

Contents

Introduction	xv
Regulating Culture: Problems and Perspectives Justin O'Brien and George Gilligan	xv
Part One: Regulating Culture in the Financial Sector – Structural and Historical Dimensions	1
1: The Culture of Financial Institutions: The Institution of Political Economy David A Westbrook	3
2: 'Bad' Behaviour in International Financial Markets: National and Multilateral Perspectives George Gilligan	21
3: Back to the Future: James M Landis, Regulatory Purpose and the Rationale for Intervention in Capital Markets Justin O'Brien	41
Part Two: Regulating Culture in the Financial Sector – Incentives and Integrity	63
4: The Regulation of Self-interest in Financial Markets David Campbell and Joan Loughrey	65
5: Sanctions, Incentives and Better Behaved Banks Bob Ferguson	91
6: The Libor Scandal: Culture, Corruption and Collective Action Problems in the Global Banking Sector Seumas Miller	111
Part Three: Regulating Culture in the Financial Sector post-Libor	129
7: The World's Most Important Number: How a Web of Skewed Incentives, Broken Hierarchies, and Compliance Cultures Conspired to Undermine Libor Eric Talley and Samantha Strimling	131
8: The Future Role and Power of the Bank of England Andrew Campbell and Judith Dahlgreen	143
9: The Sword of Damocles: Deferred Prosecutions and the Search for Accountability Justin O'Brien	161

10: Regulating the Legal Profession: A Prototype for Change	179
Steve Mark and Tahlia Gordon
Part Four: Regulating Culture in the Financial Sector – Realities and Limitations	201
11: The Fiduciary Idea in Financial Services Law	203
Pamela F Hanrahan
12: Class Actions and Regulating Culture in Financial Organisations: Observations from a Comparison of US and Australian Bank Class Actions	229
Michael Legg
13: Corporate Criminal Liability: The Influence of Corporate Culture	251
Olivia Dixon
Conclusion	269
Cultures of Redemptive Finance	269
John Braithwaite	