

Contents

Acknowledgements .....	v
1. Introduction .....	1
2. The Principle of Tolerance.....	5
I. Introduction.....	5
II. The Definition of Tolerance and the Right to be Tolerated.....	5
III. The Components of Tolerance .....	9
IV. Tolerance and Grudge.....	19
V. Tolerance and Power .....	22
VI. Conclusion.....	25
3. The Limits of Liberal Tolerance .....	27
I. Introduction: Perfectionist Liberalism as a Starting Point.....	27
II. The Limits of Tolerance, Reciprocity and Proportionality.....	29
III. Who is the True Intolerant One? .....	48
IV. Conclusion.....	53
4. A Tolerant-Liberal Democracy.....	54
I. The Competing Political Theories .....	54
II. The Case Against Neutrality .....	59
III. A Pluralistic-Liberal State or a Tolerant-Liberal State? The Re-Establishment of Tolerance .....	62
5. The Theoretical and Empirical Links Between Religion and Intolerance.....	68
I. Introduction.....	68
II. The Empirical Findings.....	70
III. The Theoretical Links Between Religion and Intolerance .....	93
IV. Is the Co-Existence of Religion and Prejudice Paradoxical?.....	122
V. Conclusion.....	123

6. Accommodating Religion by Granting Conscientious Exemptions: Is Religion Special? .....	127
I. Accommodating Religion by Granting Conscientious Exemptions.....	127
II. Conscientious Exemptions as an Expression of Tolerance .....	129
III. Is Religion Special?: Five Possible Answers .....	137
IV. Neutral Approaches.....	139
V. 'Equal Regard' Approaches.....	154
VI. Liberal Value-Based Approaches.....	167
VII. Pro-Religion Approaches.....	177
VIII. Anti-Religion Approaches .....	195
IX. Conclusion: Is Religion Special?.....	197
7. Conclusion .....	198
I. A Short Introduction to the Conclusion .....	198
II. Why and when the Religiosity of a Claim for Accommodation or Exemption Matters.....	198
III. And a Final Conclusion .....	201
IV. Post-Conclusion: A Note about Religion, the Academic World and the Real World.....	201
Bibliography .....	204
Index .....	217

<http://www.pbookstore.com>