

Detailed Contents

Preface	vii
Contents Summary	ix
Detailed Contents	xi
Contributors	xxiii
Abbreviations	xxix
Part 1: Fundamental Issues	1
1 Guide for Regulating Dispute Resolution (GRDR): Principles Felix Steffek and Hannes Unberath (coordinators), Lin Adrian, Aldo De Matteis, Giuseppe De Palo, Frédérique Ferrand, Reinhard Greger, Jana Härtling, Ulrike Janzen, Shusuke Kakiuchi, Lars Kirchhoff, Peter G Mayr, Isaak Meier, Kristin Nemeth, Machteld Pel, Anneken K Sperr and Ivan Verougstraete	3
I. Dispute Resolution Mechanisms	4
A. Choice of Procedure	4
B. Regulating Dispute Resolution	5
C. Functional and Modular Approach	5
D. Policy Choice	5
E. Principles	5
II. Infrastructure and Framework	6
III. Costs	6
A. General	6
B. Cost Subsidies	6
C. Legal Aid	6
IV. Dispute Resolution Clauses	7
A. General	7
B. Specifics	7
V. Choice of Dispute Resolution Procedure	7
A. General	7
B. Centralised or Decentralised Approach	7
C. Sanctions	7
D. Transfer to Other Dispute Resolution Mechanisms	8
E. Good Practice	8
VI. Confidentiality	8
A. General	8
B. Regulatory Tools and Approaches	8
VII. Limitation and Prescription Periods	8
VIII. Neutral	8
A. General	8

B. Neutrality	9
C. Qualification	9
IX. Procedure	9
X. Counsel	9
XI. State (Judicial) Review of Results	9
XII. Enforceability	10
XIII. Transparency	10
XIV. Consumers	10
XV. Rule-maker	10
XVI. Type of Rules	10
A. General	10
B. Good Practice	11
XVII. Procedure Design	11
2 Guide for Regulating Dispute Resolution (GRDR): Principles and Comments	13
Felix Steffek and Hannes Unberath (coordinators), Lin Adrian, Aldo De Matteis, Giuseppe De Palo, Frédérique Ferrand, Reinhard Greger, Jana Härtling, Ulrike Janzen, Shusuke Kakiuchi, Lars Kirchhoff, Peter G Mayr, Isaak Meier, Kristin Nemeth, Machteld Pel, Annelien K Sperr and Ivan Verougstraete
I. Dispute Resolution Mechanisms	15
A. Choice of Procedure	15
B. Regulating Dispute Resolution	15
C. Functional and Modular Approach	16
D. Policy Choice	17
E. Principles	17
II. Infrastructure and Framework	18
III. Costs	18
A. General	18
B. Cost Subsidies	19
C. Legal Aid	19
IV. Dispute Resolution Clauses	20
A. General	20
B. Specifics	20
V. Choice of Dispute Resolution Procedure	21
A. General	21
B. Centralised or Decentralised Approach	21
C. Sanctions	22
D. Transfer to Other Dispute Resolution Mechanisms	22
E. Good Practice	23
VI. Confidentiality	23
A. General	23
B. Regulatory Tools and Approaches	24
VII. Limitation and Prescription Periods	24
VIII. Neutral	25
A. General	25
B. Neutrality	25

C. Qualification	25
IX. Procedure	27
X. Counsel	27
XI. State (Judicial) Review of Results	27
XII. Enforceability	28
XIII. Transparency	28
XIV. Consumers	29
A. General	29
B. Specifics	29
XV. Rule-maker	30
A. General	30
B. Choice	30
XVI. Type of Rules	30
A. General	30
B. Good Practice	31
XVII. Procedure Design	31
3 Principled Regulation of Dispute Resolution: Taxonomy, Policy, Topics	33
Felix Steffek
I. Principled Regulation	34
A. Introduction	34
B. Desirability	34
C. Challenge	35
D. Approach	35
II. Taxonomy	36
A. Matrix	36
B. Design	37
C. Extending the Matrix	40
D. Modules and Differentiation	40
III. Policy	43
A. Normative Individualism	43
B. Consequences of Normative Individualism	45
C. Freedom, Equality, Efficiency	46
D. Balance and Dynamic	48
IV. Topics	50
A. Identification	50
B. Essential Topics	51
V. Principles	51
A. From Taxonomy, Policy and Topics to Principles	51
B. Examples	52
C. Diversity	55
VI. Conclusion	56
A. Summary	56
B. Further Research	58
Bibliography	59

Part 2: Regulation of Dispute Resolution	63
4 Regulation of Dispute Resolution in Austria: A Traditional Litigation Culture Slowly Embraces ADR	65
Peter G Mayr and Kristin Nemeth
I. Characteristics of ADR	65
A. Current Situation in Austria	65
B. Appropriateness of Dispute Resolution Form	66
II. The Legislator's Approach	67
A. The Regulation of ADR in General	67
B. Incentives to Use Certain Types of ADR	68
C. The Role of Legal Culture	69
D. Advisory Duties of Lawyers	69
E. Restriction of Access to Court with a View to Alternative Dispute Resolution	69
F. Referral to ADR	74
G. The Regulation of ADR and Constitutional/Human Rights Law	74
H. ADR and International (Soft) Law	75
III. Approach towards Specific ADR Instruments	75
A. Negotiation	75
B. Mediation	76
C. Conciliation	81
D. Expert Opinions	82
E. Arbitration	85
IV. Policy Questions	86
Bibliography	89
5 Regulation of Dispute Resolution in Belgium: Workable Solutions?	93
Ivan Verougstraete
I. Characteristics of ADR	93
A. Commonly Deployed Dispute Resolution Procedures	93
B. Does the Market Work?	96
II. General Approach of the Legislator as Regards the Regulation of ADR and Adjudication	96
A. Existing Regulations	96
B. Incentives to Use Certain Types of ADR	97
C. Restriction of Access to Courts as an Incentive	98
III. Approach towards Specific ADR Instruments	99
A. Negotiation	99
B. Mediation	100
C. Conciliation	110
D. Expert Opinion	110
E. Arbitration	111
IV. Policy Recommendations	112
Bibliography	113

6	Regulation of Dispute Resolution in Denmark: Mediation, Arbitration, Boards and Tribunals	115
	Lin Adrian
	I. Introduction	115
	II. Mediation	116
	A. Court-connected Mediation of Civil Cases	118
	B. Public Sector Mediation in Family Matters	120
	C. Mediation in Other Areas	123
	III. Arbitration	125
	IV. Boards and Tribunals	128
	V. Incentives to Use ADR	129
	VI. Regulation of Mediation and Policy Matters	130
	Bibliography	132
7	Regulation of Dispute Resolution in England and Wales: A Sceptical Analysis of Government and Judicial Promotion of Private Mediation	135
	Hazel Genn, Shiva Riahi and Katherine Fleming
	I. Introduction	136
	II. Overview of Modern ADR Policy and Development	136
	A. Definitions	136
	B. Mediation Policy Development	138
	C. Judicial Promotion of Mediation in Civil Justice Reform	141
	D. Pre-action Protocols	142
	E. Court-attached Mediation Schemes	143
	F. Judicial Development of Mediation Law	143
	G. Government Policy	144
	H. Mandatory Mediation in Civil Disputes	146
	I. Learning from Court-attached Mediation Schemes	147
	J. The Future of Mediation Policy	148
	K. Mediation and the Withdrawal of Legal Aid	150
	L. Judiciary and Government—a Parting of the Ways?	151
	III. The ADR Landscape	153
	A. Processes	153
	B. Providers	153
	C. The Funding of ADR	154
	D. Arbitration	154
	E. Current Regulation of Arbitration	155
	F. Mediation	156
	G. Civil/Commercial Disputes	157
	H. Court-based Mediation Schemes	157
	I. Commercial Court ADR Orders	158
	J. The Court of Appeal Mediation Scheme (CAMS)	158
	K. Low-value Civil Disputes	159
	L. Construction Disputes	160
	M. Expert Determination	160
	N. Workplace Mediation	161
	O. Family Disputes	162

P. Mediation in Judicial Review Cases	163
Q. Community/Neighbourhood Mediation	164
R. Mediation in the Criminal Justice System	165
S. UK Regulation of Mediation	165
T. EU Regulation of Mediation	166
U. What are the Duties of Mediators?	168
V. Should There Be More Regulation of ADR?	169
W. Quasi-regulatory/Supervisory Bodies	171
Bibliography	172
8 Regulation of Dispute Resolution in France: Evolutions and Challenges Frédérique Ferrand	175
I. Characteristics of ADR	176
A. Dispute Resolution Procedures Most Commonly Deployed in France	176
B. Strength and Weaknesses of These Dispute Resolution Mechanisms	177
C. Practical Use and Theoretical Appropriateness	178
II. General Approach of the Legislator as Regards the Regulation of ADR and Adjudication	178
A. Regulation of ADR	178
B. Incentives to Use Certain Types of ADR	181
C. Restriction of Access to Courts with a View to Alternative Dispute Resolution	184
D. Impact of Human Rights Law on the Regulation of ADR	186
E. No Influence of the UNCITRAL Model Law on International Commercial Conciliation	186
F. Special Rules for Consumers	187
III. Approach towards Specific ADR Instruments	189
A. Negotiation	189
B. Mediation	190
C. Conciliation	196
D. Expert Opinion	199
E. Arbitration	200
IV. Policy Recommendations	203
A. Necessity to Regulate ADR with Regard to its Connection with Civil Justice	203
B. Nature of State Intervention in Supporting ADR	203
C. Costs of Conflict Resolution	203
D. Promotion of ADR Mechanisms by the State	204
E. Effective Approaches for the Parties/Decision-makers to Understand at an Early Stage What the Conflict is About and to Which Forum it Should Go	204
F. ADR Should Not Be a Compulsory Pre-trial Procedure	205
Bibliography	206

9	Regulation of Dispute Resolution in Germany: Cautious Steps towards the Construction of an ADR System	209
	Burkhard Hess and Nils Pelzer
	I. Characteristics of ADR	210
	A. Overview—Statistical Data	210
	B. Strengths and Weaknesses of the Different Dispute Resolutions Mechanisms	213
	C. The Need for an ADR Market	213
	II. The Regulation of ADR	214
	A. General Regulation of ADR	214
	B. Incentives	216
	C. Restriction of Access to Courts	218
	D. The Impact of Constitutional Law	220
	E. The Impact of the UNCITRAL Model Law on International Commercial Conciliation (2002)	220
	F. ADR and Consumer Protection	221
	III. Specific ADR Instruments	221
	A. Negotiation	221
	B. Mediation	222
	C. Conciliation	231
	D. Expert Opinion	233
	E. Arbitration	234
	IV. Policy Recommendations	235
	Bibliography	236
10	Regulation of Dispute Resolution in Italy: The Bumps in the Road to Successful ADR	239
	Giuseppe De Palo and Ashley E. Oleson
	I. Characteristics of ADR	240
	A. Dispute Resolution Procedures Most Commonly Deployed in Italy	240
	B. Strengths and Weaknesses of Certain Dispute Resolution Mechanisms	242
	C. Practical Use and Theoretical Appropriateness—The Market of ADR	243
	II. Regulatory Approach as Regards ADR and Adjudication	244
	A. Regulation of ADR	244
	B. Incentives to Use Certain Types of ADR	245
	C. Restriction of Access to Courts with a View to Alternative Dispute Resolution	249
	D. Constraints of ADR Regarding Constitutional and Human Rights Law	250
	E. Special Rules for Consumers and the UNCITRAL Model Law on International Commercial Conciliation	251
	III. Approach towards Specific ADR Instruments	251
	A. Negotiation	251
	B. Mediation	252
	C. Conciliation	261

D. Expert Opinion	261
E. Arbitration	261
IV. Policy Questions	262
A. Costs of ADR	262
B. Promotion of ADR Mechanisms by the State	264
C. Election of the Appropriate Conflict Forum	264
D. The Future of Mandatory Mediation Legislation	264
Bibliography	266
Legal Sources	267
11 Regulation of Dispute Resolution in Japan: Alternative Dispute Resolution and its Background	269
Shusuke Kakiuchi
I. Overview of the Dispute Resolution Mechanisms in Japan	269
A. Litigation	270
B. Court-annexed Mediation (Conciliation)	271
C. ADR Services by Administrative Organs	273
D. Private ADR Services	274
E. Relative Strengths and Weaknesses of Each Dispute Resolution Mechanism	277
F. Conclusion	278
II. The Japanese Legislator's Approach as Regards the Regulation of ADR	279
A. Promotion of Use of ADR	279
B. Motives to Regulate ADR Procedures	281
C. Constraints as Regards the Regulation of ADR Resulting from Constitutional Law	284
III. Regulation of Specific ADR Instruments	284
A. Overview	284
B. Mediation	285
C. Negotiation	290
D. Arbitration	292
IV. Some Remarks on Policy Questions	293
A. Justifications for the Regulation of ADR	293
B. Forms and Nature of Regulation	293
Bibliography	296
12 Regulation of Dispute Resolution in the Netherlands: Does Regulation Support or Hinder the Use of ADR?	297
Machteld Pel
I. Use of Dispute Resolution Mechanisms in the Netherlands	298
A. Characteristics of Netherlands Dispute Resolution Mechanisms and Statistics	298
B. Strengths and Weaknesses and Appropriateness of Various Dispute Resolution Mechanisms	301
C. Practical Use and Theoretical Appropriateness Differ—The Market Does Not Really Work	304

II.	General Approach of the Legislator with Regard to the Regulation of ADR and Adjudication	308
	A. Regulation of Various Mechanisms of ADR	308
	B. Incentives to Use Certain Types of ADR	314
	C. Court-annexed Mediation in the Netherlands	316
III.	Approach towards Specific ADR Instruments	319
	A. Negotiation	319
	B. Mediation	320
	C. Conciliation	321
	D. Expert Opinion	322
	E. Arbitration	322
IV.	Policy Questions	323
	A. Should ADR Be Regulated at All?	323
	B. Regulation Should Be Limited to Providing a General Legal Framework for Particular ADR Procedures	324
	C. Triage and Conflict Diagnosis System	325
	D. Cost Aspects of Regulation	325
	E. Minimal Regulation, Restricted to Quality Standards and Referral Procedures	326
	F. Set an Example and Stimulate Training and Knowledge of Conflict Management	326
	G. Enforcement and Mediation Clauses	327
	H. Responsibility for the Choice of a Conflict Resolution Mechanism	327
	Bibliography	327
13	Regulation of Dispute Resolution in Norway: Vertical and Horizontal Regulatory Strategies	329
	Anneken Kari Sperr
I.	Introduction to the Characteristics of ADR in Norway Today	330
	A. Most Commonly Deployed ADR Procedures	330
	B. Relative Strengths and Weaknesses	330
	C. Theoretical Appropriateness and Practical Use	333
II.	General Approach of the Legislator as Regards the Regulation of ADR and Adjudication	334
	A. Regulation of ADR	334
	B. Incentives to use ADR	335
	C. ADR as a Restriction of Access to Courts	339
	D. Special Rules for Consumer Disputes	341
III.	Approach towards Specific ADR Instruments	342
	A. Negotiation	342
	B. Mediation	343
	C. Conciliation	349
	D. Expert Opinion	349
	E. Arbitration	350
	F. Hybrid Methods	351
IV.	Policy Questions	355
	A. ADR Regulation—The Discussion so Far	355

B.	Scope of Regulation for Specific ADR Procedures	356
C.	Level of State Engagement—ADR as Alternative Resolution or as an Element of the State Civil Justice System	356
D.	Appropriate Allocation of Costs	357
E.	Effective Approaches for Clarifying Conflicts and their Most Appropriate Resolution Forum	357
F.	ADR as a Compulsory Pre-trial Procedure versus Less Invasive Measures	357
	Bibliography	359
14	Regulation of Dispute Resolution in Switzerland: Mediation, Conciliation and Other Forms of ADR in Switzerland	363
	Isaak Meier in cooperation with Miguel Sogo, Sotirios Kotronis, Sarah Scheiwiller, David Siegwart, Claudia Wyss, Dheden Zotsang and Carlo Hamburger
I.	Different Forms of ADR in Switzerland and their Significance	364
A.	Introduction	364
B.	Out-of-court or Court Settlement through Negotiation between the Parties	367
C.	Pre-trial Conciliation and Settlement Conferences at Court	368
D.	Judgment Proposal	373
E.	Mediation	375
F.	ADR Procedures for Consumer Disputes	385
II.	General Approach of the Legislator as Regards the Regulation of ADR and Adjudication	392
A.	In General	392
B.	Incentives to Use Certain Types of ADR	393
C.	Restriction of Access to Court with a View to ADR	395
D.	The Influence of Constitutional/Human Rights Law on ADR Regulations	396
E.	The Influence of the UNCITRAL Model Law on International Commercial Conciliation (2002) on the Drafting of Legislation	397
F.	Special Rules for Consumers and Their Development	398
III.	Regulation of Specific ADR Instruments	398
A.	Resolving Disputes by Negotiation	398
B.	Mediation	399
C.	Conciliation	403
D.	ADR Procedures for Consumer Disputes	404
E.	Expert Opinion ( Schiedsgutachten )	406
F.	Arbitration	407
IV.	Policy Recommendations	409
A.	Introduction	409
B.	Which Forms of ADR Should Be Supported by the Legislator?	409
C.	From the Right of Access to Justice to the Right of Access to a Fair Dispute Resolution	410
D.	Regulation of Conciliation as a Part of the Process of Adjudication	411
E.	Regulation of Mediation	412

F. Regulation of ADR Procedures for Consumer Disputes	413
G. Costs of ADR	414
H. 'Triage' for Adjudication, Conciliation and Mediation	415
Bibliography	415
15 Regulation of Dispute Resolution in the United States of America: From the Formal to the Informal to the 'Semi-formal'	419
Carrie Menkel-Meadow
I. Introduction: History and Characteristics of Dispute Resolution in the US: Formalism, Informalism and 'Semi-formalism' with and without Regulation	419
II. The Characteristics of 'Formal' Justice	428
III. Informal Justice in the US	430
IV. 'Semi-formal' Justice in the US	434
V. What Little We Know about Dispute Resolution Use and Regulation	441
VI. Assessing Justice in Plural Procedural Practices	446
Bibliography	449