR EUROPEAN AND GLOBAL INTEGRATION PROCESS	273
11. Values in EU Foreign Policy	275
Marise Cremona
I. Introduction	275
II. Values, Principles and Objectives in the EU Treaties	278
A. Foundation values	278
B. Common values.....	279
C. Values, principles and objectives in the Treaty of Lisbon.....	280
III. Values and Identity.....	281
A. A condition of membership.....	281
B. Values as a source of Union law.....	283
C. Importing values and norms	285
D. The EU as a model for values.....	291
IV. Promoting Values	292
A. Promoting values via technical assistance	293
B. Promoting values via unilateral trade instruments	295
C. Promoting values via non-binding instruments.....	296

D. Shared values as a basis for developing a relationship.....	300
E. Shared values as an essential element of a contractual relationship	303
V. Building Values	307
A. Consensus-building.....	308
B. Decision-shaping and treaty-making.....	311
VI. Conclusion.....	313
12. Principled Monism and the Normative Conception of Coercion under International Law.....	317
George Pavlakos and Joost Pauwelyn
I. Introduction	317
II. The Problem	319
III. Law's Force	325
A. A Kantian premise	326
B. The sparse connection thesis	327
C. The relevance of coercion	329
IV. Law's Sources	330
A. Institutions, morality and law's sources	331
V. Principled Monism in International Law	333
A. Two conceptions of international law	334
1. The model of authority.....	335
2. The model of reasons.....	336
VI. Concluding Remarks and Future Agenda.....	339
Index	343