

Table of Contents

About the IBA	v
About the IBRAC	vii
List of Editors and Contributors	ix
Foreword by Michael J. Reynolds	xxxi
Foreword by Cristianne Zarzur & Tito Andrade	xxxiii
Foreword by Daniel A. Crane	xxxv
Preface	xxxvii
List of Figures	xli
List of Tables	xliii
PART I
Convergence, Takeovers and Mergers in the Communications and Technology Industry: Comparative Experiences	1
CHAPTER 1
Introducing Diversity in EU Merger Control Yvan Desmedt & Philippe Laconte	3
1. Scope of the Commission's Competence to Promote Cultural Diversity and Media Plurality under EU Merger Rules	4
2. The Commission's Restrictive Approach in Relation to Media Plurality in News Corp/BSkyB	7
3. The Commission's Interventionist Approach in Relation to Cultural Diversity, as Shown in Universal/EMI	8
4. The Way Forward, Risks, and Opportunities	10

Table of Contents

CHAPTER 2

Summary of Recent U.S. Enforcement Decisions in Communication/ Entertainment Industry Transactions

Ilene Knable Gotts 13

1. AT&T/T-Mobile 13
2. Verizon/Spectrumco 16
3. Deutsche Telekom/MetroPCS 18
4. Mobile Phone Patent Portfolio Developments 21
 - 4.1. DOJ Mobile Phone Investigations 21
 - 4.2. FTC Google Settlement 23
5. Vivendi\EMI 25

CHAPTER 3

Competition and Regulatory Aspects of Convergence, Takeovers and Mergers in the Communications and Media Industries

Thomas Janssens & Joep Wolfhagen 27

1. Introduction 27
2. Regulatory Changes Are Reflective of Consolidation and Convergence
Trends 28
3. Consolidation in the Mobile Sector 29
 - 3.1. Striking the Right Balance between Competition and Investment
Incentives 29
 - 3.2. Recent EU Practice May Shape the Framework for Further
Consolidation 30
 - 3.3. The Limits of Mobile Consolidation: The US Experience 31
4. Service and Infrastructure Convergence Drive Cable Consolidation 31
 - 4.1. Analysing the Effects of Cable Mergers 32
 - 4.2. Mergers Involving Cable Operators in the EU 32
 - 4.3. US Cable Consolidation 33
5. Conclusion 33

CHAPTER 4

Brazil's Antitrust and Regulatory Reviews of TIM/Telefonica: Lessons Learned

Ana Paula Martinez & Alexandre Ditzel Faraco 35

1. Brief Description of the Telefónica/Telco Transaction 36
2. Regulatory Aspects 36
 - 2.1. Regulatory Framework for Reviewing Transactions in the Telecommunications Sector in Brazil 37
 - 2.2. Why Telefónica's Indirect Equity Interest in TIM Brasil May Be Viewed as Problematic from a Regulatory Perspective 38
 - 2.3. ANATEL's Review of Telefónica/Telco Transaction 40

Table of Contents

3.	Antitrust Review	41
3.1.	Merger Review Framework in Brazil	41
3.2.	CADE's Review of the 2007 Telefónica/Telco Transaction	44
3.3.	CADE's Review of the 2010 Telefónica/Portugal Telecom Transaction and Its Impact on the 2013 Telefónica/Telco Transaction	46
4.	Lessons Learned	47
4.1.	Lesson 1: Behavioral Remedies are Resource-Intensive and Will Likely Be Viewed with Skepticism as a Remedy under Brazil's New Pre-merger Review System	48
4.2.	Lesson 2: The Regulatory and Antitrust Agencies are Expected to Conduct Independent Reviews	48
4.3.	Lesson 3: Minority Shareholdings Raise Substantial Antitrust Concerns	48
4.4.	Lesson 4: Enhanced Skepticism towards the Role of Economics in Minority Shareholdings Cases	49
CHAPTER 5
Changes in the Global Telecommunication Market and Its Implications in Brazil
Gesner Oliveira & Wagner Heibel		51
1.	Scenario 1: Authorization of the Operation That Permits Telefónica to Absorb TIM's Share of the Market	53
2.	Scenario 2: Splitting of TIM And Its Absorption By the Main Competitors	54
3.	Scenario 3: Arrival of a New Player	55
3.1.	AT&T	56
3.2.	VODAFONE	57
3.3.	VIVENDI	58
CHAPTER 6
Mergers in the Canadian Communications Sector: An Increasingly Curious Situation
Lorne Salzman		61
1.	Legal Infrastructure	62
2.	Early Days	62
3.	The Turning Point	63
4.	Merger Law Fallout	64
PART II
Looking Ahead: New Markets and Competitive Hurdles in the Offering of Globalized Services		67

Table of Contents

CHAPTER 7

In Search of a Competition Doctrine for Information Technology Markets: Recent Antitrust Developments in the Online Sector

Jeffrey A. Eisenach & Ilene Knable Gotts 69

1. Introduction 69
2. The IT Challenge to Traditional Antitrust Doctrine 71
 - 2.1. The IT Trifecta: Dynamism, Modularity, Demand-Side Effects 71
 - 2.2. Implications for Enforcement 72
3. From Theory to Practice: Recent Enforcement Review Involving It
(and Related) Markets 76
 - 3.1. Transactions Involving Content Providers 76
 - 3.1.1. Horizontal Theories 77
 - 3.1.2. Vertical Theories 79
 - 3.2. Transactions Involving Database Software 80
 - 3.3. Transactions Involving Hardware, Platforms, or Networks 82
 - 3.4. Transactions Involving Potential Competition and Future
Markets 87
4. Looking Ahead: Some Issues for the Future 88
 - 4.1. Net Neutrality: When (If Ever) Is Ex Ante Regulation
Appropriate? 88
 - 4.2. Big Data and the Internet of Things 89
5. Conclusions 90

CHAPTER 8

The Internet of Things in the Light of Digitalization and Increased Media Convergence

Anna Blume Huttenlauch & Thoralf Knuth 91

1. Introduction 91
2. Digitalization and Convergence as Industry Trends 92
3. Approach of Antitrust Authorities, Namely the European Commission and the German Federal Cartel Office 93
 - 3.1. Content versus Advertising Markets 94
 - 3.2. Online versus Offline 94
 - 3.3. User Reality and Criticism 95
 - 3.4. How Do Competition Authorities Take the Increasing
Competition into Account? 96
 - 3.5. Challenges Ahead 98
4. Beyond Antitrust: The Spamming Fridge 98
5. Legislation and Consultations 99
6. Let Your Car Tell Your Insurer about Your Whereabouts 102
 - 6.1. What Positions Have Been Taken by Authorities and Courts? 104
7. Outlook 104

CHAPTER 9
Dynamic Markets and Competition Policy Bernardo Macedo & Sílvia Fagá De Almeida	107
1. Introduction	107
2. The Competition Environment in Dynamic Markets	108
2.1. Elements That Pose Challenges to Competitors	108
2.2. Elements That Intensify Competition	109
3. Antitrust Enforcement	111
3.1. Relevant Market	111
3.2. Market Power and the Competitive Environment	112
3.3. Efficiencies	114
4. Conclusions	115
Bibliography	116
CHAPTER 10
Recent Antitrust Developments in the Online Sector Federico Marini-Balestra	119
1. Introduction	119
1.1. Over-the-Top Applications and Services Providers	121
2. Net Neutrality vis-à-vis Regulatory and Antitrust	123
2.1. The United States: Is Net Neutrality an Antitrust Domain?	125
2.2. The European Union: A Complementary Use of Antitrust Law and Regulation to Enforce Net Neutrality	127
2.2.1. On the Regulatory Side, “There Are No Clear Rules on Net Neutrality Today at EU Level”, Forbidding All Traffic Management and Data Prioritization	127
2.2.2. Also on the Antitrust Side Net Neutrality Recently Emerged as a Protagonist	129
3. Recent Initiatives in the European Ott Sector	130
3.1.	130
3.2. Online Search Sector	131
3.3. Online Selling	133
4. Conclusions	135
CHAPTER 11
Mobile Payments and Mobile Banking in Brazil: Perspectives from an Emerging Market Márcio Issao Nakane, Camila Yumy Saito & Mariana Oliveira e Silva	137
1. Introduction	137
2. Brazilian Market	138
2.1. Mobile Banking, Mobile Payment	138
2.2. Mobile Phone Evolution in Brazil	140

Table of Contents

2.3.	Financial Inclusion	142
2.3.1.	Recent Development	142
2.3.2.	International Comparative	143
2.3.3.	Crossing between Mobile Phones and Financial System	144
2.3.4.	Important Disparity between Geographic Regions in Brazil	145
3.	Regulatory Framework	147
3.1.	Framework for Regulatory Analysis	148
3.2.	Objectives of Legislation	149
3.3.	Scope of Payment Services	151
4.	Evaluation and Conclusions	152
	Bibliography	153
CHAPTER 12
	Internet of Things: Manufacturing Companies Industry and Use of ‘White Spectrum’: Ghost in the Machine?
	Kurt Tiam & Andy Huang	155
1.	China’s IOT Drive	155
2.	The Case for White Spectrum	156
3.	Allocation of Frequency Spectrum in China	156
4.	Development of IPV6 Addressing	157
5.	Foreign Investment Challenges in the M2M Industry	158
6.	Setting Standards and Antitrust Concerns	159
7.	Data Protection and Data Transfer Concerns	160
8.	Restrictions on Types of Data Transferred	162
9.	Encryption Requirements in China	163
10.	Conclusion	163
PART III
	Intellectual Property and Competition in Electronic Environments	165
CHAPTER 13
	Competitive Aspects of Cloud-Based Services
	Fabrizio Cugia di Sant’Orsola & Silvia Giampaolo	167
1.	Introduction	167
2.	The Structure of Clouds	169
3.	Competitive Aspects	172
3.1.	Standardization	172
3.2.	Licensing and the “Revised” TTBER	174
3.3.	Article 102 TFEU	177
4.	Conclusions	180

CHAPTER 14
Standard-Essential Patents and US Antitrust Law: Light at the End of the Tunnel?
Leon B. Greenfield, Hartmut Schneider & Perry A. Lange
	183
1.	Introduction
	183
2.	Standard-Essential Patent Enforcement
	184
3.	Injunctions Based on Standard-Essential Patents
	186
4.	Antitrust Violations Based on Abuse of Standard-Essential Patents
	189
5.	Determining FRAND Rates
	190
6.	The Ability to Challenge Standard-Essential Patents: Validity/ Infringement/Enforceability
	192
7.	Conclusion
	193
CHAPTER 15
IP and Antitrust: Recent Developments in EU Law
Miguel Rato & Mark English
	195
1.	Introduction
	195
2.	Background
	196
2.1.	Factual Context: Standards, SEPs and FRAND Commitments
	196
2.2.	Theoretical Context: ‘Hold-Up’ and ‘Reverse Hold-Up’
	197
3.	The Samsung and Motorola Decisions
	199
4.	Critical Assessment
	201
5.	Final Remarks
	204
CHAPTER 16
Antitrust Cases Involving Intellectual Property Rights in the Communication and Media Sector in Brazil
Barbara Rosenberg, Luis Bernardo Cascão & Vivian Terng
	207
1.	Introduction
	207
2.	Relevant Precedents Involving IPRs
	208
2.1.	CDs and DVDs: Abuse of Dominant Position and Patent Pool
	208
2.2.	Sham Litigation: Tacographs’ and Shop Tour’s Cases
	209
2.3.	Musical Rights and Copyrights: The ECAD Case
	210
3.	Merger Control In Brazil – General Aspects, Associative Agreements and Licensing IPRs
	212
4.	Merger Control – Communication and Media
	213
4.1.	Phonographic Industry: Music Recording and Music Publishing Market – Universal/EMI and Sony/EMI Case
	214
4.2.	Film Distribution
	214
5.	Final Remarks
	215

Table of Contents

CHAPTER 17

Patents Meet Antitrust Law: The State of Play of the FRAND Defense in Germany

Wolrad Prinz zu Waldeck und Pyrmont 217

1. Background: Standardization and FRAND Licensing Declarations 217
2. Setting the Scene: Peculiarities of the German Patent Litigation System 218
3. The Origin: The Orange Book Standard Decision 220
 - 3.1. Unconditional License Offer on Non-refusable Terms 221
 - 3.2. Compliance with the Obligation under the Prospective License 222
4. The Orange Book's Progeny: Subsequent Application and Extension 223
 - 4.1. Restrictive Interpretation of "Customary License Terms" 224
 - 4.2. The Amount of the FRAND Royalty 225
 - 4.3. Rendering of Accounts and Deposit of License Fees 226
5. The Watershed: Developments on the European Union Level 227
6. Changing Tides?: The Impact of the Commission's Antitrust Investigations in Germany 229
7. Outlook: What Makes a Licensee Willing/Unwilling 230

PART IV

Power over Data 233

CHAPTER 18

The Role of Privacy in a Changing World

Chris Boam 235

1. Privacy Is Nebulous, but Its Function in Society Is Not 236
2. Has Law Bridged the Gap – Assuming That We Know What the "Gap" Is? 238
3. The Sea Change in the Role of Trust 241
4. Where Do We Go from Here? 243

CHAPTER 19

The Transatlantic Perspective: Data Protection and Competition Law

Pamela Jones Harbour 247

1. Introduction 247
2. Data Protection and Competition 248
 - 2.1. Google/DoubleClick and Beyond 248
 - 2.2. Data Protection and Competition: EU 249
3. Three Theories for Evaluating Privacy Issues in a Competition Law Framework 251
 - 3.1. Competition in Privacy Protections 251
 - 3.2. Competition in Technologies to Strengthen User Privacy 253
 - 3.3. Defining a Product Market for Data 253

Table of Contents

4.	Privacy, Competition and the Impact on Consumers	254
5.	Conclusion	255
CHAPTER 20
Power over Data: Brazil in Times of Digital Uncertainty
Floriano De Azevedo Marques Neto, Milene Louise Renée Coscione & Juliana Deguirmendjian		257
1.	Intimacy, Private Life, Honor and Image as Persons' Fundamental Rights	259
2.	Legislation of the Telecommunications Sector in Brazil	261
3.	Brazil's Specific Legislative Initiatives on the Protection and Confidentiality of Data	262
4.	Contributions of International Experience to Brazil	264
	4.1. Canada	265
	4.2. European Union	268
	4.3. Brazil	273
5.	Conclusion	277
CHAPTER 21
Big Data and the Cloud: Privacy and Security Threats of Mass Digital Surveillance?
Lyda Mastrantonio & Natalia Porto		281
1.	Introduction	281
2.	The Cloud – An Evolving Model	282
3.	Cloud and the EU Digital Agenda	284
4.	Users' (Big) Data	285
5.	Privacy and Data Retention	286
6.	Security	288
7.	Conclusion	290
PART V
Open Internet and Net Neutrality		291
CHAPTER 22
Net Neutrality Regulation: A Worldwide Overview and the Chilean Pioneer's Experience
Alfonso Silva & Sebastian Squella		293
1.	Introduction	293
2.	Net Neutrality Concept	295
	2.1. Pros and Cons of Net Neutrality	296
3.	Regulatory Perspective of Net Neutrality	298
	3.1. EE.UU	298

Table of Contents

3.2.	European Commission	299
4.	An Approach to the Chilean Experience	300
4.1.	The Net Neutrality Law	300
4.2.	Content of the Net Neutrality Law	301
4.2.1.	Identification of the Relevant Players Regulated by This Law	301
4.2.2.	Prohibitions and Obligations	301
4.3.	Net Neutrality Special Regulation	302
4.4.	Network Traffic Management	302
4.5.	Main Criticism to the Net Neutrality Law	303
5.	Conclusions	304
CHAPTER 23
Net Neutrality in Singapore: A Fair Game
Chung Nian Lam		305
1.	Introduction	305
2.	Net Neutrality Basic Concepts	306
3.	The Telecoms Regulatory Approach in Singapore	306
3.1.	Licensing Regulation in Singapore	307
3.2.	The TCC's Interconnection and Non-discrimination Obligations	307
4.	The IDA'S Position on Net Neutrality	309
4.1.	No Blocking of Legitimate Internet Content	309
4.2.	Compliance with Competition and Interconnection Rules	309
4.3.	Providing Information Transparency	310
4.4.	Meeting Minimum Quality of Service ('QoS') Standards	310
4.5.	Niche or Differentiated Internet Services Allowed	311
5.	Other Issues	312
5.1.	Pricing Models and Net Neutrality?	312
5.2.	Infrastructure and Net Neutrality	313
6.	Conclusion	314
CHAPTER 24
Internet Regulation in Brazil: The Network Neutrality Issue
Lauro Celidonio Gomes dos Reis Neto, Fabio Ferreira Kujawski & Thays Castaldi Gentil		317
1.	Purpose	317
2.	Brief Summary of Internet History	317
3.	Network Neutrality: History and Concept	319
4.	Network Neutrality Regulation	322
4.1.	Europe	323
4.2.	United States	324
4.3.	Brazil	326
5.	Conclusion	327

CHAPTER 25
The New Brazilian Internet Constitution and the Netmundial Forum
João Moura	329
1. The Political Dividends: A Positive Balance	331
2. What Is in That for Businesses?	332
3. Data Protection	332
4. Obligation to Maintain Logs of Connection and Access to Applications	332
5. The Usage of Data from Aggregated Customers to Develop New Applications	332
6. Net Neutrality	333
7. More Revenues, Innovation and Competition	333
CHAPTER 26
The Brazilian Telecom Regulatory Scenario and the Proposals of the Internet Law
Regina Ribeiro do Valle	335
1. Introduction	335
2. Current Scenario of Internet Services Regulation in Brazil	336
3. Neutrality of Network vis-à-vis the Right to Charge for Quality Services	338
4. Conclusion	340
PART V
Open Internet and Net Neutrality	343
CHAPTER 27
Competition in the Brazilian Telecommunication Market
Maximiliano Martinhão, Guido Lorencini Schuina, Haitam Laboissiere Naser & Leonardo Fernandez Zugonn	343
1. Introduction	343
2. Institutional Aspects for Telecommunications in Brazil	343
3. The Brazilian Telecommunications Sector	344
3.1. The Telecommunications Market	345
3.1.1. Fixed Telephony	345
3.1.2. Mobile Telephony and Broadband	345
3.1.3. Fixed Broadband	346
3.1.4. Pay TV	347
3.2. Indicators for the Telecommunication Sector	348
3.2.1. Indicator for Companies' Performance	348
3.2.2. Competition Indicators	348
3.2.3. Service Indicators	348
4. Actions for the Telecommunications Sector in Brazil	349

Table of Contents

4.1.	General Plan of Competition: PGMC	349
4.2.	Wholesale Products Broker System: SNOA	351
4.3.	Regulation of Industrial Exploitation of Dedicated Lines: EILD	352
4.4.	Anatel's Competition Office	352
4.5.	Law of Conditioned Access Service	353
4.6.	Infrastructure Sharing	353
5.	Conclusion	355

CHAPTER 28

A New Horizon for Competition Advocacy in Brazil

Adriano Augusto do Couto Costa, Marcelo de Matos Ramos & Roberto Domingos Taufick

357

1.	Telecommunications and Competition in Brazil	357
1.1.	Completion of Universal Access	359
1.2.	Digital TV	359
1.3.	End of the Term of the PSTN Concession	359
1.4.	Not Enough Incentives for Competition	359
2.	The Secretariat for Economic Monitoring and the Leap to Competition Advocacy	360
2.1.	Advocacy According to the Former Competition Law	360
2.2.	Seae as a De Facto Competition Advocate	361
2.2.1.	Engaging in Economic Oriented Opinions to the Public Sector	361
2.2.2.	Other Advocacy Measures	362
2.3.	Brazil's 2011 Competition Law: Changes in the Existing Assignments	363
3.	Enhancing Competition Advocacy	367
3.1.	The National Competition Advocacy Program: A Broader View	367
3.1.1.	Overview	367
3.1.2.	Outreach	368
3.1.2.1.	The Public Sector	368
3.1.2.2.	Private Undertakings	369
3.1.2.3.	Academic Institutions	369
3.1.2.4.	News Agencies	370
3.1.2.5.	Final Consumers	370
4.	Final Remarks	370

CHAPTER 29

Overlaps and Synergies between Regulators in the Brazilian Telecommunications Market

Marcelo Bechara de Souza Hobaika & Carlos M. Baigorri

373

1.	Introduction	373
2.	The Necessity of Regulation	376

Table of Contents

3.	ANATEL's Role under the Law 8.884/94	377
4.	The New Institutional Structure	378
	4.1. The General Plan of Competition (PGMC)	378
5.	Synergies	381
6.	Conclusion	382
	Bibliography	382
CHAPTER 30
The New Competition Law in Brazil and the New Framework for Merger Analysis in Telecom
	Carlos Emmanuel Joppert Ragazzo & Cristiane Landerdahl de Albuquerque	385
1.	Introduction	385
2.	The Telecommunication Sector in Brazil	386
	2.1. The Importance of the Telecommunication Sector in the Brazilian Economy	386
	2.2. Mergers in the Telecom	387
	2.2.1. Minority Shareholding	388
	2.2.2. Vertical Integration and Access to Inputs	388
	2.2.3. Large Horizontal Overlap and Vertical Concerns	388
	2.2.4. Network Sharing	389
3.	Merger Review in Brazilian Telecom Sector	389
	3.1. Previous Procedure	389
	3.2. Merger Review under the New Competition Law	391
4.	Cooperation between Agencies	393
5.	Final Remarks: The Need for Ongoing and Strong Cooperation between the Antitrust and Regulatory Agencies	394
CHAPTER 31
Regulatory Policy Round Table: A Dialogue between Telecommunications and Antitrust Authorities
	Denis Alves Guimarães	395
1.	Introduction	395
2.	Institutional Background	396
	2.1. Secretariat of Telecommunications of the Ministry of Communications (STE/MiniCom)	396
	2.2. Secretariat for Economic Monitoring of the Ministry of Finance (SEAE/MF)	396
	2.3. National Agency of Telecommunications (ANATEL)	397
	2.4. CADE's General Superintendence (SG/CADE)	397
3.	Content Background: Building Policy Consensus	398
4.	Improving Policy Consensus	405
	4.1. Merger Reviews	405

Table of Contents

4.2.	Anticompetitive Practices	406
4.3.	Competition advocacy	406
5.	Overcoming Policy Consensus	407
6.	Conclusion	408

<http://www.pbookshop.com>