

Table of Contents

About the Author	v
Foreword	xvii
Acknowledgments	xxi
List of Abbreviations	xxiii
Introduction	1
CHAPTER 1
The Emerging of E-commerce in China, Its Contribution to Fostering Internal Consumptions and the Impact of the Internet on Our Society	5
§1.01 How E-commerce Is Regulated in China and the Lack of Uniformity in the Legal Framework Regulating Online Activities	6
[A] The New Initiative by the SIAC to Rationalize the Legal System Regulating Online Transactions and the New Rules by the Standing Committee of the NPC (December 2012)	8
[B] The China Internet Network Information Center (CNNIC): General Introduction	9
[1] Obtaining an Internet Domain Name	11
[C] Internet Helps Reduce Entry Barriers to Chinese Market	12
§1.02 Selling Online and the Use of the ICP (Internet Content Provider) License: General Introduction	13
[A] Some Clarifications on the Operation of a Website and Business Models	14
[B] Online Business Models	15
[1] Selling via a Stand-Alone Website outside China	15
[a] Pro and Con	15
[2] Selling via a Stand-Alone Website in China	15

	[a] Pro and Con	16
	[3] Selling via a Third-Party Platform outside China	16
	[4] Selling via a Third-Party Platform in China	16
	[a] Pro and Con	17
	[5] Foreign Giant Involved in Direct Selling in China Is Looking at E-commerce to Expand Its Activity	18
§1.03	Dimension and Potential of this New Channel of Distribution	18
	[A] Size and Demographic Structure of Internet Users (the So-Called Netizen)	22
	[B] Understanding Chinese Online Consumers and Their Behavior	22
§1.04	Some Real Examples: How Online Sales Boost the Success of a Company Engaging in E-commerce	24
	[A] E-commerce Platforms: The Starting Point to Expand an Online Business	24
	[1] Alibaba: A Giant Chinese E-commerce Platform	24
	[2] Alibaba Is Preparing its First IPO in 2013	25
	[3] Microsoft Launches Online Store on Tmall	27
	[B] Examples of Successful Use of the Online Modality to Expand Business in China	28
	[1] Xiaomi Corporation (Mobile Phone Industry)	28
	[2] Huawei Technologies Co Ltd. (Telecom Equipment)	29
	[3] HTC Corporation	29
	[4] The Example of Shenzhen to Boost Local Economy Using E-commerce	30
	[5] A Small Village Becomes Global with E-commerce	32
§1.05	The Importance of Accessibility to the Internet and the Impact on Today Life	33
	[A] The Expansion of the Areas where It Is Possible to Access the Internet	34
	[B] Security Concerns (for Hotspots)	35
	[C] Consequences for the Firms Producing Network Equipment	35
	[D] Chinese Telecom Companies Huawei and ZTE Pose National Security Threat, Says U.S. Committee	36
§1.06	How the Internet and Its Associated Services are Evolving in China Thanks to the Enhanced Connectivity	37
	[A] How Important Is the Latest Computing Technology (Cloud Computing) for China	40
	[B] The Need for a Better Regulatory Legal Environment	41
CHAPTER 2
Concluding Contracts Online: A Comparison with the EU System and International Initiatives to Foster E-commerce
§2.01	How E-commerce Is Developing in China and the Relevance of Contract Law	43

	[A] The Relevance of the Contract Law when Buying Online: Introduction	45
§2.02	International Initiatives to Foster the Development of E-commerce: A Brief Overview	46
§2.03	The Main Aspects of Online Contracting	47
	[A] Invitation to Treat, Offer and Acceptance	47
	[B] Advantages and Disadvantages of Online Shopping	49
§2.04	How E-commerce Is Regulated in the EU: The Importance of the So-Called E-Commerce Directive, and the other EU Initiatives	50
	[A] E-Commerce Directive: Contractual Aspects	52
	[B] The Relevance of the Distance Selling Directive	55
	[C] The E-signature Directive and Its Contribution to the Development of E-commerce	57
	[D] New Initiative to Foster E-commerce in the EU	58
§2.05	How the European Union Is Building a Real, Coherent Digital Single Market to Sustain Its Economy	60
	[A] Strategies Adopted by the EU for Reaching Its Objective by 2015	61
	[B] Cross-Border Offer of Online Services	62
	[C] Payments and Delivery Systems	62
	[D] Improve Operator Information and Consumer Protection	63
	[E] Contrasting Abuses and Resolving Disputes Effectively	64
	[F] The Use of High-Speed Networks and Advanced Technological Solutions	66
	[G] What Holds Consumers Back from Buying Online	67
§2.06	European Consumer Centres: Some Specifications	67
§2.07	Prospects for E-commerce	68
§2.08	The Problem of Taxation for E-commerce: Key Points	69
	[A] Direct Taxation Issues and the Problem of Permanent Establishment	71
	[B] Consumption Tax Issues (Indirect Taxation), Some Considerations	72
CHAPTER 3
Privacy and Data Protection in China when Contracting Online: The Current Situation in the Main Land China and the EU Model
§3.01	The Protection of Personal Data: Current Situation in China, Applicable Laws and Regulations	78
	[A] General Applicable Laws and Some Clarifications about the New "Code of Conduct" for Personal Data Protection	79
	[B] Measures for the Administration of Internet Information Services, and Its Amendments	81
	[1] What's New with Amendments?	82

[2]	Violation of the Obligation of Confidentiality: Consequences	82
[C]	The Several Provisions on Regulating Market Orders of Internet Information Services (MIIT Provisions 2012)	83
[1]	Content and Features of the MIIT Provision 2012	83
[2]	Other Legislation Related to Internet Privacy	85
[D]	New Personal Data Protection Guidelines: Information Security Technology: Guide of Personal Information Protection	86
[1]	The Guidelines and their Scope	87
[2]	General Principles Contained in the Guidelines	87
[3]	Transferring of Personal Information	87
[a]	Presumption against Transfer to Third Parties	88
[b]	Presumption against Allowing Cross-Border Transfer of Personal Information	88
[c]	Use of Personal Information Following Mergers or Acquisitions	88
[4]	Irrelevant Personal Information	89
[5]	Other Rights of Data Subjects under the New Guidelines	89
[6]	Prohibition on Collecting Personal Information about Children without Their Guardian's Consent	89
[E]	The New Rules by the Standing Committee of the National People's Congress to Protect Privacy	90
§3.02	The EU Model: The Importance of Data Protection in Doing Business over the Internet – The Data Protection Directive	92
[A]	Protection of Data by the Community Institutions and Bodies (Reference to Regulation 45/2001)	94
[B]	The European Data Protection Supervisor (Brief Introduction)	95
§3.03	The Scope of Data Protection in the EU	96
[A]	Data Protection Directive: Further Features	96
[B]	Some Specifications on the Directive on Privacy and Electronic Communication	96
[C]	Reform of the Data Protection Legal Framework and the New Proposed Directive	98
§3.04	Trans-Border Data Flows	99
[A]	Safe Harbor Principles: A General Introduction	99
[B]	Standard Contractual Clauses for the Transfer of Personal Data to Third Countries: The EU Commission Decisions	102
§3.05	Final Considerations on Protection of Personal Data	102
CHAPTER 4
Online Payments or E-payments and the Potentiality of the Industry for Operators
§4.01	The Use of E-money: Advantages and Disadvantages	105
§4.02	E-money in China: An Overview of the Different Gateways	106

[A]	POS Payment System	107
[B]	Traditional Accounts with the Optional of the Online Banking	107
[C]	Mobile Payments	108
[D]	Online Payment Methods	108
[E]	Some Considerations about Frauds: A General Introduction	109
§4.03	Payment System Infrastructure in China: A General Introduction	109
§4.04	Building Trust among Chinese Online Consumers and the Role of China UnionPay	110
[A]	The Role of UnionPay: A Private Association with National Relevance for the Electronic Payment Industry	111
[B]	UnionPay Cards Help Yuan (CNY) to Become Increasingly International Currency	113
[C]	Guidelines for E-payment in China	114
[D]	Content of the Guidelines: Some Specifications	115
§4.05	The E-payment Industry in China	120
[A]	Conquering a Portion of the E-payments Market in China	123
[B]	The E-payment Industry in China Is a Monopoly According to a Decision by the WTO	124
[C]	Other Players Entering the E-payment Market: SINA Corporation to Launch Online Payment Service	126
§4.06	The Development of the E-payment Industry and Its Impact on our Daily Lives	126
[A]	Moving towards a World Without Cash	127
§4.07	The EU Initiatives to Regulate the Usage of E-money	128
[A]	The E-money Directive 2000/46/EC and Directive 2009/110/EC: A General Introduction	128
[B]	The Payment Services Directive 2007/64/EC	129
CHAPTER 5
Jurisdiction and Choice of Law: Their Relevance for E-Commerce
§5.01	Why Jurisdiction Is so Important? The Example of the EU with Council Regulation 44/2001	131
[A]	The EU Council Regulation 44/2001 (i.e., the Brussels Regulation): Some Specifications	132
[B]	Avoid Expansive Jurisdictional Claims	134
[C]	Other Jurisdictional Issues: The Distinction between B2B and B2C Contracts	136
[D]	Country of Origin Principle (and Considerations by the ICC)	137
[E]	Country of Destination Principle	139
§5.02	Choice of Law and Forum Selection: The Impact of Rome I and Rome II – their Role in E-commerce	141
[A]	Party Choice of Law	143
[B]	Contractual Obligations: Some Specifications	144
[C]	Rules Applicable to Specific Contracts	144

	[D] Non-contractual Obligations: Relevance of the Choice of Law	147
	[E] Limitations to Party Choice: Relevant Provisions in Rome I and II	149
	[F] Final Considerations on Forum Selection	149
§5.03	Recognition and Enforceability of Judgments	150
§5.04	Online Alternative Dispute Resolution	151
	[A] Consumer Protection in E-commerce	152
	[B] European Schemes for Redress in Online Dispute: General Introduction	154
	[C] New Initiatives to Rationalize ADR in EU	155
	[1] Regulation Establishing an EU-Wide Online Redress Tool for E-commerce	157
	[2] Proposed Directive on ADR: Some Specifications	158
	[D] The Role of Dispute Resolution Service Providers (DRSPs)	159
CHAPTER 6
	The Importance of Online Marketing and Dimension of China's Advertising Market	161
§6.01	Different Models of E-marketing: General Introduction	163
§6.02	Promoting Goods and Services via the Web: Advantages and Disadvantages of Online Marketing	164
	[A] Advantages of Online Marketing	165
	[B] Disadvantages of Online Marketing	166
	[C] The Use of "Cookies" in Online Marketing	166
	[D] The "Google" Case	168
§6.03	Advertising by E-mail and the Problem of the "Spam"	171
§6.04	The European Approach to Tackling with Unsolicited Commercial Messages or "Spam"	172
	[A] The Reform of the Directive 2002/58/EC	173
	[B] The Importance of the "Informed" Consent	174
§6.05	The Growing of the Advertising Industry in China and the Contribution of E-commerce Platforms	175
	[A] The Fragmentation of the Advertising Industry in China	176
	[B] Transition from Traditional to Digital Media and the Consequences for Advertising Industry	178
	[C] The Impressive Growth of Mobile Advertising	178
	[D] Consequences on Online Shoppers	179
§6.06	Consolidation of the Advertising Industry in China	180
§6.07	Final Remarks on the Advertising Industry in China	182
CHAPTER 7
	Protection of Intellectual Property Rights (IPRs) on the Internet	185
§7.01	Intellectual Property Protection and Its Increasing Need over the Internet	186

§7.02	Copyright in the Information Society: The Different Elements to Be Considered when Setting Up a Website	187
	[A] Work Created by Employees and Sub-contractors	188
	[B] Hypertext Links: Does It Configure Infringement of Copyright?	189
	[C] Downloading and Distributing Software and Other Material	189
	[D] Internet Patents: Outline	190
§7.03	Copyright Protection: How It Is Perceived in China and the Main Pieces of Legislation Dealing with It	190
	[A] The Importance of Chinese Culture and Heritage when Applying "Copyright" in the Internet	192
	[B] Actions against Infringers Based on the Content of Chinese Legislation	193
	[1] Administrative Proceedings (or Adjudication)	193
	[2] Civil Actions (i.e., Civil Litigation)	195
	[3] Criminal Prosecution	197
§7.04	The Problem of Protection and Enforcement of IPRs in China and the Cooperation with the EU: Identifying the Issues to Be Addressed	198
	[A] EU-China Project on the Protection of Intellectual Property Rights: Outline	199
	[B] How the Project Works	200
	[C] The Genesis of the Relationship between EU and China in the Field of IPR	201
	[D] Chinese Approach to Intellectual Property Rights and the Need of a Close Cooperation with the EU to Enhance Protection	203
§7.05	The Use of a "Brand Name" on the Internet: Protection of the "Domain Name" (Definition of Cybersquatting)	205
	[A] Domain Name System and Protection of Domain Names: The Role of ICANN and of the China's Domain Name Registration Authority (CNNIC)	206
	[B] The Rules to Solve the Unfair Registration of a Domain Name: Introduction to the ICANN's Rules and to the CNNIC System and CIETAC Domain Name Dispute Resolution Center	208
	[C] Some Specification about the Domain Name Dispute Resolution Center of CIETAC	209
CHAPTER 8
	Computer-Related Offenses: Internet Frauds and the Other Risks when Acting Online	211
§8.01	The Categorization of Online Felonies	211
	[A] Phishing and Internet Banking Frauds	212
	[B] Other Type of Scams	213
	[C] Identity Theft	215

	[1] The Realization of the Identity Theft	215
	[D] How to Protect Yourself against Online Frauds: Some Useful Advices	216
§8.02	Other Offenses: Cyber Security and Hacking as the Main Concerns	217
	[A] Cyber Security and Integrity of Systems	218
	[B] Unauthorized Access (the So-Called Hacking) and the Problem of Jurisdiction	219
	[C] How to Tackle with E-crimes at International Level Considered the Nature of the Internet	221
	[D] Cyber Attacks: Biggest Threat to Internet Security	222
§8.03	Initiatives to Fight E-crimes and the Distorted Use of the "Net"	223
	[A] European Initiatives: Anti-cybercrime Networks, Organizations and Other Initiatives	223
	[1] European Strategy for Internet Security	224
	[a] Specifications: Content of the EU Initiatives	225
	[2] The "Communication from the Commission to the Council and the European Parliament": Tackling Crime in Our Digital Age: Establishing a European Cybercrime Centre	226
	[a] The Initiative in Concrete: Proposal for Setting Up a European Cybercrime Centre	227
	[b] Governance of the EC3	229
	[B] The Chinese Approach and Initiatives for Internet Security	230
	[C] China Seeks Greater Cyber Cooperation	233
§8.04	International Concerns about the Misuse of Cyberspace: Other International Initiatives	234
	[A] An Introduction to the Programmatic Document of the Obama Administration: International Strategy for Cyberspace – Prosperity, Security, and Openness in a Networked World	235
	[B] Cyber Security Strategy in U.K.	238
	[1] Cyber Security Strategy One Year on (December 3, 2012)	239
	[C] Progress towards a Freer and More Secure Cyberspace	240
	Conclusion	243
	APPENDIX I
	Interim Measures for the Administration of Online Commodities Trading and Relevant Services	247
	APPENDIX II
	Several Provisions on Regulation of the Order of Internet Information Service Market	257

	APPENDIX III
	National People's Congress Standing Committee Decision concerning Strengthening Network Information Protection	263
	APPENDIX IV
	UNIONPAY Rules (Electronic Payment Guidelines)	267
	Bibliography	277
	Glossary	289
	Index	293